2 TO 1 VOTE FOR CARTER, COLBOURN

Heavy Balloting in Election Yesterday Sweeps Two Commissioners Into Office By Leads That Cause Surprise

Mrs. Ormsby, Boyle and Hatch Are Winners in Race For Members of School Board; Only One Contest Close

By a vote of almost two to one, Frank Colbourn and Albert E. Carter, Mayor Davie's candidates, have been elected to commissionerships in Oakland to succeed F. F. Morse and Frederick Soderberg. The count, as given out by City Clerk Lon Cummings today, gives Colbourn 26,127 to Herbert T. Hempstead's 14,839, for commissioner number one, and shows that Carter received 27,020, while A. P. Anderson, his opponent for commissioner number two, was given 13,845.

Returned as winners for the three directorships to the board of education were: Harry L. Boyle, George W. Hatch and Mrs. Georgia Ormsby. The fight between Boyle and E. A. Young for directorship number three was the only close contest of the election. The results:

COMMISSIONER NO. 1.

Herbert T. Hempstead	14,839

COMMISSIONER NO. 2.

Albert E. Carter	27,020
A. P. Anderson	13,845

SCHOOL DIRECTOR NO 1.

Harry L. Boyle	19,766
E. A. Young	18,863

SCHOOL DIRECTOR NO. 2.

George W. Hatch	22,585
Dr. J. Emmet Clark	15,105

SCHOOL DIRECTOR NO. 3.

Mrs. Georgia C. Ormsby	22,364
Dr. R. F. Tisdale	16,641

MAYOR DAVIE GIVEN CREDIT.

An after-election announcement made today by Mayor John L. Davie is that Bert Anderson, head of the employment department of the Moore Shipbuilding Company, has been offered a place on the civil service board to succeed Colbourn, who resigned just before the primary election. The board will choose its own secretary.

Anderson said today that he was not able to give Mayor Davie an answer regarding the proffered appoint. As industrial expert at the Moore yards and in wartime experience his work has been closely connected with the civil service and its procedure. Anderson said that his position is that he would like to accept the place if he can afford to take the time from his other duties.

Chief credit for the victory of Carter and Colbourn is being given today to Mayor Davie who had campaigned for two months, and who has spoken in most all of the factories and shipyards of the city. Davie and the Good Government League backed the winning candidates, Hempstead and Anderson had the support of the county political organization, Commissioner Morse and Commissioner Edwards.

KEEN RIVALRY FOR OFFICE.

The keen rivalry for the commissionerships, the large number of workers in the field, and the spirited campaign that preceded election day was responsible for a total vote of 41,610, an unusually heavy vote for the city.

Today Mayor Davie and officers of the Good Government League are being flooded with congratulations.

The results of the voting were apparent early last night. By 9 o'clock there were few who would not concede that the commissioners' fight was settled. There was also no question in any of the school director fights save that between Boyle and Young, where the margin was at all times small and where a rechecking was made.

CROWDS WATCH TRIBUNE RETURNS.

Announcement of the winners on The TRIBUNE screen at Thirteenth and Franklin streets was responsible for a chorus of honks on automobile horns, the burning of red fire by Carter and Colbourn workers and an impromptu parade of celebrants. On every hand the decisiveness of the victory was greeted with surprise, for a neck-to-neck finish had been predicted.

"I am very grateful to my friends for the support which they have given me," said Colbourn today. "I can only at this time renew the pledges which I made before the election, to give Oakland a clean, constructive, progressive and 'businesslike administration, to the end that this city may take its rightful position as the coming city of the Pacific coast."

Albert E. Carter, who received the highest vote of any one at the election, also expressed his gratitude.

"I am deeply appreciative," he said, "of the vote given me and I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to my many friends who so unselfishly assisted me in this campaign. Running for office is an arduous thing, but I have found compensation for the trials and unpleasant features of campaigning in the expression of confidence which the people have voted me. I am committed to the upbuilding of the city of Oakland and this will be my earnest endeavor at all times."

Leroy R. Goodrich, president of the Good Government League, called the victory of Carter and Colbourn a triumph for civic righteousness and announced that the Good Government League "is not organized for the first skirmish, but for the war. We are here and now renew the pledge of fealty to the public good. Colbourn and Carter will enter office with no pledge and no promise to any person, no obligation but to fulfill honestly and in good conscience the duties of their

THREE DEAD, TWO DYING FROM AUTOS

Miss Anna Nilsen Mangled in Berkeley By Auto Out of Control on Euclid Avenue; Occupants Escape Injury

Lowell G. Krigbaum Crushed To Death When Car Jumps Highway Near Livermore; Cyclist Victim of Crash

A woman and a man were killed instantly, another died today, and two persons are in hospitals seriously injured and will probably die as a result of automobile accidents last night on both sides of San Francisco bay.

The dead.

MISS ANNA NILSEN, 2977 Pacific avenue, San Francisco.

E. G. MAHIN, Twentieth street, San Francisco.

The injured.

JOSEPH W. PRESTON, Jr., Post street, San Francisco, broken collar bone, several crushed ribs and internal injuries. He is not expected to live.

ROBERT SKELLENGER, San Bruno, fractured skull and extensive deep wounds of the face and internal injuries; not expected to live.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY "WILD" CAR IN BERKELEY

Miss Nilsen, who is a sister of Edward Nilsen, secretary of the San Francisco Art Association, was killed yesterday afternoon in Berkeley by an automobile driven by Mrs. W. L. Huber, 1497 Euclid avenue, when the machine got out of control and plunged wildly down the street, striking Miss Nilsen and carrying her some distance and finally crashing into a telephone pole at 1516 Euclid avenue.

Miss Nilsen and Mrs. C. L. Jenkins, 2834 Derby street, Berkeley, were on the sidewalk when they noticed the car zigzagging down the street. Mrs. Jenkins was able to dodge the machine, as it crossed the sidewalk, and escaped injury.

With Mrs. Huber in the front seat of the car was Margaret Campbell, 2162 Vine street, Berkeley. Neither Mrs. Huber or the girl, who was her niece, was hurt.

Mrs. Huber was arrested, charged with manslaughter, but was subsequently released on her own recognizance. She says that when she started down the hill the brakes of the car failed to hold and the car became unmanageable.

Standing on the running board of the car driven by Preston, in the rays of the spot light, endeavoring to locate engine trouble, Krigbaum was killed when the car left the road in an attempt to avoid another automobile, skidded in the dirt, again crossed the highway and plunged over a bank into a 40-foot gulch on the Lincoln highway about two miles east of Livermore.

MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH WHEN CAR JUMPS ROAD.

Krigbaum was crushed to death beneath the car. Preston was taken to the Livermore emergency hospital where little hope was held for his recovery today.

The machine said to have been responsible for the crash did not stop to render assistance, but proceeded on its way. Later a telephone call from Altamont informed officials of the accident. A car was speedily dispatched to the scene and the dead and injured men removed.

Later at the hospital, Preston recovered consciousness and was able to give a brief account of the wreck.

He was driving from Volcano, Amador county, and was having motor trouble. He said that Krigbaum climbed out on the running board of the machine while it was in motion in an attempt to adjust the carburetor. As they were on the Lincoln highway, about two miles east of Livermore, he said another machine with bright lights was coming in the opposite direction.

Preston said he was blinded by the lights and was forced to turn his car from the highway to avoid being struck by the machine. His car skidded in soft earth, plunged across the highway and crashed down a bank into a gulch. The machine turned over several times.

Krigbaum was employed by the K. D. Winship estate. Preston is general manager for a company with large land holdings in the Livermore mountains.

Mahin died in a hospital this morning from injuries received in what apparently was a head-on collision on the State highway one mile south of Holy Cross cemetery shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. Both he and Skellenger were taken to the hospital, where Mahin died from a severed windpipe, internal injuries and other causes.

Gus Roth and William Nelson of 438 Lisbon street, San Francisco, were driving in their machine towards San Mateo when they came upon the scene of the accident. A small automobile and a motorcycle were locked together, badly wrecked, on the side of the boulevard. Near by lay Skellenger and Mahin. The former was covered with blood, one laceration on his face extending from his forehead to his chin. Roth and Nelson picked up the victims and sped with them to the hospital. The police were notified and Constable Landini of Daly City began an investigation. Both of the victims are young men and cards found in their possession indicate that they may be automobile mechanics.

The police learned that both Skellenger and Mahin are employed by the Ford Motor company here and live at San Bruno. From investigation made thus far it is believed that they were riding tandem on the motorcycle and crashed into the automobile parked at the side of the roadway. Whether or not the machine contained an occupant, the officers have not determined. The automobile bore the license number of 327077.

Germany Must Disarm, Try Culprits, Pay

(By International News Service)

BY accepting the allied ultimatum, Germany must:

1.—Disarm at once all naval, air and military forces.

2.—Put war culprits on trial immediately, and

3.—Begin the payment of $33,750,000,000 indemnity within twenty-five days.

The first payment is to be one billion gold marks by June 1. Subsequent payments must be made at the rate of two billion gold marks annually. In addition Germany must pay an export tax of 25 per government must issue tax free bonds secured by the resources of the whole nation. These bonds will bear 5 per cent.

Teutons Attack French Garrison In Upper Silesia

Fighting Is Also Reported Between Polish and French Artillerists.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, May 11.—Armed Germans in Upper Silesia have attacked the French garrison at Kreuzberg, according to an unconfirmed report received in Copenhagen, said an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen today. One French soldier was said to have been killed and three wounded.

Another despatch from Copenhagen said that the Polish government had appointed Dr. Wolny to succeed Adelbert Korfanty as Polish commissioner in Upper Silesia.

Practically all of the left bank of the Oder river is now in the hands of Germans, but they are short of arms and ammunition, said a Ratibor despatch to the Daily Express. The correspondent said that the Germans were receiving supplies and "would be able to take the offensive against the Poles on a large scale in a few days."

FRENCH AND POLES IN ARTILLERY DUEL.

OPPELN, May 11 (by Associated Press).—French troops engaged in an artillery duel with insurgent Poles near Groschowitz, about six miles south of this city, yesterday. The Poles replied to the French fire with several small field pieces. A number of slightly wounded French soldiers have been brought here and other wounded Frenchmen have been brought in by motor lorries from other towns in the disturbed area.

In this city there has been arriving a continuous stream of wounded German refugees and the situation has grown more intense.

FIGHTING SUSPENDED BY ARMISTICE. REPORT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, May 11.—It is reported that negotiations between the interallied commission in Upper Silesia and Adelbert Korfanty, leader of the Polish insurgents in that area, resulted last evening in the suspension of hostilities, says a despatch to the Central News from Warsaw today.

It was agreed, according to this report, that the insurgents would occupy a line of demarcation agreed upon and remain in the stipulated positions pending final settlement of the Upper Silesian question which is still pending in allied councils, where it rested following the taking of the recent plebiscite in this area in dispute between Poland and Germany. The industrial territory which has been largely overrun by the Poles therefore would remain under Polish occupancy.

PLOT AGAINST PEACE PACT IS CLAIMED

LONDON, May 11.—"The occupation of the greater part of Upper Silesia by Polish insurgents is regarded by the allies as a deliberate attempt to frustrate execution of the treaty of Versailles," said Austen Chamberlain, government spokesman, in the House of Commons this afternoon. "The government has no intention to allow these deplorable events to divert us from the just execution of the treaty of Versailles. We have already made certain practical proposals."

By HENRY WOOD,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

ROME, May 11.—Another allied crisis loomed today.

Inflamed by the killing of Italian soldiers by Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia, the Roman press voiced a growing demand that Italy require immediate satisfaction from the Polish government.

ATTITUDE OF FRANCE IS CRITICIZED.

Speculation began at once as to a possible alignment in case the Warsaw government refused to satisfy Italian demands. There was much criticism of the French, who, according to reports here, only halfheartedly co-operated with other allied detachments in attempting to hold back the Polish advance.

BERLIN GIVES IN TO ALLIES COMPLETELY

Note Is Sent London Advising Lloyd George of Unconditional Acceptance; Commons Greets Announcement

French Government Expresses Satisfaction, Particularly With U. S. Attitude, Which Is Believed Guiding Factor

LONDON, May 11 (By the Associated Press).—Germany's unconditional acceptance of the entente reparations was delivered to Prime Minister Lloyd George by German Minister to Great Britain St. Hamer today.

Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons this afternoon Germany's complete acceptance of all the allied demands. His announcement was greeted with prolonged cheering.

Dr St. Hamer handed the German reply to the prime minister this morning and Lloyd George immediately telegraphed the news to all the governments concerned.

LONDON, May 11.—"Germany has completely accepted the allied indemnity conditions and will carry them out without reserve and without delay," Premier Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Horatio Bottomley interrupted the premier to ask if the "reparations recovery act" was suspended by the British government. The premier replied: "No."

PARIS, May 11.—The French government is extremely satisfied with Germany's acceptance of the ultimatum, thus averting military occupation of the Ruhr," said an official statement issued at the foreign office today following receipt of Germany's note. "At the same time Germany assures France of the right to occupy the Ruhr in the future if the Germans balk. The government feels that Germany's action in large part resulted from the conviction that the rest of the world was convinced of her ability to pay.

"France is particularly gratified at the position taken by the United States toward the reparations question. This was undoubtedly a big influence in deciding Germany to accept the ultimatum."

France has continued her military preparations for the occupation of the Ruhr up to the last minute and all was in readiness today for a forward movement by the allied troops tomorrow if Germany had rejected them.

BERLIN, May 11.—The Bavarian cabinet today voted to support the Berlin government's acceptance of the allied indemnity ultimatum. It was announced at Munich that the Einwohnerwehr (national police) would be disbanded at once in accordance with the allies' disarmament demand in the ultimatum.

Chancellor Wirth, in outlining the policy of the new German cabinet to the reichstag, said:

"We accept the ultimatum. It is not a question of money; it is a question of our existence in the future and a question of protecting Germany from enemy invasion. It is not necessary to say we take this step with our eyes directed toward Upper Silesia."

HOUSE OF COMMONS HEARS GERMAN NOTE.

LONDON, May 11. — Premier Lloyd George read before the House of Commons this afternoon the note received from Minister St. Hamer announcing Germany's complete acceptance of the allied reperations terms.

The communiction follows:

"I am commanded by my government in accordance with the decisions of the reichstag with reference to the decision of the allies on May 5, and in the name of the new German government at Berlin, to declare that the German government is resolved:

"First, to carry out without reserve or condition the obligations defined by the reparations commission.

"Second, to accept and carry out without reserve or condition the guarantees in respect to these obligations presented by the reparations commission.

"Third, to accept and carry out without reserve or condition the military, naval and aerial disarmament demands.

"Fourth, to accept and carry out without reserve or condition the trial of war criminals and to execute all other unfulfilled portions of the peace treaty."

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BERLIN, May 11. — Germany's new cabinet today began preparation of the government's formal note to the entente accepting the terms laid down by the Supreme Allied Council in London.

Dr. Julius Wirth, the new chancellor, received what amounted to a vote of confidence in the Reichstag last night, that body approving of the ministry's decision to accept the allied ultimatum.

The vote stood 221 to 175, giving the Wirth government a margin of 46.

FOUR PARTIES ARE OPPOSED TO ACTION.

The votes cast for acceptance of the entente terms were from the Centrist, Democratic, Independent Socialist and Majority Socialist parties. The Nationalists, German People's Party, Communists and the Bavarian People's party were opposed to the plans of the ministry, as announced by the new chancellor.

Dr. Wirth emphasized the tremendous burden Germany would assume in agreeing to meet the entente terms, but insisted the alternative of French occupation of the Ruhr Valley would completely cripple Germany's industrial life and demoralize the country.

Tariff Bill in Aid of Farmers Passes Senate

Anti-Dumping Provision Included in Emergency Measure.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The senate late today passed the emergency tariff bill. The measure is designed to protect American agriculture interests against foreign competition by imposing high tariff duties on practically all imported agricultural products. It contains an anti-dumping provision intended to protect American manufacturing interests in the same way agricultural products are protected.

The senate retained all amendments recommended by the finance committee, but rejected those individually proposed. The vote was 63 to 28.

The Knox amendment, continuing war time control over imports of dyestuffs was accepted 61 to 25.

Seven Democrats, Senators Broussard, Louisiana; Jones, New Mexico; Kendrick, Wyoming; Myers, Montana; Pittman, Nevada; Randell, Louisiana, and Sheppard, Texas, voted with the Republicans in passing the bill.

Another Democrat, Ashhurst, Arizona, who was absent, was announced as a supporter. Only one Republican, Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, voted against the bill.

Agreement Reached On Immigration Bill

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The immigration restriction bill was agreed upon today by the senate and house conferees. The house conferees receded from the house provision to permit unrestricted admission of "religious refugees" and this provision was stricken out. The bill is to become effective fifteen days after it is signed by the president.

The bill will restrict immigration to 3 per cent of the foreign population of this country under the census of 1910 and is to remain operative, unless repealed, until June 30, 1922.

Japanese Annapolis Man Coming To U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Admiral Urie, ranking officer of the Japanese navy, is coming to the United States to attend the fortieth reunion at Annapolis next month of the naval academy class of 1881, of which he was a member. He is the only living Japanese graduate of the naval academy and had as his classmates Secretary of War Weeks and Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic division of the United States fleet.

Class Is Greatest in History; Girl Student Medal Winner; 10,000 Witness Ceremonies

BERKELEY, May 11.—World records were shattered at the University of California when the largest graduating class from any institution of learning in the world received sheepskins this morning in the Greek theater. About 10,000 spectators, including relatives and friends of the graduates, witnessed the event.

Today's class totaled 1651 candidates for degrees of various kinds, a number declared larger than any class ever turned out by Columbia university with its affiliated Teachers' college. Graduates were about evenly divided as to men and women. In the 1306 bachelor of arts degrees awarded 660 were women, and 646 men, with approximately the same proportion existing in other degrees.

ACADEMIC PARADE IS LED BY PROF. HYDE.

Attired in black cap and gowns, the long procession of candidates for degrees wended its way under campus oaks, marching into the Greek theater to the strains of a processional played by an orchestra led by Professor Paul Steindorf, choragus of the university.

Candidates for bachelors' degrees marched first, with those to whom higher honors were awarded following. Alumni, faculty members, regents and guests followed. President David P. Barrows and President Emeritus Benjamin Ide Wheeler marched in the academic procession, while Professor Charles Gilman Hyde, as master of ceremonies, led the line of march.

SHEAVES OF SHEEKSKIN PARCHMENT HANDED OUT.

The exercises began at 10 o'clock. Invocation was offered by Dr. E. P. Dennett, pastor of Trinity M. E. church of Berkeley, who asked for divine guidance and aid for the men and women about to begin their life work. Sheepskins were awarded by Dr. Barrows as the long class filed across the stage in groups arranged according to the colleges in which the candidates were enrolled. Diplomas were handed out in bundles tied with blue and gold streamers and later distributed by the graduates among themselves.

For almost an hour the long line of black-gowned figures marched across the stage. Young and old were mingled in the graduates, gray-haired men and women standing side by side with boys and girls young enough to be their sons and daughters.

Adjutant General J. J. Boree, representing Governor William D. Stephens, and Major General Muir, representing the Western Division of the United States Army, announced the military commissions.

BARROWS URGES CLASS TRADITIONS BE KEPT.

To cherish the ideals of the freedom handed down by their fathers, and to put themselves in the debt of no men was the farewell message of President David P. Barrows to the class.

"Do not minimize the value of your diplomas," he said, in wishing them Godspeed and success in their life work. In admonishing the graduates to cling to the true ideals of freedom, Dr. Barrows said:

"The American people have always placed freedom very high. It is written in all of our emblems, in all of our ideals, yet today freedom is a less controlling ideal than in other years. People of today are sacrificing freedom in order to obtain a more material end. My parting words to you are these: 'Love your freedom, defend freedom, get it higher than any other possible condition of existence. Government, when it is what it should be, exists primarily that men may have freedom. Governments today are strongly tempted, and are busily yielding to temptation to suppress freedom. They cease to regulate the moral lives of individuals, to bring about the extinction of long established economic customs.

"GUARD YOUR FREEDOM AGAINST PATRONAGE."

"Guard your freedom against patronage. Accept bonds of obligation. Owe nothing to any man and pay your debts as you go. Accept no help whatsoever which will put you under any improper obligation. Of all the enemies of freedom, patronage is the most dangerous and the most ridiculous.

"Do not sacrifice your freedom for position and material ends. What ever else I want you to be, I want you to be victorious and free."

FOUR STUDENTS SPEAK FOR GRADUATING CLASS

Four student speakers represented the graduating class. They were Miss Constance Margaret Topping, Berkeley, student in the college of letters and science; Clifton Hildebrand, Oakland, student in jurisprudence; Zara Witkin, San Francisco, college of engineering, and C. Coleman Berwick, A. M., college of medicine.

"Neglected Factors in Modern Education" was Miss Topping's subject. She pleaded for a "democratic" education. Extracts from her speech follow:

"An American university education from the social point of view

Board to Bring Troops If Crews Riot, Says Ebey

Warning Issued To Strikers As Result of Boarding of "Bakersfield."

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The Shipping Board will ask that Federal troops take charge of the situation if there is further rioting in the strike of ship crews here, H. H. Ebey, district director of operations for the board, said today.

"I do not expect trouble, but if any is threatened I will ask both the Ninth Corps area headquarters and the proper authorities at Washington to send troops here," Ebey declared.

EDICT DUE TO ATTACK ON "BAKERSFIELD."

Ebey's statement followed the forced boarding of the Shipping Board freighter "Bakersfield" by a mob of 200 men at her pier Monday afternoon and an attack on several members of the crew.

Ebey said that the call for troops will be a precautionary move. If such precaution is justified, and that the board will not wait until any actual outbreaks occur if they can be foreseen.

EFFORTS TO END SHIP STRIKE ARE FAILURE.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—All hope of a compromise ending the marine strike has now been abandoned and it is to be a "survival of the fittest," according to W. S. Brown, head of the marine engineers.

All members of the engineers' executive committee who have been negotiating here with Secretary of Labor Davis and Admiral W. S. Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, have left Washington, it was announced today, and do not expect to return.

Thomas B. Healy, representing the men, planned today to go before the House appropriations committee and lay the case of the men before members of Congress.

"If this strike continues six months," said Brown today, "the United States Shipping Board stands to lose more money than it can make up in five years, even if the merchant marine operates under the 15 per cent wage cut which it proposes."

Woolley Is Freed Of Booze Charge

Charge of violation of the National prohibition act against Jack Woolley, Oakland politician, was dismissed this afternoon by United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie following testimony from the other defendants that Woolley was absent at the time of the raid, April 28. The charge against George Becker, alleged clerk in Woolley's brokerage offices, was also dismissed.

Grant Gorman, partner of Woolley in the offices in the Henshaw building, was held and his bond fixed at $1000, while Harry Dailey, the fourth defendant, was also held and his bond fixed at $500. Woolley surrendered himself to Chief of Police Thompson on May 4 after his return from a fishing trip.

BERLIN DECISION IS GRATIFYING TO WASHINGTON

Vindicates Policy Followed By Administration Is Official View.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Acceptance by Germany of the allied indemnity figures was hailed with deep satisfaction by officia Washington today. It was looked upon by high officials as complete vindication and justification of the policy which the administration has pursued in dealing with both sides in the troublesome situation.

While Germany's acceptance of the allied terms has the surface indication of having definitely solved an awkward problem, the difficulties yet confronting the new and yet untried government in Berlin are fully realized here.

The severity of the allied terms will, it is expected, apply the acid test to the new government during the next thirty days. In twenty-five days Germany must have ready the sum of $248,000,000 to make initial payment. If the new government can surmount this obstacle the belief was expressed in official circles that Germany will be well on the road to stability and security once more. Otherwise, there will be a recurrence of the critical days just passed, with France poised and ready to invade the Ruhr district.

POLES LINE UP AT DAWN TO GET U. S. PASSPORTS

WARSAW, May 11.—One of the new "daily sights" of Warsaw is a line of 1500 Polish and Jewish fugitives from all parts of Poland seeking permission to go to new homes in peaceful America.

Every one in the line must be armed with a Polish passport, $10 in American currency for the vise, a certified letter from relatives in the United States and a third-class steamship ticket. Only about 500 can get vises in one day.

The majority of the applicants are Jewish women and children, dependents of persons now living in the United States.

The Warsaw line forms early in the morning, long before the light is up. Food is hawked to them in the course of the day on trays. Mattresses on which women and children sleep are also common sights.

Attempts to sell fraudulent vises to the unsuspecting in line are frequent and are giving the authorities a great deal of worry. Coming from the devastated lands of Poland, the ignorant refugees fall easy victims to the false tales of easing their way to the promised land.

"Thirty-four emigrants," said American Vice-Consul Huddle, "have been imprisoned in New York, where they were trying to get into the United States with false American vises. Thirty people are being sent back from Goteborg, Sweden, where they were stopped by the American authorities.

"Many other emigrants have been arrested in Danzig, Rotterdam and Amsterdam because they were trying to get on ships for America with false passports and false vises."

Bananas Are More Desired Than Jewelry

A hungry burglar broke into the home of Frank Fraga, 1435 Forty-fifth avenue, and ate six bananas, but left jewelry valued at several hundred dollars. He gained entrance to the house by forcing a side window. Every room in the house was ransacked, but Fraga could not find anything missing.

Mrs. R. A. Eastman, 3514 Woodruff avenue, reported that some time yesterday her house was ransacked and $17 in currency taken.

Charlie Chaplin Badly Burned in Film Scene

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Physicians attending Charles Chaplin announced today that the famous film comedian will be able to resume work within a few days, following an accident at his studio in which he was painfully burned.

Chaplin intended that thousands should laugh when, on the screen, they saw the flame from an acetylene blow torch singe a tender part of his anatomy—but they won't.

The scene went wrong when Charlie tumbled over the torch. He lies in his home with both legs swathed in ointment-saturated bandages.

An asbestos undergarment and prompt work by movie men with wet blankets saved the famous comedian's life.

It happened at the Charlie Chaplin studios in Hollywood late yesterday afternoon. Chaplin is making a new picture to be called "Vanity Fair." In it he plays a dual role, first as a tramp and next as a "swell" with frock coat and silk hat.

SCREAMS, BUT NOT OF JOY.

A "hotel hallway" had been built on the lot for one of the scenes. In the hallway an electrician works with a blow torch. Chaplin, silk clad and high hatted, was to trip down the hallway, the electrician was to turn the torch on him and he was to give one of the funny hops at which millions have laughed. It was to be one of the screams of the film.

And then came tragedy.

The torch was standing on the floor of the hall. The giant Kleigs were flooding the set with their brilliant white glare. The torch contained acetylene gas and gasoline to give it a colored flame. The ordinary flame does not "register."

Chaplin, out of range, yelled "Camera!" The machines began to click. The comedian entered. Characteristically he tripped down the hallway. But he did not see the torch, or misjudged his distance—anyway, he stumbled.

COMEDIAN IS WRAPPED IN FLAMES.

In a moment his clothing was aflame. Edna Purviance, who works with him in the new picture, screamed and grabbed a blanket. Cameramen, electricians and supers rushed to Chaplin with dampened cloths. The flames were extinguished, but not until the comedian had been severely burned.

Chaplin was rushed to his dressing room and first aid given until physicians arrived. Later he was taken to his home. The asbestos undergarment he was wearing protected the upper part of his body.

Mae Collins, reported to be engaged to Chaplin, was not on the lot at the time.

MANAGERS' BOARD HOLDS SESSION

The morning session of the Northern California Baptist convention, which is meeting at Hamilton Square Baptist Church, San Francisco, was devoted entirely to a conference of the Board of Managers of the convention representing Baptist churches from Bakersfield to the Oregon line. Although the convention is a lay organization, more than 150 ministers are present and were in conference all day yesterday. Rev. E. R. Bennett of Burlingame, presided.

Yesterday afternoon was taken up with addresses by Rev. Clark H. Bancroft, director of rural work, and Rev. F. W. Padelford of New York City. Rev. John Snape, pastor of the First Church of Oakland, preached the annual sermon last night.

The following were appointed on committees to take charge of convention work, after the addresses of the afternoon: Enrollment, Rev. H. R. Blood, Rev. Van Dyke Todd, Rev. A. D. Berry, Mrs. M. C. Steele and Rev. Leander Tourney; obituary, Rev. F. L. Blowers, Rev. W. C. Whitaker, Rev. W. M. McCart, H. A. Weller and Rev. J. L. Allen; arrangements, Rev. C. E. Tingley, Rev. P. Petersen, C. W. Gawthrop and A. F. Phelps; place and preacher, Rev. W. C. Spencer, Rev. Bryant Wilson, Rev. W. A. Sutherland, Mrs. C. C. La Mar and Mrs. H. A. Johnson; resolutions, Rev. F. C. Truex, Rev. Rufus Keyser, Rev. J. S. Londgren, Mrs. M. C. Steele and R. D. Gaylord. Rev. C. H. Bancroft was appointed reporter for the denominational press, and Rev. J. C. Garth for the local press.

The various young people's societies around the bay will have charge of the session this evening. Laurel Sweitzer will give the principal address of the evening following announcement of the young people's assembly at Asilomar this summer.

Although the convention will officially adjourn this evening, the Board of Managers will hold a final meeting tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

CLERGY SALARIES HIGHER.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The average annual salary the Methodist Episcopal church pays its ministers is $1154, according to a statement made by Dr. Joseph B. Hingeley, corresponding secretary, at the annual meeting of the board conference claimants of the church today. Three years ago the average salary was $869.60. Total money paid for pensions in 1920 was $2,010,070, declared Dr. Hingeley.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT K. C. SESSION

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 11.—The annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus came to a close here yesterday with election of officers for the coming year and the selection of Santa Cruz as the meeting place in 1922.

The convention also adopted a resolution favoring recognition by the United States "of the Irish republic" and expressing "abhorrence" for "the methods of warfare" used by the British in Ireland.

The officers chosen were: State deputy, D. Joseph Coyne, Los Angeles; secretary, Louis L Lefebvre, Long Beach; treasurer, Jerry Shields, Bakersfield; advocate, R. L. McWilliams, San Mateo; warden, Jack Mulvaney, Alameda, and delegates to the convention of the supreme council in San Francisco, August 2 and 3, Joseph Scott, Los Angeles; J. O. Sawkins, Long Beach; Thomas O. Baly, Calexico; Thomas A. Murphy, Santa Ana; Dr. J. M. O'Donnell, Hollister; Edward M. Boyle, Riverside; Walter Doran, Monrovia, and Frank P. Jenal, Los Angeles.

Sacramento Printers To Return To Work

SACRAMENTO, May 11.—Striking printers and their employers reached a compromise here late yesterday, it was announced, and the men returned to work today. Members of the union said, following a conference, that the employers had acceded to their demand for a 44-hour week on a scale of $46.

Earlier in the day the employers submitted an offer to the strikers to return to work on the basis accepted by the employees of the State Printing office. This provides a 44-hour week and a scale of $42.15, but was refused, according to the printers. About 35 men will return to work, it was understood.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Members of the International Typographical Union were notified by the Printers Board of Trade that they might return to work at the terms demanded by the union, a minimum wage of $46 for a forty-four hour week. They formerly worked 48 hours for the same wage.

No agreement has been made with the union, however. This, employers claim, leaves to each printshop owner the option of employing union or non-union help. Rules of the International Union prohibit members from working with non-union men.

Harding 'Cousin' Says He Was Promised Job

CHICAGO, May 11.—Everett A. Harding, self-styled "cousin" of President Harding, was scheduled to be appointed assistant secretary to the chief executive, his attorney claimed, when Harding went on trial here today charged with impersonating a government officer.

"The papers arranging for his appointment were stolen from Everett's home after he was arrested," Henry Seligman, attorney for the accused man, told Judge K. MF. Landis in federal court.

Seligman filed a demurrer to the indictment.

The trial was continued until May 23, when Seligman said he would produce in court the name of the person who he claimed had promised Everett the federal position.

Dorf Again President Of B'Rith Abraham

ATLANTIC CITY, May 11.—Samuel Dorf of New York was re-elected without opposition as grand master of the Grand Lodge, Order B'Rith Abraham, at the convention of the organization here yesterday.

It will be Mr. Dorf's thirtieth year in the office. Other officers chosen were:

Deputy grand masters, Morris M. Green of New York; Charles Hamburger of Atlantic City, Jacob Gould of Minneapolis, Max Fein of Boston, Frank Revin of Atlanta, Rosés Reinheimer of San Francisco; grand secretary, George W. Leiserhorn of New York; grand treasurer, Barnett Freed of New York; endowment treasurer, Max Kadozovek of New York.

The convention concluded with the installation of these officers.

Bert Russell's Death Denied By Brother

LONDON, May 11.—Earl Russell, in a letter to the London Times, printed today, contradicts the "unauthenticated report of the death of my brother, Bertrand." Earl Russell says the Chinese legation at his request officially inquired into the report of the death of Russell in Peking and informed him that although his brother had been ill with pneumonia he was now recovering.

The Japan Advertiser of Tokyo on March 29 reported that Bertrand Russell, known as a philosopher, sociologist and mathematician, had died in Peking late in March from pneumonia.

WEEKS SAYS U. S. CERTAINLY WILL "GET" BERGDOLL

War Secretary Declares No Agreement Made To Free Draft Dodger.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The claim of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll in a statement to the United Press at Eberbach, Germany, that American representatives have agreed not to molest him in the future, will be investigated by the special house Bergdoll committee, Chairman Peters said today.

"American representatives signed no agreement whatever and would have no authority to do so," said Secretary of War Weeks.

"We are going to get Bergdoll," he said emphatically. "I don't know whether or not we will get him while I am in the department, but we will get him."

HUNT MAKES DENIAL.

Germany's surrender of Bergdoll will be made one of the conditions of the proposed peace conditions with Germany if Congressman Julius Kahn of California, chairman of the house military affairs committee, has his way.

As the Bergdoll committee resumed its inquiry today, Colonel John E. Hunt retired former commandant of the Fort Jay prison, declared he was entirely innocent of any complicity in Bergdoll's escape.

Hunt's statement was caused by assertions by Representative Johnson, Kentucky, that the officer's court martial was whitewashed.

"I used my best judgment in the case," said Hunt.

Johnson claimed the prosecution was negligent in the trial. He brought out that Hunt was promoted twice after Bergdoll's escape.

BERGDOLL IS DEFIANT.

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

EBERBACH, Germany, May 11.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, defied the United States government today.

Informed by the United Press of the statement by Chief of Staff March that the war department is determined to get Bergdoll out of Germany "at any price," the slacker said:

"You can tell the world that we won't be captured in Germany."

Bergdoll asserted that American representatives signed an agreement when two United States soldiers were released after an attempt to kidnap him, not to molest him or his chauffeur, Eugene Stecher, and that the United States is honor bound to leave him alone.

London Cheers British And Nippon Princes

LONDON, May 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan, who arrived here Monday for a three weeks' visit to England, was officially welcomed to London today by Lord Mayor Roll and the city authorities.

With the Prince of Wales and an escort of cavalry, Prince Hirohito proceeded from Buckingham palace to the Guild Hall through cheering crowds. The historic edifice was crowded as Prince Hirohito, accompanied by the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of York and the Prince of Wales entered.

WIFE CHARGES BIGAMY

LONG BEACH, May 11.—The police today received a telegram from the sheriff of Mariposa county announcing the arrest there of Roy E. Peaseley, charged with bigamy in a complaint sworn to by his wife Irene, of Long Beach. Mrs. Peaseley alleged her husband married another woman in Los Angeles last Thursday and drove with her in an automobile owned by the first Mrs. Peaseley.

BAY DISTRICT TO CELEBRATE HOSPITAL DAY

Hospital Day commemorating the birth of Florence Nightingale will be celebrated nationally tomorrow, with the cities about the bay announcing special exercises.

East Bay Sanitarium nurses will keep open house in their home, 594 Thirty-first street, inviting the public, particularly the young women students of the high schools, to be their guests. Miss Edith Fennell and a member of the medical staff will give a short address during the reception hours from 3:30 to 5 p. m. The visitors will be guided on a tour of inspection of the nurses home and the several wards of the hospital.

In the Marine Hospital in San Francisco a special program will be presented, Rev. C. P. Deems and Miss Hilda Steinhart, supervisor of hospital service, American Red Cross, the speakers. The Seamen's Institute, Red Cross and United States Public Health Service are co-operating.

Open house will be kept in the Red Cross Hospital at Palo Alto, at Camp Kearney, and Arrowhead Springs. The Red Cross supervisors will assist the commanding officers in receiving.

The American Red Cross is observing the National Hospital Day by making it the occasion of recruiting student nurses.

M. E. Church Circle Will Give Program

A program and entertainment, including the four-act play, "Granny of the Hills," will be given by the Queen Esther Circle of the Shattuck Avenue M. E. church on Friday evening, May 13.

The scene of the first act of the play is laid in the pines near "Granny's" cabin. From there the scene shifts to a college campus, and ten years' time elapses. The last two acts of the play portray college life, and the story reaches its climax with commencement exercises in a large university.

The specialties to be given between acts include songs by a women's quartet, consisting of C. Harrington, G. Hovey, M. Cortsen and H. Peterson; a violin solo by Mildred Simons and a vocal solo by Hildegard Waasa.

Two Articles Only Lost At May Fete

One pair of scissprs and one 16-cent silver rose from a hat were the only articles lost from the thousands of objects exhibited during the May fete at the Auditorium, according to a report submitted to Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter by the educators in charge. "Teaching efficiency" is held to be amply demonstrated by the fete. The value of the exhibits reached $40,000 and all articles were returned in good order.

In England the statute mile is 1760 yards (the same as in the United States), while the geographical mile contains 3025 yards.

OAKLAND C. C. TO MAKE FIGHT FOR ALAMEDA TRAIN

Railroad Board To Hear S. P. Plans Next Monday Morning.

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce will take a leading part in the hearing on May 24 on the Southern Pacific's application to abolish its Alameda pier train service and the Oakland-Alameda "dinky."

The directors of the chamber, at a regular meeting last night, voted to empower President J. H. King to name a special committee to take charge of this matter. This action was taken on the recommendation of the traffic committee.

The hearing will be held in the Oakland city hall at 10 o'clock in the morning before Commissioner Martin. Oakland will be represented by H. L. Hagan, city attorney.

It is expected that a strong protest will be made against the request of the Southern Pacific, particularly on the part of merchants, as they are anxious to have transportation facilities between Oakland and Alameda increased instead of decreased.

The traffic bureau of the Oakland chamber will direct the gathering of data for the hearing

BUENOS AIRES, May 11.—Representations made by the United States government to the Argentine government as a result of the port workers' boycott that has kept the United States Shipping Board steamer Martha Washington idle here for more than forty days, have resulted in a solution of the case satisfactory to both governments, said a statement issued by the minister of finance last night.

Norwegian Unions In Sympathy Strike

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, May 11.—In sympathy with the striking seamen, the National Federation of Trade Unions yesterday declared a strike of all its members except railwaymen, firemen and hospital workers, to begin May 26. One hundred and twenty thousand persons are affected.

Nippon Cult Preaching War on U. S. Raided by Government at Kyoto

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

KYOTO, Japan, May 11.—Leaders of the radical "Omotokyo" cult have been placed under arrest, with many of their principal followers, following a police raid on the headquarters of the organization at Ayabe, near here. They are charged with distributing alarming literature calculated to disturb the public.

Police officers who conducted the raid broke into a secret temple at Ayabe and there found 2,000,000 yen in specie and several hundred swords. An investigation is declared to have shown that the famed diety of "Omotokyo," enshrined in the temple, consisted merely of pebbles wrapped in paper. Subterranean passages were found leading to the residence of Wanisaburo Deguici, adopted son of the woman who was founder of the cult, it is said, and in his home were found chests laden with diamonds and rubies valued at $1,000,000.

Firearms were also found stored in the building, the police assert.

Deguici recently bought two Osaka newspapers and devoted them to the teaching of "Omotokyo" precepts. The spread of this belief among all classes in the empire has been regarded as a national menace on account of its sensational teachings. These have included the necessity of war with America, and declarations that Japan is destined to attain dominion over the entire world.

The workers sent out by the cult have declared that the failure of the nation to adhere to "Omotokyo" as the revealed religion would mean the total destruction of Japan in half a century.

Home of Woman Is Robbed by Armed Bandits

Owner and Two Guests Held Up; $525 in Cash Is Secured.

The police are today looking for half a dozen holdup men reported to have entered the home of Mrs. M. Gallo, 423 Brush street, last night, ransacked the house and robbed Mrs. Gallo and two guests of $525. G. Fraccia and L. Zeppetini were in the house at the time.

Mrs. Gallo went to the front door in response to a ring and three men with drawn revolvers forced their way into the room. They were disguised by means of auto goggles and caps pulled down over their eyes.

They ordered Mrs. Gallo to remain in the house. At the same time two or three other men entered the back door. They were armed, also. The holdup men forced Fraccia and Zeppetini to lie down on the floor while one of the men kept them covered with his revolver. The men ransacked the house. From Zeppetini they procured $300. They obtained $35 from Fraccia and $200 from Mrs. Gallo.

According to the description furnished the police the holdup men were young and well-dressed.

Labor Leader in 'Bloody 19th' Is Shot 6 Times

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE,
BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

CHICAGO, May 11. — Anthony d'Andrea, labor leader and politician of the Nineteenth Ward, was shot and probably fatally wounded early today. He was shot six times as he stepped out of an automobile in front of his home. Physicians said this morning it was doubtful if he would live more than a few hours.

An old felt hat and a sawed-off shotgun were the only traces discovered by police of the three men who early today shot and probably fatally wounded Anthony D'Andrea. Tucked in the band of the hat was a $20 bill, with a slip of paper marked "for flowers."

D'Andrea has been a leading figure in a political feud that has swept the Nineteenth Ward for months and to which several previous shootings, several bombings and other acts of violence, have been attributed. He was the political opponent of John Powers, the oldest member in point of service, in the Chicago city council

During the recent campaign in which Powers defeated d'Andrea for a seat in the council, the home of Alderman Powers was wrecked by a bomb but no one injured. A few weeks later Paul Labriola, one of Powers' henchmen, was shot and killed from ambush by assassins who have never been apprehended.

The shooting of d'Andrea apparently was carefully planned. His assailants had concealed themselves in a vacant apartment on the first floor of the building where d'Andrea lived. As d'Andrea ascended the steps of the building, firing began. Police found six bullet holes in the curtains of the window of the vacant apartment. His assailants fled through a rear door.

Sherriffs' Resignation Is Accepted By Board

SAN JOSE, Calif., May 11.—Members of the Board of Education last night accepted the resignation of Alexander Sheriffs as superintendent of schools. The resignation will go into effect Friday, May 13, in order to give Sheriffs time to settle legal business connected with the position he has held.

This action follows a statement by Miss Margaret Heuer, an Alameda school teacher, in which she claimed that she shot herself after she had been assaulted in a San Francisco hotel by Sheriffs.

When informed that Sheriffs had resigned, Attorney William E. Foley, representing Miss Heuer, said: "Well, his action ends the case. This means the proposed investigation by the Board of Education will not be held."

Miss Heuer, who is still being treated in a local hospital, said: "I am glad he has resigned, but I cannot discuss what future steps may be taken. That will be in the hands of the attorney representing me."

Salvation Army Fund For Home Is Growing

Generous response to the workers in the Salvation Army campaign was reported by officers in charge today, the third campaign to raise $30,000 to complete the new rescue and maternity home in Fruitvale now under construction.

J. Cal Ewing, chairman of the campaign committee, issued a statement warning the public to contribute only to persons wearing the Salvation Army uniform or who carry proper credentials. He warned that reports of fake solicitors being in the field had come to headquarters and announced that police aid has been enlisted to locate them.

A good sum was turned over to the campaign committee today by the T and D. theater, the result of the midnight matinee last night, in which the entire proceeds were given to the campaign.

$10,000 IS TAKEN AS SETTLEMENT BY CLARA HAMON

Relinquishes All Claims To $8,000,000 Estate Left By Oklahoma Oil King.

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Clara Smith Hamon, acquitted of the murder of Jake L. Hamon, Oklahoma oil king and politician, today, in Los Angeles, agreed to a $10,000 settlement of her claim to a share of Hamon's $8,000,000 estate, according to information from authentic sources.

The $10,000 settlement was offered the Hamon girl by Judge C. W. Ellis of Santa Ana, Calif., representing the Hamon estate. Ellis was authorized to make the offer by his son, Fred Ellis, of Ardmore, Okla., who is attorney for the estate.

Attorney J. B. Champion, whose plea at the celebrated murder trial is said to have swayed the jury in the girl's favor, arrived in Los Angeles last night to arrange details of the settlement with Judge Ellis.

Judge Ellis stated that the settlement negotiations have been in progress for some time since Clara Hamon was acquitted. He said there had been much correspondence between the attorneys and that the $10,000 had been tentatively accepted.

The settlement offer, it was stated, has the full approval of Hamon's widow.

Clara Hamon arrived in Los Angeles several weeks ago with the announcement that she had completed plans to produce a motion picture here telling the story of her life, the slaying of Hamon and her trial and acquittal. She stated that she was practically without funds, but that financial backers had agreed to furnish the money for her picture.

Pro-Japanese Views Ascribed to Diplomats

By A. L. BRADFORD,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—David Jayne Hill has tentatively been selected as ambassador to Japan, according to authoritative information today.

Strong opposition is arising to President Harding's selection of Jacob Gould Schurman as minister to China.

Definite and tentative selections made by Harding for American representatives in the Far East are opposed on the ground that the men slated by the President for those posts entertain pro-Japanese sympathies.

Richard Washburn Child, prominent writer, who had been picked by President Harding for the Tokyo post, is said to have been dropped because of being pro-Japanese.

OFTEN FORCED TO QUIT WORK, HE SAYS

"I'm in better shape now than I've been in many a day," said J. D. Halcomb, an employee of the California Bag and Paper Co., residing at 1520 Park Ave., Emeryville, Cal., in relating his experience with Tanlac, recently.

"For four years I suffered from stomach trouble so bad that at times I just doubled up with cramps, and often at my work such spells would come on me and I just had to stop right then. I lost many hours' sleep, rolling and tossing in agony at night, and my troubles kept growing worse until I thought no medicine could do me any good.

"But since taking Tanlac I seldom have a touch of indigestion, and the spells are getting lighter and less severe. I've not had a spell of cramps since I started on Tanlac, and instead of bloating terribly with gas after meals like I used to, I hardly notice any distress at all after eating. I feel stronger, sleep better, can work with more ease, and am gaining in weight every day. I feel sure I'll soon be a perfectly well man, for I never miss a dose of my Tanlac and it is helping me every day."

NEW ARMY BILL HAS ALLOWANCE OF $320,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 11. — The army appropriations bill, carrying approximately $320,000,000, and providing for an army of 150,000 men, was passed late yesterday by the house and sent to the senate. The vote was 243 to 23.

Before the final vote, unsuccessful attempts were made to have the house reverse its previous action in adopting an amendment providing for a reduction in the size of the army, which now totals about 230,000 men, to 150,000, and for the discharge from service "under reasonable war department regulations" men making application.

An effort by Representative Herrick, Republican, Oklahoma, to attach a rider, declaring the war ended and directing the secretary of war to withdraw American troops from the Rhine, was checked by Representative Mondell, Republican leader, who made a point of order against it.

Reginald Heber (1783-1826), the author of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," died the same year as did Presidents John Adams and Thomas Jefferson.

News of the Churches

Farewell Said to Pastor

Members of Brooklyn Presbyterian church and friends of its pastor, Rev. Howard I. Kerr, gathered at the church on Monday evening to pay final tribute to him before his departure for Denver, Colo., on May 18.

Under the direction of Miss Ada Sherling, the church parlors were converted into a bower of spring blossoms. The main features on the interesting program, which was rendered during the evening, were the musical numbers given by present and former soloists of Brooklyn church. The program included a duet by Alexander and John McAdams; solos by Miss Florence Morrison, John McAdams and Mrs. Marion Brower.

In the social hour which followed the program, refreshments were served and good-byes to the pastor were said. Rev. Kerr has ben pastor of Brooklyn church for five years. He leaves to take up a new work as executive secretary of the church extension board of Denver.

Synodical Society to Meet

Presbyterian churches of Oakland and Berkeley will be well represented in the quarterly meeting of the California Synodical Society of Home Missions, one of the organizations of the Presbyterian church, which meets in San Jose on Friday. Miss Julia Fraser, the state president of the society, is a resident of Oakland, and its secretary, Mrs. B. S. Forbes, also resides in this city. Others who will attend from the Eastbay are Mrs. Sarah Blakenship and Mrs. George W. White of St. John's church, Berkeley, and Mrs. W. H. H. Hamilton of Brooklyn Presbyterian church.

The general theme to be carried out in the discussion, which will form one of the chief features of the meeting, is "Our Neighbors." Along this line addresses will be made by the president on "Who Is Our Neighbor?" by Mrs. Leah H. Thompson of New Mexico on "Plaza Neighbors," and Mrs. W. S. Geldert of San Francisco on "Who Is Who." Dr. Robert S. Donaldson, executive secretary of the church extension board of the San Francisco presbytery is to speak on "The Forgotten Village of the American City." The session will be closed with a group of Russian songs rendered by Mrs. James H. Speer of Berkeley.

Episcopal Convocation Tomorrow

The spring meeting of the Episcopal Convocation of Oakland will be held tomorrow at Trinity Episcopal church, Twenty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue. Rev. Edgar F. Gee, dean of the convocation, will preside.

The morning will be devoted to a business session and devotional period. Reports will be given by church officers, diocesan representatives and missionary representatives. At 1:45 Mrs. C. H. Kroll will give an address on "Church School Service League." Others who will speak during the afternoon include Rev. R. M. Trelease, Rev. Lloyd B. Thomas, Rev. H. H. Kelley and Albert C. Agnew.

At the evening session, which will follow a dinner at St. Augustine's church, Twenty-seventh and West streets, Rt. Rev. E. L. Parsons, Rev. B. D. Wiegle, F. M. Lee and Miss H. Maddock will be the chief speakers.

Members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, one of the most active men's organizations of the Episcopal church, will gather at St. Paul's parish house this evening for a fathers' and sons' banquet, which is arranged in connection with a series of life work conferences being sponsored by the national organization of the brotherhood. Rev. Edward L. Parsons, Bishop Coadjutor, will be the toastmaster at the banquet. Speakers include Bishop William Ford Nichols, Rev. Harry Shires and General Green. "Recruiting for the Ministry" will be the general subject discussed.

PLYMOUTH DRAMATICS.

One of the features of the entertainment provided for the community by Plymouth Congregational church this week is a dramatic evening to be given Friday by the Boulevard Players under the direction of Wilbur Tupper. Four one-act plays will be staged as follows: "Queen of Hearts," by Dunn Brown; "Prince of Court Painters," by Constance Mackey; "Mr. Fraser's Friends," by Wilbur Tupper, and "Comedy, the Real Thing," by John Kendrick Bangs. The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock.

SODALITY MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Joseph's Catholic church in Alameda will be held tomorrow evening in the parish hall, San Antonio avenue and Lafayette street, following the monthly service and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The sodality has a membership of several hundred.

REVIVAL TO CONTINUE.

Revival meetings in Elmhurst Christian church will be continued for another week, according to an announcement made by Rev. J. A. Shoptaugh, pastor of the church. During the three weeks period in which the services have been going on under the direction of Rev. John Le Grande and party, 77 new members have been received into the church.

Rev. A. L. Webb, pastor of Fruitvale Christian church, is assisting Mrs. Le Grande with the musical program this week. Baptismal services were held yesterday afternoon and will be held again from time to time.

ST. JOHN'S PRESBYTERIAN.

O. C. Laizure, chaplain of San Quentin prison, will address the regular meeting of the Church Aid department of St. John's Presbyterian church, Berkeley, tomorrow afternoon on "The Criminal. What Is He? Who Is he? And How May He Be Saved to Society?" Musical numbers will be furnished by Miss Eleanor Crofts. Mrs. Frank White will have charge of the devotions.

DEDICATION POSTPONED.

Dedication ceremonies, which were to have been held at Fruitvale Christian church last Sunday, have been postponed until Sunday, June 5, and will be the culmination of a series of evangelistic meetings which will begin next Tuesday evening under the direction of Rev. John Le Grande and party. Rev. Le Grande is now conducting meetings in Elmhurst Christian church.

The United States army code was invented by General A. J. Myer. By it communications can be transmitted fifteen to twenty miles, as far as one man can see another with the telescope.

CRUMPLED WALLS TELL STORY OF ABANDONED CITY

Ehrenberg in Arizona Contributed Millions To World's Wealth.

BLYTHE, Cal., May 11.—A few unevenly crumpled adobe walls, long since having lost the superstructures that bridged them over and made them habitable homes, are all that today remain of Ehrenberg, the historical old settlement opposite here on the Arizona side of the Colorado river.

Ehrenberg, fifty years ago, was a "wild and woolly" mining town, and in its day contributed more than $17,000,000 from its La Paz mine alone, to the gold supply of the nation.

Its population of more than 5000 is scattered through the West, many of them residents of Blythe, Cal.; Yuma, Ariz., and other southwestern centers. Its only visitors are occasional tourists who inquisitively browse among its deserted ruins, sprawled over barren, sage-brush country.

Ehrenberg, founded in 1870, ended its active and colorful days of mining and gambling in 1882, when the Indian settlements along the banks of the Colorado became restless. In that year there were Indian wars, and after a number of Ehrenbergers were killed, the citizens began an exodus.

In 1883 most of the business population had moved, and several years later when Blythe was growing up on this side of the river, augmented by former residents of the old mining town, the only "businesses" in the town remaining were three saloons. When Arizona went dry, these closed. The proprietors moved here. The town, springing into prosperity quickly, died suddenly.

Erhenberg's chief output was gold; very little copper and no silver, commercially, were produced. It was in the heart of a rich metal district. Fortunes were made in and around the town, and recently uncovered parts of roulette paraphernalia attest that fragments of these fortunes probably were exchanged again and again in play.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads — big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calonite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The calonite powder and the hot water have just dissolved them. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and unsightly—and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out, while the simple application of calonite powder and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get calonite powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.—Advertisement.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness and premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."—Advertisement.

AD. CLUB IS TOLD OF STATE GROWTH OF SILK INDUSTRY

Possibilities For Sale of Product in California Held Unlimited.

Speaking on the growth and output of silk and advocating the state of California as an ideal production place for the raw material, David P. Burrell, of the Lehrner Silk Manufacturing Company, and Guy Wilkinson, who has spent years studying the silk industry from growing mulberry cocoons to marketing the raw product, spoke before members of the Oakland Advertising Club at their weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth G. McGibbon, head of the study division of the advertising club who acted as chairman during the program of yesterday's meeting.

Burrell declared that the possibilities for the sale of silk in California were almost unlimited. He declared that the slimate also was admirably suited for its production and that he saw no reason why the western part of the country, particularly this state, should not lead the world in its output. San Francisco alone, Burrell said, is the second greatest silk consuming city in the world, led only by Paris.

Wilkinson gave a personal talk and told of his experiences in investigating the silk industry and of making a study of the possibilities of growing cocoons and manufacuring the material in California. He declared that the output of a mulberry farm of from 4000 to 4500 acres in California would equal that of Italy, the greatest silk producing country in the world.

ACTIVITIE of WOMEN

Invitations Are Out for Reception

One hundred and twenty-five cards were received by Eastbay friends for a tea May 18, at which Miss Grace Ziegenfuss will preside at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. N. Ziegenfuss, a large number of her sorority sisters and friends to be guests. On this occasion Miss Ziegenfuss will honor Miss Kathryn Ann Fox, bride-elect, and Miss Helen Wells of Canada. Miss Wells has been in the bay section for the past six months as a student at the School of Arts and Crafts in Berkeley, and is about to return to the north. This affair will serve as a farewell to her friends here.

Miss Ziegenfuss will leave the first of June for the east to be the guest of relatives and friends, and the first week in July will attend the Pi Beta Phi convention to be held at Charlevoix on Lake Michigan shore.

Miss Ziegenfuss will be assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. John E. Fox, and Miss Wells, together with a coterie of other friends of the hostess.

BRIDGE TEA IS PLANNED.

Alumnae of Miss Barnard's Kindergarten School of 2748 Ashby avenue, are to give a bridge tea at the school May 21, for the Harriet Memorial Scholarship fund, at 2 o'clock. Tickets may be procured from Miss Adelaide Adams of 3046 Benvenue avenue. It is to be a general reunion and it is anticipated a large number of the former students will be assembled upon that date.

Miss Mary Park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Park of Claremont, is to be the center of a round of affairs this month, as her marriage to George Biehl, of San Francisco, will take place June 7 in St. John's Presbyterian church in Berkeley. About 400 will witness the ceremony. Yesterday afternoon Miss Cecilia von Bokkelen entertained for a trio of brides-elect, Miss Jane Stow, Miss Mary Park and Miss Elizabeth Maltby.

Tomorrow, Mrs. Herbert C. Langler will entertain for Miss Park at her home in Berkeley at an informal tea and will be assisted by her aunt, Mrs. A. B. Spreckels, of San Francisco.

The following day the Misses Ida and Isabelle Faye, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peter Faye, will entertain at luncheon for Miss Park, and on Saturday Mrs. Francis Frost (Alice Rickey) will have the younger girls for tea at the Rickey home, where she has resided since her marriage.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MISS TAYLOR.

Mrs. Chesley John Roberts was hostess at a surprise party last evening for her sister Miss Ruth Taylor, in Claremont, the affair taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willard Taylor. About thirty were guests. The affair commemorated the birthday of the honoree.

Mrs. Seth Martin is entertaining as her house guest, Mrs. John Campbell of Denver, Colorado, who will spend about three weeks in the bay region. Mrs. Martin recently came west to make her home. While here Mrs. Campbell will be entertained by Mrs. Edgar P. Lewis, Mrs. S. T. Wiley of Berkeley, and Mrs. Campbell, of San Francisco.

Miss Evelyn Gogerty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Gogerty, of Berkeley, and the fiancee of Rex Clinton Tupper, was the motif for a luncheon and shower at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Fleming of Claremont avenue, Saturday. Places were set for fourteen guests, spring blossoms ornamenting the table. Among the guests were Miss Anna May, Miss Rebecca Fox, Miss Gladys Boone, and Miss Edna Boardman Kingsbury, who will be maids of honor at the wedding, June 8.

SENIOR BALL AND RECEPTION HELD

The Senior ball was a memorable event last evening at the Hotel Oakland, several hundred guests participating. It was one of the largest affairs of commencement week with the exception of a reception from 4 to 6 o'clock, held in the afternoon, given by President and Mrs. David Prescott Barrows to the graduates. Senior banquets were held Monday evening, the women's banquet at Claremont Country Club and the men's at the Hotel Oakland.

Miss Florence Miller, betrothed of John Shipman Jr., of Alameda, was the guest of honor this afternoon at the Fairmont Hotel when her aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Halsey Westphal, was hostess. Miss Fay Boyden will entertain Saturday afternoon and on Saturday Miss Carrie and Miss Daisy Miller will entertain for their sister at "Daisy Farm Inn" near Niles, a number of the younger set motoring out for the affair.

Oakland to Celebrate Hospital Day

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Hospital day will be celebrated tomorrow. Throughout the nation and with the indorsement of President Harding, particular attention will be given to the houses of healing and the place which they occupy in the great social structure.

Eastbay hospital nurses have arranged a local celebration of the day, with their home at 594 Thirty-first street to be thrown open to the public for a tea and program. A special invitation is being extended to the young women in the high schools to witness this brief glimpse of the life and environment of a girl in training for a career. From 3:30 to 5 p. m. the young hostesses will entertain all who care to accept their hospitality.

Miss Edith Fennell has been chosen to represent the nurses on the program in a short talk. The medical staff will also designate one of its number to set forth the place which a nurse occupies in the professions. Visitors will be invited to inspect the nurses' home and the adjoining hospital through its interesting wards under the leadership of the students.

According to those who have arranged the "open house," the effort is being made to acquaint the public with the student nurse, the small and interesting world in which she lives, her pleasures, entertainment, duties, hardships and responsibilities.

"Sidelights Behind the Scenes" will be revealed tomorrow by Miss Jane Urban, the young star who has returned to Oakland with new laurels, speaking before the Business and Professional Woman's club. The members are honoring Miss Urban at the regular Thursday luncheon, which will be held at Hotel Harrison. Mrs. Gladys Barndollar, president, will preside.

The Home Club membership will be called upon to contribute the entire program following the May luncheon of the Home club on Thursday, May 19. The numbers will be given by Miss Anita Hough, piano, Mrs. Alfred Reed, dramatic reader, Mrs. Alice Davies Endriss, violin; Mrs. W. O. Morgan will be hostess of the day. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. B. W. Bours, Mrs. C. H. Bailey, Mrs. E. H. Bryan, Mrs. G. N. Blackbourn, Mrs. H. D. Bell, Mrs. Harry Alderson, Mrs. George R. Chambers, Mrs. Edgar Bishop, Mrs. B. R. Aiken, Mrs. Q. A. Chase, Mrs. Austin Clark, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. N. R. Chamberlain.

Professor C. E. Rugh of the University of California was scheduled to address the education section of California branch of the American Association of University Women today in their clubrooms in San Francisco. The talk on "The Child-Centered Scheme of Education" introduced a general discussion on newer developments in educational theory.

CHILD EMPLOYMENT HIGHER

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Increase in the number of child employees in the United States has been almost proportionate to the increase in total population in the last eight years, according to the United States Department of Labor. Statistics compiled by the children's bureau show that 76,194 minors took out permits in twelve representative cities in the country to go to work in 1920. This compares with 67,169 in 1913, an increase of 13 per cent.

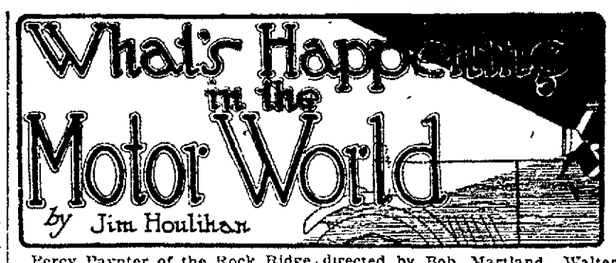
tion from the University of California.

The room was decorated in blue and gold, the color scheme carried out in the appointments of dinner, which Mrs. Hansen personally supervised. The guests consisted of close friends of Miss Herbert's college days.

Those present were Mesdames Berry, Meadows, Flint, Himes, Winn and Crowley, and Misses Ramona Leslie, Helen Schreiber, Glory Howard, Ursula Howard, Margaret Herbert, Jeannette Sudow and Mrs. Alice Taylor.

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlihan



Percy Paynter of the Rock Ridge Tire Shop won the TRIBUNE trophy in the State tire changing contest at the Orpheum Tuesday night, repeating his victory of a year ago in the same event. Paynter's time was twenty seconds better than his 1920 mark and his showing Tuesday indicated that he won't have very much trouble capturing the affair again next year, providing his skill improves in the same ratio it apparently has during the past twelve months.

D. Shane of the Superior Tire & Repair Co. in San Francisco, finished second, his time being 4:19. Early in the contest Shane looked a possible winner but he was slower than Paynter in handling the tire pump.

W. J. Aldridge of Cook's Tire & Rubber Co. was awarded 3d prize. Harvey Gregory of the Coast Tire Service Station finished his task third but when the official gauge was put on his tire it registered but 70 pounds. Chester Chase of the Telegraph Garage & Machine Works was fifth to complete the test. Neither Henry Kreuckel nor H. Gamble started in the contest.

Even though the time made was faster than the contest of a year ago it seemed to lack the interest of preceding events. Whether motorists don't care any more for this sport isn't known, yet the fact remains the audience didn't get the usual "kick" out of the affray they usually do.

The tires were loaned by the United States Tire Co., the tubes by the Fisk Tire Co.; the rims by the Kentin Tire & Rubber Co. and the stop watches by A. G. Spaulding Co.

Boxes, decorated with advertising emblematic of the business they are engaged in were occupied by representatives from Weinstock, Nichols Co., Day Johnson Co., A. E. Berg, L. G. Reno, Bearings Service Co., Jos. Pierotti & Sons, General Auto Supply Co., American Auto Metal Works, W. L. Hughson Co. and Pierce Arrow Sales Co.

DEALERS PERFECTING PARADE PLANS

A special committee meeting among the motor car dealers who are managing the details of next Saturday's automobile pageant was held last night in the Pierce Arrow Pacific Sales Co. showrooms resulting in a lot of constructive suggestions for the successful celebration of Automobile Day, decreed by Governor Stephens as May 14th when homage shall be paid to motor transportation.

Later in the week details will be announced telling of the schedule covering Saturday's events.

SPRING DEBILITY

Loss of Appetite, That Tired Feeling and Sometimes Eruptions.

Thousands take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine for that tired feeling, nervous weakness, impure blood and say it makes them feel better, eat and sleep better, and "makes food taste good."

Spring debility is a condition in which it is especially hard to combat disease germs, which invade the system here, there and everywhere. The white blood corpuscles, sometimes called "the little soldiers in the blood," because it is their duty to fight disease germs, are too weak to do good service.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens the "little soldiers" and enables them to repel germs of grip, influenza, fevers and other ailments; relieves catarrh and rheumatism. It has given satisfaction to three generations. Get it today, and for a laxative take Hood's Pills.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Reasons why so many women prefer DETROIT JEWEL GAS RANGES

"They Bake Better"

DETROIT JEWELS excel in durability, economy and efficiency. This is the reason that more of these Ranges are in use than any other line manufactured.

Read these Exclusive Features of the Detroit Jewel

THEY BAKE BETTER—The patented and exclusive feature of the oven construction causes them to bake more evenly and quickly.

BEST EQUIPPED—The snowy white porcelain parts with which all cabinet style Detroit Jewels are equipped make them not only sanitary but beautiful in appearance.

EASIEST CLEANED—This is a feature housekeepers appreciate. The rich, velvety, baked ebonite black finish and the rounded smooth castings take the work out of cleaning.

MOST ECONOMICAL—You can bake and broil at the same time, as one set of burners heat both oven and broiler. Detroit Jewels are planned for gas saving.

THEY LAST LONGER—The material used in the construction of Detroit Jewel is of a quality product built to give years of useful service.

BEST COOKING TOP—Made the right size so all the top burners can be used without crowding. Five burners provided, a giant, simmering and three regular burners.

WONDERFULLY CONVENIENT—Oven linings can be easily removed. Top burners lift from place. Gas valves are adjustable to any gas pressure. They are simplicity and perfection combined.

is designed to prepare us to serve society wherever special training and general culture are required. From the individual point of view it is designed to prepare us to earn a living and to lead a well-rounded life. It must do both, for if it doesn't do the former, it is an education which only the wealthy can afford —an aristocratic education; and if it doesn't do the latter, it in no way differs from the education of the higher technical school. A university education must look toward making a life, as well as toward making a living. I know that I am but telling you what you already know, but I wish to remind you of what we are all too much inclined to forget.

"For we do forget every day that the fundamental purpose of a university education is not to give a well-filled purse, but a well-filled life. Owing to our modern worship of science and industry, we crowd to one side the personal and ideal factors in life. In exact science we are concerned only with what we can measure and weigh. In industry we are concerned only with how many units we turn out and how much we get for our work. In education, too, obsessed by the mania for amounts and figures, we demand quantity rather than quality. Consequently, we take dozens and dozens of courses, to fulfill a quantitative requirement; we write scores and scores of papers—to get a quantitative grading; and we read hundreds and hundreds of pages."

REFORM IN COURT PROCEDURE URGED

Talking on "Changing Conceptions in Judicial Administration," Hildebrand urged twentieth century methods of procedure for modern courts. "The municipal court of Chicago stands out as a tribunal of the year 1921," said Hildebrand. "It has recognized and it deals with the great twentieth century factors. Under its banner 100 great trade associations in Chicago have united in agreeing to promote trade arbitration. And it is pleasing to note the name of the Chicago Bar Association co-operating in this movement for speedy and effective justice. These lawyers and manufacturers and merchandisers of Chicago are taking a broader view; they are brushing aside the old and adopting the new, not simply because it is new, but because it meets new conditions.

"If our courts are to come back into popular esteem, they, too, must meet these new problems. They must get rid of cumbrous, ineffective and unbusinesslike procedure. This is a twentieth century problem which should be faced vigorously and fearlessly. It is up to the lawyers and judges to get to work on this problem before the layman starts the legislative steam roller and levels the good with the bad. We must infuse judicial administration with current ideas. We must get rid of diffuse and dilatory methods. We must labor on the judicial edifice and strengthen its pillars. Legal procedure must be more simple and business-like, more colloquial, flexible and prompt, more thoroughly in touch with the spirit of the times. The obligation is clear, and let us hope that we can look forward to a near future where we will find not only truth as the handmaid of justice, but also promptness as its child, simplicity as its companion, safety walking in the steps of its swift and certain action, and popular confidence following in its train. Such justice is "the brightest emanation from the gospel: it is the attribute of God."

FOUR WOMEN FAINT FROM SUN'S RAYS

For the first time in several years, the medalist of the class was a girl, Miss Georgea Tilton Hine of Berkeley. The awarding of a gold medal to the student making the highest scholarship record is an annual event.

The fainting of four women in turn as the exercises proceeded attested to the torridness of the atmosphere in the great concrete bowl. Many who have been regular attendants at commencement exercises believed this to have been one of the hottest days in the Greek theater in the history of such events there. All four of the women prostrated were quickly revived after being taken from the theater. Every available seat in the theater was taken and a large number of persons in addition were standing throughout the exercises.

PART PLAYED BY ENGINEERING OUTLINED

"The Public Need of Engineering Leadership," was the theme of Watkins. Of the significance of the engineering profession as related to the affairs of the world at large Watkins said:

"Government itself is in many respects an engineering task. Governmental business is complex. It is replete with technical matters of organization and operation. A great postal system, a national mercantile marine, a department of the Interior, are technical functions of government. They require the vitalizing efficiency of engineering management. They require technical administration and development. They require the vitalizing efficiency of engineering management. But this has been lacking in the past. Heretofore our government has been mainly influenced by juridical considerations, and has been concerned principally with legal administration and interpretation.

"The great constructive public problems have been loosely dealt with officially. The notorious 'pork barrel' methods of Federal internal construction and the waste of enormous public funds, are common knowledge. Activities of of government [illegible] Responsibility is scattered. Red tape is a byword. Effective organization and policy is almost unknown. All this is due not so much to any inherent dishonesty of our elected officials as to their incompetence and the hopeless lack of system they labor under. As a nation we have not selected representatives technically qualified to deal effectively with the constructive tasks of government."

MEDICAL PROGRESS AND RESEARCH

"Medical Progress and Research" was the subject of Dr Berwick, who urged the more general recognition of research activities and their value. In this respect he said:

"To be worth while, research must be continuous and in order to maintain this continuity, institutions must seek true research men, give them good opportunities to work and ample compensation. The most difficult problem is to locate the proper men and it is hard, almost impossible to obtain new workers to undertake an unfinished problem. The best work is done by steady, continuous application of the same individual over long periods of time.

"Improper legislation can do great harm in hindering the progress of many problems. This legislation is often fostered by people who do not know or will not investigate the true status of animal experimentation. Most arguments are based upon facts as they existed twenty or thirty years ago and not as they are at the present time.

"The problems which may be attacked by the university are both general and local. In many instances a most promising field of investigation lies at the very door of the university. The port of San Francisco, draining, as it does, the Orient and the tropics of Central and South America offers to this university a wonderful field for the study of unusual imported diseases not open to any other city in the temperate zone."

The graduation exercises were followed by the annual alumni luncheon in Faculty with more than 300 graduates joining in the reunion. Afterwards alumni, students and others participated this afternoon in impressive ceremonies marking the breaking of ground for the $300,000 Student Union to be erected near Sather Gate, a tribute of students and alumni to the memory of the late Professor Henry Morse Stephens. Work on the Student Union will be rushed to completion within a year's time.

MOOSE FESTIVAL IN FULL SWING

The big Moose Spring Festival opened yesterday afternoon at Forty-fifth street and San Pablo avenue and will continue until next Sunday at midnight. Just at dusk the lights were turned on at the tent city and a few moments later Dictator Preston L. Higgins, Secretary W. J. Hamilton and William Baccus, secretary of the ways and means committee of Oakland Lodge No. 324, officially opened the festival with a parade down the main street.

The Wortham shows, at the Moose festival will run throughout Moose week. Following the conference of the second degree Saturday by the Loyal Order of Moose, there will be a final jollification at the show grounds.

New Chemistry Scholarship to Women Provided

BERKELEY, May 11.—Announcement of a new scholarship for women was made a feature of this morning's exercises by President David P. Barrows, providing for $200 a year as the gift of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Stewart of Berkeley in honor of the memory of their daughter, Erma Stewart, a former student in the university. The scholarship will go to a woman student in the College of Letters and Sciences, majoring in chemistry.

TAX REVISION IDEAS.

In a letter to Representative Fordney, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has made four specific proposals for a revision of the existing scheme of federal taxation. Mr. Mellon believes that early action should be taken by Congress with reference to his recommendations, in order that the new taxes may be applied to the business of the current calendar year. His proposals are:

Repeal of the excess profits tax and the existing $2000 income exemption of corporations, the loss of revenue to be made good by a modified tax on corporate profits on a flat additional income tax on corporations, to yield an aggregate of between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

Readjustment of income tax rates so that no income will pay more than 40 percent this year and 33 percent thereafter, with a view to producing aggregate revenues substantially equivalent to the estimated receipts from the income tax under the existing law.

Repeal of the so-called luxury taxes together with the "nuisance" taxes as those on soda fountain drinks, but retention of the transportation and miscellaneous specific sales taxes.

Imposition of "sufficient new and additional taxes of wide application," such as increased stamp taxes or licenses taxes on the use of automobiles, to bring the total revenues from internal taxes after making the changes above suggested to about $4,000,000,000 in the fiscal years 1922 and 1923.

It is to be noted that Secretary Mellon makes no recommendation for the imposition of a general sales tax, a proposition which has been widely discussed by leaders of business and industry throughout the country and not a little by leaders of Congress. But the Secretary does mention the sales tax. He expresses an adverse opinion regarding it.

"The Treasury is not prepared," he says, "to recommend at this time any general sales tax and particularly if the general sales tax is to supercede the highly productive specific sales tax now in effect on many relatively non-essential articles." Mr. Mellon says that he wishes it were possible to recommend the repeal of the transportation tax, but points out that it produces annually about $330,000,000 and its repeal cannot be effected with safety unless Congress has an acceptable substitute to offer."

The repeal of the excess profits tax and of the "nuisance" tax on children's ice cream cones, etc., will be very welcome to the country. The repeal of the first will help business to recover initiative and work for a reduction in business extravagance. The repeal of the other will remove one of the largest causes of popular irritation in the whole system of government.

Just what has produced the obvious antagonism in the administration to the general sale tax idea, which had been generously supported by propaganda of several months' duration, is not possible to state. But it is to be assumed that the government is unwilling to put in force any taxation scheme which migh add to the popular dissatisfaction. The sales tax would be resented by many consumers, just as every direct tax is resented, and the government is mindful of the fact that the more indirection about domestic taxation the less difficulties to be faced.

Secretary Mellon believes that an intelligent revision of the existing taxes should encourage production and in the long run increase rather than diminish the government's revenues. Regarding the income tax rates, he points out that the higher surtaxes have reached the point where they serve to drive capital into tax exempt securities and thus reduce the revenues as well as to keep capital out of productive business enterprise. Certainly more production and more money in productive processes is what the nation needs and Congress will serve the country well if it adopts the legislation recommended as early as possible.

Washington announces that a battleship of the dreadnaught type is to be sent to Philippine waters. One battleship will not significantly increase the strength of the Philippine squadron, but it is well that the navy have one ship there to act as a sort of pathfinder for the benefit of a whole fleet of dreadnaughts should it become necessary to carry on extensive operations in Oriental seas.

WORK SHOULD BE THE PROGRAM.

The results of the election of yesterday for members of the Oakland city council were decisive and impressive. The strength of the vote in sections which in the past have been mainly distinguished for their apathy indicated a reawakening of civic conscience and consciousness. Out of more than 40,000 votes cast Messrs. Colbourn and Carter were elected city commissioners by a vote of practically 2 to 1.

The new commissioners will take office on July 1. They are expected to enter upon their duties with an earnest and unshakable determination to perform the public business in the interest of the public. They are expected to give a new deal in the city government.

There has in the past been so much of disagreement, of exhibition of personal animosities, of scheming for political advantages, that the public service has suffered. It has suffered severely, and all too long. The government of Oakland is not a one-man affair. It is composed of five directing officials. These officials must work together for the public. If they do not the government will not function, or will function only weakly and inadequately. This is not to say there must be unanimous agreement on every project presented to the city council, but once a decision by the majority has been reached, tactics of obstruction and defeatism should not be resorted to.

Oakland has so many circumstances in its favor in the scheme and desire for general advancement that an inefficient, unworkable government is specially to be lamented. This city has been afflicted with such an administration long enough. It is time to get to work.

AS A DESTROYER.

Mr. Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad, yesterday told a committee of Congress some of the ills of the railroads of the country, as he sees them. Briefly stated, this railroad chief thinks the people of the United States now enjoy too many facilities of transportation and travel. There is too much competition for the railroads. Mr. Kruttschnitt would have the government, or some other agency, do these things:

Stop the use for common carrier purposes of highways built with public moneys, without adequate tolls and proper regulations.

Make inland waterways built or improved at public expense carry themselves as to interest on cost and maintenance by regulating the common carrier traffic on them and by imposing adequate tolls.

Keep the United States government out of the business of operating steamships and stop the lavish expenditure of public money to provide coast-to-coast ocean transportation in competition with transcontinental railroads.

Raise tolls for use of the Panama Canal until they are sufficient to pay interest on its cost, operating expenses and maintenance.

Not deprive transcontinental carriers of coast-to-coast traffic by inflexibly enforcing a strict long and short haul clause.

Mr. Julius Kruttschnitt speaks for the railroads. At least he believes he does. There are one hundred million people to speak for themselves and they demand that no limitation be placed upon transportation facilities, that no rates of water and highway service be raised in order to nurse the railroads along in easy prosperity. The people want more transportation and cheaper transportation—not less and more expensive transportation.

The railroads probably will never quit their fight against the Panama Canal and the inland waterways. But they must not be permitted to succeed in that fight. Such statements as that of Mr. Kruttschnitt should only serve to put the people and the government on guard.

The Connecticut legislature is wasting its time fighting those cities that would set the clock ahead an hour.

A PROMISING ROAD MEASURE.

The five-year road building contract entered into by the government with the states in the federal aid highway act will expire June 30. Congress must therefore at an early date decide what the future policy of the government is to be in this matter. Discontinuance of federal aid is hardly a possibility on any account, and a renewal of the contract as it has existed and operated is practically unthinkable. There appears to be no material evidence whatever that congress is contemplating either of these steps.

The obvious demand of the highway situation, so far as the federal government is concerned, is a measure that will embody all the principles of road construction which the experience of the last five years has made clear. This demand has been met in a highway bill introduced a few days ago by Senator Townsend, chairman of the senate committee on postoffices and post roads. The principles which this measure contains were stated by President Harding in his message to congress, and they have been indorsed at some time by practically every organization of importance in the country that has had to do with highway development.

The Townsend bill, as recently drawn, provides for the concentration of federal funds upon highways of interstate importance and thereby opens up the way for the establishment of a national highway system. It calls for the creation of a federal highway commission to replace the present bureau plan and for the unification of governmental highway agencies. It would be the duty of the commission to define the interstate roads upon which the bulk of the federal funds would be expended, consideration first being given to such roads as meet the agricultural, commercial, postal and military needs of the country.

The mistaken federal aid policy of the past has hampered development along all these lines. Many of the states have been inclined to dodge responsibility and expense in road work; and counties, in a frantic effort to get a share of federal funds, have overloaded themselves with bonds. The federal funds were hopelessly scattered; there was no centralized responsibility in actual construction; little or no provision for maintenance and few durable or connected roads built.

Under the proposed measure, county funds will be released for county roads, state funds may be expended on a state syste mof highways and also on a national system, federal aid being available for the state in both cases, but chiefly for use on the national system as it extends through the state.—Kansas City Star.

NOTES and COMMENT

Governor-General Harrison and the Wilson administration left a legacy in the Philippines that is likely to develop into a problem. The Filipinos have been encouraged to expect absolute and immediate independence. The division which expects to gravitate to the surface as the governing class clamors for it. Doubtless the more responsible and less assertive would prefer certain order and protection, as at present. The difficulties which would confront the Philippines when standing alone are evidently not understood—the menace of Japan, for instance. What is best to do has been left to General Wood, who is now looking the situation over.

About the only thing they readily break party lines over in Congress is the tariff. When General Hancock said the tariff was a local question it caused great merriment, but it was within hailing distance of being right. Sections may be aligned on party matters, yet not at all unanimous as to the tariff.

COLOMBIA

Colombia, the country to which the United States has just engaged by treaty to pay $25,000,000, and the scene of some of the principal exploits of Simon Bolivar, liberator of the northern states of South America, whose statue was recently unveiled in New York City, is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

"Colombia, which occupies the northeastern corner of South America and forms the southern 'abutment' of the Isthmus of Panama, is typical of the entire northern and northeastern portion of the South American continent," says the bulletin. "It is tremendously rich in all sorts of natural resources, and almost wholly undeveloped.

"It has an area of nearly half a million square miles, which means that it is almost twice the size of Texas; yet it has less than one-twentieth of the railroad mileage of that State. To put it differently, there is a mile of railway in the United States as a whole for every 12½ square miles of area, while in Colombia there is only a mile of railway for every 600 square miles of area. Most of the Colombian railways are of narrower gauge, by a foot or more, than those of the United States. They do not form a system but for the most part are in lengths of 25 to 100 miles, scattered about the country.

"Bogota, the capital of Colombia, is situated between ranges of the Andes on a plateau at an elevation of more than a mile and a half. It is approximately 450 miles from the Caribbean sea along the most accessible route, and 200 miles from the Pacific across the Andes. It has no rail connection with either sea. To reach it one must travel for more than 500 miles up the winding course of the Magdalena river by boat, skirting rapids by means of a short length of railroad, and finally cover the last fifty miles from the head of navigation by rail. The trip sometimes requires several weeks. Transportation of supplies throughout much of the interior is by means of mule back along rough, narrow mountain paths. The few carriage roads are in the Magdalena delta near the coast and in the vicinity of Bogota on the plateau.

"More than half of the area of Colombia lies east of the three ranges of the Andes and consists of plains country sloping toward the center of the continent and drained by the headwaters of the great Amazon and Orinoco river systems. Covered with succulent grasses, these plains form an unsurpassed stock-raising country. It is largely unutilized and is to be compared with the plains of Rhodesia, South Africa, as one of the richest unoccupied regions suitable for cattle raising remaining in the world. It is estimated that more than ten million head of cattle could be pastured on these 'llanos' of eastern Colombia.

"Colombia's climatic conditions vary from the sub-tropical near the shores of the Caribbean, to Alpine in the higher Andes. Forests cover millions of acres, the deltas and river valleys yield cotton, tobacco, cacao, bananas, rubber and other tropical and sub-tropical products, while on the hillsides coffee thrives. On the plateaus grain and other temperate zone products may be grown. The need for railroads in Colombia is indicated by the fact that, though considerable quantities of grain are produced on the interior plateaus, it has always been cheaper to buy grain from the United States in the Colombian coast cities after it has been shipped thousands of miles, than to transport the domestic grain the few hundred miles from its place of production.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Not a Garden to Give Slimness and Well-being?

By ROYAD S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is surprising how many of the letters I receive ask how to get rid of excessive flesh. Fear of it is common to the race, but, unfortunately, the fear is not sufficient to drive the afflicted one to the observance of such rules of conduct as will result in sylph-like and supple form.

No one objects to uniform plumpness of figure. But when the fat is deposited in "bunches" there is immediate complaint. Abdominal fatness, it seems, is the worst crime.

If you see a fat farmer you may be sure he is a foreman. The private on the farm and the working owner never get thick through the middle of the body.

Next to its effect upon the circulation of the blood, the greatest evil of tight-fitting clothing is that it acts as a splint to prevent doubling the body by bending the hips. A gate that is never opened has piled against it weeds and grass, rocks and all sorts of debris. If the hinges of the hips are never used it is only natural that nature should deposit in the quiet spot all the superfluous substance she accumulates.

Many an active woman "just hates to lean over." Rather than stoop over to pick something from the floor she will kneel down for it. Then she wonders why she is fat in the middle.

We have reached the time of year when flower gardens and vegetables gardens are very real in the thoughts and eyes of man. The joy of caring for flowers and vegetables should be sufficient inducement to tempt you into the open.

Next to watching the development of a child there is nothing more thrilling than playing nurse to a garden.

If you will assume the care of a garden of decent size, spade it, weed it, hoe it and water it, stake it and train it, and finally garner the fruit of it, you will come through the summer with a store of good health. If you will work till you perspire each day and bend over for the weeds, when the end of the season comes that unsightly abdominal fatness will have dissolved and disappeared.

Soil, stooping and sweat will make you slender, sylph-like in your glowing health. Incidentally, you will grow vegetables enough for the family table which may justify a pleasure trip on the saving. Furthermore, your blooming cheeks will rival the beauties of the sights you see.

If you have no garden and no natural means of taking off flesh, you must lie on your back and kick your heels in the air. Or you may roll on the floor, crawl on your stomach, or kick a medicine ball.

How wise it is to get your exercise, your desiravle leanness and your good health all at the same time!

MORE POSITIONS ARE WANTED FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Eighty Men Placed By Legion But 150 Deserving Are Waiting.

Through the efforts of the employment bureau of Oakland Post, No. 5, of the American Legion, 80 former service men have been placed in permanent positions. The positions filled cover a wide variety, including chauffeurs, blacksmiths, laborers, painters, carpenters, etc.

Bernard Marvin, employment director of Post No. 5, said today that he still had 150 men who had not yet been placed in positions, and that more applicants were coming in all the time. These men range from high-class technical men to unskilled laborers, he said. He declared that the response on the part of employers had not been as great as he felt it should be under the circumstances.

He emphasized the need of finding places for young men of from 22 to 24 with no particular experience. These young men, he pointed out, have given their time to the service, which ordinarily they could have given to preparing themselves for some vocation. Most employers want experienced men of 30 or thereabouts, according to Marvin. While an effort is made to see that the family man is looked after first as a general rule, this has brought about a preponderance of young men unplaced in permanent positions.

He pointed out also that there are many men who are competent to act as watchmen, to run elevators or to hold similar positions. Men particularly fitted for such jobs, he said, are old retired soldiers, partially disabled ex-service men, and those who are putting in a portion of their time studying in the government schools.

Freed On Promise To Quit Gambling

Gilbert M. Maine pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny and was placed on probation for three months. He was arrested by Police Inspectors Joe Enright and Edward O'Donnell after he had taken a small quantity of sugar and flour from the Baer Baking Company. He told the Judge that he took the goods because he was hungry, and said he had lost most of his money gambling. When he promised that he would stop gambling he was given probation.

Commissioners Will Consider Land Sales

The City Planning Commission will hold a meeting this afternoon in Room 703, City Hall, to consider certain plats submitted by real estate operators who wish to throw open the lands for sale. The matter of the purchase of Trestle Glen will also be discussed. The meeting will start at 4 o'clock.

High School To Give Play With Orient Setting

EUGENIA CLINCHARD, who takes the part of Zobah, daughter of the Shah of Persia, in the Alameda high school play, "The Garden of the Shah," Saturday night.

"In the Garden of the Shah" To Be Presented By Cast of Alameda Students.

ALAMEDA, May 11.—Girls as harem beauties, costumes and Oriental scenery will be the outstanding feature of the Alameda high school musical play "In the Garden of the Shah," which is to be given Saturday night.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hazel B. Hunter the large cast has been working to perfect themselves in their various parts. One of the greatest difficulties which the management had to contend with was the securing of appropriate scenery. The carpentry class of the high school came to the rescue, however, and the result is that there will be elaborate setting. The costuming has all been designed by the domestic science sewing department and the artists of the school have painted the Oriental scenes.

Eugenia Clinchard is to take the lead of Zobah, daughter of the Shah of Persia. She has taken part in a number of amateur plays in Alameda before. Albert Brooks, taking the part of Billy Cummings, one of a pair of adventurous American mining men, is the other lead and is the comedian of the party. Clifford Phillips will play the part of Ted Harding, the other American. Margaret Randell will be Lolah, companion of the princess, and the part of the nurse will be taken by Addie Beal.

NAVY KEEPS S. F. HEADQUARTERS BY VOTE IN SENATE

Removal of Twelfth District Office To Mare Island Beaten, Report.

Removal of the Twelfth Naval district headquarters from San Francisco to Mare Island has been defeated in the United States Senate, according to a telegram received today by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce from its managing director, Joseph E. Caine, now in Washington.

He said in his wire that the Senate naval affairs committee had voted to expunge the provision from the naval appropriations bill as it came from the House. As originally framed the clause in the bill provided that the commandant of a naval district would have to be the commandant of a navy yard or naval base and have his headquarters at such yard or base.

Congressmen J. A. Elston of Berkeley and John I. Nolan of San Francisco made a hard, but unsuccessful fight, in the lower House against this provision.

According to advices to the Chamber of Commerce, debate on the naval appropriations bill is scheduled in the Senate for the last of this week. The bill, as amended, carries $1,500,000 for the Pacific naval base, and, with the entire California delegation except Congressman Charles F. Curry lined up behind it, the expectations are that little opposition will develop in the passage of the bill through the Senate.

Senator Borah has announced that he will speak on disarmament in the discussion of the bill and it may be that he will be joined by Senators King and LaFollette, as in the closing days of the last Congress. Nevertheless, it is anticipated that this debate will merely delay passage of the naval bill for a while and will not affect the naval base item in the long run.

RENOUNCED WAR ORPHAN RETURNS, BEGS KYNE'S AID

For the second time, Marcel Duguys, the sixteen-year-old war orphan and adopted son of Peter B. Kyne, an author, before he was deported at the request of the latter, has arrived in America, a stowaway on the steamer Westwood, which sailed from Leith for Baltimore. While immigration officials are at a loss as to what to do with the lad, Marcel emphatically declared he wanted very much to be adopted again by Mr. and Mrs. Kyne.

Marcel's activities while living in the author's Eastbay home in Berkeley, were too strenuous even for the active Kyne, who finally requested his deportation because he was incorrigible. He ran away a number of times, once bobbing up at Los Angeles, where he was playing a juvenile part in motion pictures and later he showed up at Kyne's Del Mar home penitent and asking forgiveness.

After several more additional like escapades, Marcel was placed in the Oakland Detention Home and later deported. The lad has asked permission to get into telegraphic communiction with his foster parents. The authorities at Baltimore are holding him until word is received from Kyne.

"Jesters" of Fremont High To Give Plays

"The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," a playlet by Anatole France, will be given on May 13 by the "Junior Jesters," the dramatic organization of Fremont high school, and the "Senior Jesters" will essay Israel Zangwill's "Melting Pot" on the same night.

Technical stagecraft is being studied by the young actors, who have purposely chosen two of the most difficult and technical plays available.

The Junior Jesters will include Janet Peacock, Russell Fitzpatrick, Lenore Everett, Orin Shaeffer, Vey Darnell, Audrey Grant, Hortense Holden, Charlotte Hatch, Elvera Futador, Bernice Cummings, Viola Bishop and Evelyn Jensen.

Berkeley Man Not Murdered, Decision

BOSTON, May 11.—Official inquiry into the death of Lieutenant Paton McGilvray, world war hero aviator, formerly of Berkeley, Cal., shows that he committed suicide "under unusual circumstances," police officials declared today.

It was learned that McGilvray had deeded his automobile to a woman in the Back Bay and left a note which read: "Good-bye Bobbie."

Financial difficulties, the outcome of the failure of a business concern here in which he was interested, are believed to have caused the act.

Wife Charges Brutality on Honeymoon

Rose colored love dreams of Mrs. Elinor de Bernardi were shattered when her newly-acquired husband, Clarence B. de Bernardi, son of D. de Bernardi, deceased olive magnate and San Francisco millionaire, knocked her down while on their honeymoon with such force as to make her unconscious for two hours, according to the complaint in a divorce action begun today before Superior Judge J. C. Quinn.

The case was continued until June 14, when what promises to be a lengthy and sensational trial will begin, with a large array of legal talent on both sides.

Mrs. de Bernardi in her complaint also declares that her husband played gayly about San Francisco and Oakland cafes and hotels with other women, that "lingerie parties" played a large part in these excursions and that he lived with another woman for some time in the Rosemont apartments.

In November, 1920, according to the wife, her husband begged forgiveness and she restored him to grace. One month later, however, she alleges he came home in an intoxicated condition and treated her brutally. This was while they were living at 3254 Liberty avenue in Alameda.

The plaintiff asks the custody of 7-year-old Vera and a share of the millionaire's estate.

CHICAGO OWNER TO SLASH RENTS OF HIS TENANTS

CHICAGO, May 11.—Frank J. Petru, self-styled "hard-boiled real estate man," appeared in Judge Baldwin's court today and asked permission to reduce rents, $25 a month to tenants in six apartment houses and three dwellings for which he is official receiver. He also asked permission to give each tenant $266 for necessary repairs.

"It's a crime to take these high rents ($65 to $150 a month) for three and four-room apartments," Petru told the court.

"This is most refreshing," said Judge Baldwin.

California Grays Celebrate Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The California Grays celebrated their thirty-first anniversary by a banquet held last evening at the St. Francis Hotel. Over a hundred members of the organization attended. During the course of the dinner the Grays were entertained by the Californian's Trio, Howard L. Milholland, Miss Agnes Pape and Harry Marquard's Imperial Marquard Review. The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, State, City and various civic organizations were represented: Major General Muir, U. S. A., by Major Ord; Rear Admiral A. S. Halstead, U. S. N., by Commander Wallace Bertholt; Brigadier General R. H. Pendleton, U. S. M. C., by Major S. D. Pratt; the State by Hon. J. H. McCallum; the City by Supervisor Ralph McLaren and T. H. Benedict, secretary to Mayor Rolph; the American Legion by State Adjutant Fred E. Bebergall, and the Scots by Waldo F. Postel.

Rev. Walter G. Sherman was the principal speaker of the evening, taking as his subject "One Hundred and One Per Cent Americanism." Captain Cyrus F. Voorhies, commanding officer of the Grays, acted as toastmaster.

Woman Has Bankbook —Case Postponed

Discovery that Silvo Wujnovich of San Francisco, who was arrested recently in Berkeley on a charge of insanity after he had taken possession of a room at a hotel that was occupied by another person, has to his credit more than $5000 in a bank in San Francisco, caused postponement of his hearing today before Judge E. C. Robinson.

It was brought to the attention of the authorities that Wujnovich's bank book is now in the hands of a woman acquaintance in San Francisco. Judge Robinson ordered that the case be postponed until the woman who is alleged to have the bank book is brought before the court in order that the man's financial status may be determined.

HOUSING SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The present housing shortage will not be overcome for at least thirteen years, Thomas Kimball of Omaha declared before the convention of the American Institute of Architects here today.

AMENDED LEASE TO GIVE OAKLAND MORE LAND, PLAN

Soderberg Proposes Filling in of Large Track Held By Ferry Company.

A plan to amend the lease to the Six-Minute Ferry Company, so that the city of Oakland may gain a new seven-acre tract of waterfront land was prepared for the city council today by Commissioner Soderberg, but as the council had no quorum the matter was deferred.

The Six Minute Ferry Company has leased the end of the sub-surface land north of Oakland mole, which must be filled in. In order to approach this "platform" of filled land, the company engaged to build a trestle runway, 1000 feet in length, running from the end of the Albers property to the ferry slip and waiting room. A plan of the Six Minute Ferry Company lease resembles a key, with the stem running along the northward side of the present Oakland mole.

PLANS TO FILL IN

Soderberg plans to fill in all the land from the Albers tract to the Six Minute Ferry platform, making a waterfront oblong in shape, with a straight edge from the Six Minute slip to the Albers waterfront.

The oblong would be 1000 feet long and about 250 feet wide. The inside would be used for the runway of the ferry company, while the outer edge could be used for docks and wharves by the city.

Instead of compelling the Six Minute company to build its $25,000 wooden trestle on piling, the plan would have the company invest the same money in bulkhead piles, behind which the whole tract could be filled. The Six Minute company would thus get its runway on the inside, as at present, but the runway would be on solid ground. The outer lands to the north would be available for anything.

FORM SOLID FILL.

"We believe that a line of bulkhead piles, ten feet apart and helped by brace piles, would form a barrier behind which our dredger could make a solid fill," says Soderberg. "The piling could be strengthened by a rock fill, which would resist the pressure from inside. The entire tract could thus be built and give the city a splendid tract of land."

Negotiations are under way by Soderberg with the ferry company to secure its co-operation.

Soderberg, who constantly accused Mayor Davie of "giving away the waterfront," says his only doubt of the project is that he will have to leave it to the future administration of "Davie and his friends."

George D. Gray To Be Buried Tomorrow

Funeral services for George D. Gray will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from the Piedmont Interdenominational church. Interment will be private. Gray who died early Tuesday morning was stricken with hemorrage of the brain while returning from San Francisco Monday evening.

Prentiss Gray, the only son, arrived with his wife from New York at noon yesterday to learn of his father's death. Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter and Mrs. Frederick Potter, two daughters, survive.

A pioneer resident of the bay cities Gray was a member of the firm of Gray & Holt, San Francisco.

Last of Alvarado Bank Robbers Landed in Jail

Bringing with them the last of the Alvarado bank robbers, Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares and Jack Collier arrived today with "Little Goog" Rossi alias William Alberton, charged with shooting August May, and Thomas (Lefty) Foley, who was with Rossi at the time.

Both Alberton or Rossi and Foley have served three terms in penitentiaries. They will be brought to trial at once, according to District Attorney Ezra Decoto.

"Five members of the 'Thirty Strong' gang are now in the penitentiary and we will soon send Alberton and Foley there," Decoto declared.

The two Alameda county deputies were delayed in St. Paul because the Governor of Minnesota did not arrive to sign the requisition papers for "Lefty" Foley. Alberton was taken from the jail at Sioux City, where he was charged with grand larceny.

The Alameda county grand jury has indicted both men as the Alvarado bank robbers following the positive identification of their pictures by the victims.

Proof of Driving While Drunk Lacking

Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning dismissed the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated against Alfred Cornell, after three officers had testified that when he was brought to the city prison they could not say that he was intoxicated.

Monday night Officer W. A. Weeks at Forty-sixth avenue and East Fourteenth street tried to stop Cornell because he was driving without lights. Cornell refused to halt and Weeks fired four shots in the air. He stopped a passing machine and captured Cornell at Twenty-fourth avenue. He claimed that Cornell staggered when he left the machine, but did not smell any liquor on his breath.

INTIMIDATION CHARGE MADE IN MURDER TRIAL

Charging that Henry Brown, whom he terms the "general utility witness" for the district attorney, tried to intimidate Mrs. Mary Foster into testifying against her husband, Robert Foster, in the murder trial, Attorney Henry Skinner drew forth her testimony to this effect in the trial now going on before Superior Judge L. S. Church today. Foster is charged with murdering John Hill December 17, 1920.

Mrs. Foster testified that Brown approached her and said:

"You better testify against Foster. If you don't everybody will be against you. If they hang him you can come and live with me."

Mrs. Foster says that she scorned Brown's proposals.

TRADE BOOSTERS OFF FOR TOUR OF INNER EASTBAY

Headed by the trade extension committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, a delegation of approximately 500 Oakland business men left on a special train at 7:30 o'clock this morning from First and Broadway on their "friendship tour" through adjacent counties.

Ralph Seely is the major of the friendship expedition and under his command are a captain and four lieutenants for each car of the special train. Although the party was declared to be strictly stag, more than a score of pretty girls from the various theaters accompanied the train dressed as Quakeresses to advertise the beauty of the Oakland girls.

Five thousand toy balloons were loaded on the train as it left the station to be set loose along the route and in the different towns where stops and parades will be made. At each stop, the entire five hundred business men, with the delegation from Pleasanton, detrained and paraded under the direction of Commander Seely.

The itinerary of the trip is as follows:

Leave Oakland (First and Broadway) 7:45 a. m.
Arrive Pleasanton 8:50 a. m.
Leave Pleasanton 9:20 a. m.
Arrive Livermore 9:30 a. m.

"BOOSTERS" GET FLOWERS.

PLEASANTON, May 11.—The special train carrying the 500 Oakland trade boosters arrived in Pleasanton today on schedule time. The party paraded up the main street, headed by the R. O. T. C. band. They were greeted by Crawford Letham, president of the Chamber of Commerce; J. R. Silver, banker, and Jerome Arendt, hay and grain grower. Each "booster" was presented with flowers by the school children, who were marshaled into line by Professor Beacock, principal of the school.

PARADE IN LIVERMORE.

LIVERMORE, May 11.—Supervisor D. J. Murphy was the principal speaker when the Chamber of Commerce boosters visited Livermore this morning. He was followed by County Assessor Harrison I. Clay and District Attorney Ezra Decoto. Both the grammar school and the high school were dismissed while the boosters were present. During the program the town flag was officially raised, while the school bands played the "Star-Spangled Banner." This was followed by a parade participated in by the boosters, citizens and school children. The children were led by their principals, E. J. Cuthbertson of the grammar school and Herbert E. Lee of the high school. Many of the high school pupils were given permission to join the boosters on their trip as far as Tracy.

The "boosters" were met by the following committee of business men: William Reese, M. J. Callaghan, Chester Beck, Dan Murphy and George Crane. The visitors detrained and paraded the streets of the city headed by the R. O. T. C. band in automobiles. The train left shortly after.

WELCOMED AT TRACY.

TRACY, May 11—Greeted as they pulled into the station here by Mayor N. S. Dwelly and Secretary L. L. Wilson, passengers on the Oakland Chamber of Commerce booster trip were afforded a royal welcome here today. Mayor Dwelly and Secretary Wilson welcomed the visitors in behalf of the Tracy Chamber of Commerce. After being paraded through the streets, the men from the bay region were taken to the Masonic temple where luncheon was served.

Addresses Announced For Rotary Luncheon

Team Work of Farmer And Businessman, Plan

Oakland will have a leading part in the state-wide convention in Sacramento on May 21, when farmers and city-folk will meet to outline a program of mutual co-operation. The conference, which will attract leading business men and agriculturists from all sections of California, coming as it does at a time when issues between urban and agricultural districts have been emphasized by legislative rebate, and when a number of new state policies in farm education and farm department are to be inaugurated, is held to offer unusual opportunities toward constructive results.

OAKLAND TO SEND FIFTY.

It is the intention of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, following a meeting last night, to send not less than fifty leading business and professional men and manufacturers to the conference, which is to be held under the auspices of the federated California Development Board and California industries association.

"Of all the large cities in California," President J. H. King of the Chamber of Commerce said today, "Oakland is peculiarly situated with respect to the country. We have always been close, warm friends, in business and other ways. Therefore it is Oakland's bounden duty at this time to be strongly represented at the Sacramento conference."

The directors authorized King to select the delegates and a canvass of bankers, merchants, lawyers, doctors and other leaders in civic life is being made.

PROGRAM SOUGHT.

The Sacramento conference is intended to knit the cities and the country districts closer together and to lay down a program of mutual co-operation. Frederick J. Koster of San Francisco will be chairman of the day. Among the speakers will be King, on industrials; William J. Dutton, president of the California development board; J. H. McDonough, president of the California Industries association; C. K. McIntosh, Bank of California, San Francisco; G. J. Brady, Sacramento; A. S. Dudley, Roscoe D. Wyatt and H. E. Patterson, respectively managers of the Sacramento, San Jose and Fresno Chambers of Commerce, A. G. Arnoll, industrial commissioner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; C. A. Day, industrial commissioner of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, H. H. Sloans, manager of the California Industries association, R. R. Hale, San Francisco, and W. D'Engilhart, Willows.

BANQUET ENDS CONFERENCE.

The conference will conclude with a banquet in the evening, at which Governor Stephens and Captain T. T. C. Gregory, "the man who pushed Bela Kun off the throne," will be the speakers.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their meeting, also approved of a referendum of the United States Chamber of Commerce proposing reforms in the federal civil service system.

WOMAN, 89, AND SON, 62, LOST IN DESERT STORM

LANDER, Wyo., May 11.—Mrs. Rebecca E. Dowell, 89, and her son, Philip Lafler, 62, are in a critical condition today as the result of four days and four nights exposure in an isolated camp at Pickett's Lake, in the Red desert of central Wyoming, where they and three others were compelled to take refuge after becoming lost in a blizzard.

Other members of the party were Dr. C. T. Jones, superintendent of the state school for defectives, a violent lunatic and the latter's attendant.

Fire Fighters Save Grain At Brentwood

BRENTWOOD, May 11. — For more than an hour Wednesday afternoon over 100 men battled to extinguish a grain fire on the Balfour, Guthrie & Co. property three miles west of town. Between fifteen and Twenty auto loads of volunteer fire fighters were rushed to the scene and before the flames were finally brought under control about 30 acres of grain were destroyed. The chemical engine, under direction of Fire Chief Homer Douglas, played a prominent part in extinguishing the fire, which was fanned by a stiff north wind. The cause of the fire is attributed to squirrel eradication by the use of bi-sulphide and the loss entailed will approximate in the neighborhood of $500 or $600.

PASTOR DECLARES PRIME MINISTER, CLARK, WANTING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 11 — Three great political leaders—David Lloyd George, British prime minister; James A. Garfield, late President of the United States, and Champ Clark, late speaker of the House of Representatives—were weighed in the balances of their church at the annual congress of the Disciples of Christ here today, and two of them were found wanting, by Professor Frederick D. Kershner of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, in his address on "The Contribution of the Disciples of Christ to Christianity." Both Premier Lloyd George of England and former Speaker Champ Clark, Professor Kershner declared, "fell short of that full content of Christian idealism."

Tracy Crops Saved By Cool Weather

TRACY, May 11.—Cool days and nights have given grain a new lease on life, announce local farmers, who a week ago feared their crops would not be worth cutting. Grain is reported heading out now, which recently seemed to have stopped growing. However, on unirrigated farms the grain crop will be extremely small this year all over the West Side.

Palo Alto Slayer Is Charged With Murder

SAN JOSE, May 11.—Sheriff Geo. W. Lyle this morning swore to formal charges of murder against Nicholas Jaramoas, ranch hand, residing near Palo Alto, who early yesterday morning killed Steven Vuyacich, an employee on the stock farm at Stanford university, following a meeting with Mrs. Vuyacich, which was interrupted by the husband's discovery of the affair.

Incidentally the sheriff was continuing to probe the full extent of knowledge of Mrs. Vuyacich relative to the slaying. The woman still was clinging to her story of murder and burglary carried out at the Vuyacich home by three masked men.

The woman, 26 years of age, was not yet informed that her lover had confessed late yesterday afternoon to the slaying, and the interrupted love affair. Her obstinacy puzzled the officers, but Sheriff Lyle was planning this morning to inform her of Jaramoas' confession.

Jaramoas broke down completely after nearly eight hours of the most careful examination and cross-examination by Sheriff Lyle. He declared that Mrs. Vuyacich opened the door of her home to him after her husband had retired for the night. It was two hours later when the husband awakened and discovered his wife with Jaramoas.

The fatal battle followed in the yard of the Vuyacich home, Jaramoas stabbing his lover's husband fifteen times, slashing his throat from ear to ear and gouging out the man's eyes. He used a large pocket knife which he carried.

It was following this, he stated, that he and Mrs. Vuyacich framed the story of the burglary and slaying by the three masked men.

Fireworks to Open Church Festival at San Leandro

SAN LEANDRO, May 11. — A spectacular display of fireworks will open the forty-first annual Holy Ghost celebration of the Catholic church here this coming Saturday evening, according to an announcement by the directors today. The celebration will be continued Sunday and Monday, ending with a dance at the festival grounds on the corner of Alvarado and Antonio streets that afternoon.

The directors in charge of the Pentacostal celebration this year are J. L. Rosa, M. Agrella, A. S. Phillips, A. P. Roke and J. A. Silva.

Following the fireworks display on Saturday evening there will be a concert and dance. The Sunday celebration will open with a parade from the festival grounds to St. Leander's church, in which the crown will be carried. The blessing of the crown, followed by the services of the high mass will take place at the church.

Miss Mamie Costa has been chosen as the queen of this year's celebration. She will carry the crown Sunday and preside over the other events during the three days. She will be attended by the following maids: Lucy Phillips, Angelina Fields, Ellen Lawrence and Elizabeth Silva.

Sunday afternoon there will be a huge barbecue, at which seven beeves will be served, a band concert and dancing, together with an auction of various items for the benefit of the Catholic organization. The program will close at 6 o'clock.

The final feature of the celebration will be the afternoon dance Monday.

Woman's Suit For $50,000 On Trial

The trial of the $50,000 love balm suit of Rita Wilson against Antone G. Goulardt, wealthy Pleasanton rancher, began before Superior Judge T. W. Harris this afternoon. The situation involves a tangled skein in which each accuses the other of having married while already wed to a perfectly legal spouse.

The marriage took place December 27, last. Within two weeks Goulardt sued for annulment on the ground that Mrs. Goulardt was married to Charles F. Wilson at the time. Mrs. Goulardt replied with a suit of her own, declaring the rich land owner had enticed her into matrimony under the false pretense that he was unmarried, when in reality his marital alliance with Edna Goulardt had not been legally dissolved. He secured an interlocutory decree from the latter May 20, 1920, but remarried before the required year's delay had passed.

Judge J. S. Koford granted Mrs. Goulardt an annulment of the marriage. In the meantime she had sworn to a warrant charging Goulardt with bigamy, but the warrant never was served. The annulment was granted only two weeks ago.

BELFAST, May 11.—The inhabitants of Rathmore, County Kerry, passed a night of terror. A liquor establishment and a grocery store being wrecked and looted and a newly built creamery and co-operative stores burned by unknown persons. All the machinery and stocks of butter and provisions were destroyed to the accompaniment of bursts of rifle fire.

Robbery Case Is In Hands of Jury

The case of Samuel S. Mitteiman, charged with robbery in having held up John C. Rohan, wealthy coal dealer, and taken $3000 in money and jewelry from him at the door of his garage at a late hour at night, went to the jury today.

Mrs. Rohan was instrumental in capturing Mitteiman, recognizing him on the street some time after the robbery. She had seen him and another man under an electric light as she returned from a neighbor's, where she had gone to telephone to the police.

GARAGE ROBBED

The rear door of the garage owned by C. M. Kennedy, 603 Fifteenth street, was forced early this morning by burglars, who took $18 from the cash register in the front office.

Knights of Pythias To Convene Monday

SANTA ROSA, May 11 —Brigadier General H. F. Ames of the grand encampment of the Knights of Pythias, and members of his staff, have arrived here from Los Angeles to get ready for the Grand Lodge and encampment of the order, which convenes in this city next Monday. The Grand Lodge of Rathbon Sisters will also be held here. The sessions will last five days and 1000 delegates from all over California will be present.

Dr. F. H. Gates of Oroville is the grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and will preside over the sessions. Monday night the official reception will be tendered the delegates by the city of Santa Rosa. Twenty-two years ago the Grand Lodge met in Santa Rosa.

Oklahoma Judge Near Death; Women Held

TULSA, Okla., May 11.—Judge John Devereaux, prominent Tulsa lawyer and at one time a justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court Commission, lies at the point of death in his rooms at the Gotham apartments, suffering from a mysterious wound in the head, and also, according to his physician, apparently under the influence of a powerful drug.

Two women, one of whom says she is a trained nurse, and the other her sister, are being held. A third person whose name is withheld, is reported under surveillance.

1500 VETERANS STOCKTON G. A. R. FORM IN PARADE

Schools of Tracy, Manteca Are Closed in Honor Of Occasion.

STOCKTON, May 11.—All the city schools closed today to permit the pupils to witness the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, which took place this morning. Tracy and Manteca schools were closed for the same purpose, a fleet of autos bringing the school children here. Many country schools also suspended operations for the day. The weather being delightful the line of march was thronged by thousands of cheering spectators. Over 1500 veterans were in line, marching bravely to the strains of martial music. Some, unable to march, were in automobiles.

Formal opening of the fifty-fourth encampment, which includes California and Nevada, took place yesterday afternoon in a local theater with Department Commander G. M. Burlingame of Pasadena presiding.

The session was given over to appointment of committees, after which a memorial service was held in respect to the late George D. Kellogg, department commander. A resolution, extending to President Harding congratulations for having been the first President of the United States to name Memorial day as a national holiday, proposed by Judge N. P. Chipman, was unanimously adopted.

Riverside and Fresno are the only cities making a bid for the 1922 encampment, delegates from the former city having started in an active campaign and the extreme southern city is said to have the advantage in the running.

The post of department commander is sought by W. H. Noll of Los Angeles and Ny Garrett of Kingsburg.

At a reception tendered by the people of Stockton to the delegates at the Auditorium, Governor William D. Stephens of California was the principal speaker.

This afternoon flags were presented to the high school. At 1.15 Camp Fire Girls presented folk dances on the high school campus. This was followed by a May fete in which 800 school children participated. Miss Virginia Thompson was queen of the fete. Twelve Maypoles with 240 dancers featured the program.

SING NATIONAL ANTHEM

Repeating the pledge to the flag and the singing of one stanza of the national anthem were other features of the program, under the direction of Miss Emily Dodge.

CONFERENCE OF EDUCATORS AT SAN JOSE OPENS

Preparation of Normal School Courses One of Vital Questions.

SAN JOSE, May 11.—Members of the California State Board of Education arrived in this city today to open a three days' conference with the heads of the various Normal schools of the state. Many problems and questions of vital interest to the schools are scheduled for discussion.

One of the principal matters before the educators will be the preparation of courses of study to be given in Normal schools under the new ruling which gives to these schools a collegiate standing. These new programs call for a three-year course for junior high school teachers and a four-year course for advanced teachers in professional in general teaching and in instruction for teachers of technical subjects such as manual training, music, drawing and home economics.

Among the Normal school heads at the Hotel Vendome today were Frederick Burk of San Francisco, C. L. McLane of Fresno, E. L. Hardy of San Diego, N. B. Mathe of Arcata, C. M. Osenbaugh of Chico, C. L. Phelps of Santa Barbara and W. W. Kemp of this city.

Besides members of the state education board were a number of state educational commissioners.

ALTERNATIVE IS DECLARED MENACE TO COUNTY UNITY

Weaknesses of Proposition Are Discussed Before Elmhurst Club.

It is not the question as to how much the lack of alternative submission may endanger any consolidation charter submitted by the Board of Freeholders that most concerns, but the alarming certainty that Alameda county under the alternative will be split into at least three units, irreparably separate, where it now stands a co-operating and unified metropolitan area, members of the Elmhurst Community Club were told last night.

The speaker, Fredrick Faulkner of The TRIBUNE, who talked in the negative on what was called a debate on the alternative but, in reality, was merely an enlightening discussion of probabilities, counseled that the club members should give the problem their deliberate and careful attention, declaring that should the Freeholders present a charter which appeared worthy, the citizens of the city and county were under most serious obligation to regard it favorably.

Faulkner emphasized that he and most of the opponents of the alternative had no quarrel with consolidation that would consolidate, but that his and their votes were raised against "any plot of county division."

TAX RATE PROBLEM.

Faulkner attacked the idea that a comparison of tax rates in cities where consolidation exists, including San Francisco, with the present Oakland tax rate, would throw any really favorable light on the consolidation project because, as he pointed out, such comparison was really no comparison, failing to be a measure of the tax burden at all.

He pointed out San Francisco's heavy appropriations for budget expenses as compared with those of Oakland, in refutation of the commonly expressed idea that San Francisco actually labors under a lighter tax burden than Oakland.

Faulkner drew a picture of the Eastbay region as the natural port and outlet of a great hinterland that extended even to Nevada and Colorado and predicted for it a destiny which he declared was matched only by the seeming destiny of New Orleans.

"This," he declared, "is not a district to fall meat to those who plot disruption."

SAN FRANCISCO EXAMPLE.

The speaker pointed again to the San Francisco example when in forming a unit city and county the San Mateo area was dropped.

"San Francisco has gone through three expensive campaigns to re-include that territory which she so mistakenly cast off and must still go through others, not knowing whether she ever can undo the harm she has done," he said, "and that is the very thing that you are asked to do here in Alameda county today."

Faulkner again emphasized the moral certainty that the city of Alameda and Berkeley will not approve general consolidation, and assailed Berkeley's desired separate city and county in the event of secession from the county by Oakland.

C. M. Chapman, an Oakland newspaper man, who spoke in the affirmative, admitted the probability of county division and said the San Francisco-San Mateo example was an object lesson in the ill effects of county division.

He confined his talk chiefly to general exposition of the advantages of consolidation after which he argued that to omit the alternative would be to submit to minority rule which, he said, would result in defeat of the whole consolidation proposition.

G.A.R. Reunion Has Youngest Veteran

STOCKTON, May 11.—Captain Eugene Merrick, drummer in the Los Angeles fife and drum corps, which is enlivening the city this week during the G. A. R. convention, is the youngest Grand Army veteran now living, according to his claims. He was born in 1854 and enlisted in 1866, when 11 years of age. He joined the 147th Illinois infantry and was assigned to Company C. His first three months of service were as a soldier in the ranks. Then he became a drummer. He marched with the regiment as part of General Steadman's army of the Cumberland, from Chattanooga to Savannah. When the Spanish-American war broke out he received his commission in the Illinois regiment and saw service in Cuba.

PEACE NOW LOOMS AT CITY HALL

Was Also Victory for Mayor

MAYOR JOHN L. DAVIE, who is as happy as any of the successful candidates at the results of yesterday's election. The mayor campaigned for Colbourn and Carter and was a leading factor in determining the result.

Mayor Glad, Says Right Men Have Been Chosen

Mayor Davie's comment today on the election was:

"I am highly delighted at the results of yesterday's election which I know must cause a feeling of satisfaction to every person in our city.

"The splendid loyalty and support shown Colbourn and Carter prove conclusively that the people of Oakland want a constructive, non-political and business-like administration of their municipal affairs. The results of the election show that our people intend to control the affairs of the city through officials of their own selection.

"For four years I have been handicapped in the city council by the majority Commissioners. This last contest forced them into the open and showed the people whose orders they have been under during that time.

"The election of Colbourn and Carter is an assurance that Oakland will take her place as a leader among the industrial and commercial cities of the Pacific Coast, and that the new industries coming to our city will find officials who are ready to encourage and assist them in every possible way.

"I sincerely appreciate the confidence which the people of Oakland show in Colbourn and Carter by the sweeping majority which they gave them in yesterday's election.

Tribune Story Depicts Early Mission History

Much interest has been aroused by the announcement that The Oakland TRIBUNE will shortly begin publication of "The Bride of Mission San Jose."

One of the most famous of all the old California missions has long waited for its story to be told, says Charles Howard Shinn. Its ruins lie at the base of Mission Peak, in Alameda county, hardly four miles from Niles and Centerville, but far above them.

Don J. J. Vallejo was the first "administrator" and built the first flour mill at the mouth of Niles canyon. His daughter, Guadalupe, wrote some articles about mission times, which the Century Magazine published, and the late General John Bidwell of Chico wrote about it. Almost every visitor to California "before the Gringoes came" went to Mission San Jose.

This mission, founded in 1797, bore the title of "La Mission del Glorioso imo Patriarca Senor San Jose (St. Joseph).

Trowbridge Hall, in his "California Trails," published by MacMillan last year, says:

"At the time of its foundation San Jose was the nearest mission to the Russian settlements and furnished them with many of their needed supplies. In order to feed them, as well as their own hungry hordes, great fields of wheat had to be cultivated, the mission Indians cutting the ripened grain with sickles and carrying it on their backs to the threshing corral, where the horses trampled it out and the wind winnowed it. . . . The mission records are responsible for the statement that here at San Jose 120 bushels of wheat were scattered on unplowed ground and simply scratched in, yielding a harvest of 7000 bushels of grain."

Long years ago there was a boy in this beautiful Santa Clara valley, who grew up within sight of the old mission, went to the Irvington school, rode over the hills, knew the Beards, Elsworths, Horners and other American pioneers, and is now the Rev. John Augustine Cull of Oakland. He it is whose historical novel, "The Bride of Mission San Jose," is attracting such widespread attention from readers and reviewers everywhere. There is history here, as well as romance.

CHARMING HEROINE.

The period is between 1842 and 1846. Among the characters are: Colonel Mendoza, his daughter, Carmelita, Captain Morando, Padre Osuna, and many others whom the reader may more or less identify with real people. His heroine is a very charming creation. Mrs. Atherton has never described a fairer maiden of the old, old times, but Ina Coolbrith came near it. Mendoza is worth knowing. The uprisings of the Indian chiefs, Yoscolo and Stanislaus; the raid on the Indian maidens, in which 200 of them were carried from the mission; the race of the fleets, all make a fascinating narrative.

"The Bride of Mission San Jose" will be published exclusively in the San Francisco bay territory by The Oakland Sunday TRIBUNE.

PATHFINDER DANCE.

The Pathfinder club will hold a meeting at Moose hall, Twelfth and Clay streets, tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock. Dancing for members and their friends will feature the program. Music will be furnished by the club's new orchestra.

offices for the welfare of the whole city."

Just how decided Mayor Davie's victory was is evidenced by the returns from those sections where Anderson and Hempstead were expected to win large majorities. Colburn carried half of the West Oakland precincts and Carter two more than half. Of the 39 precincts in North Oakland Hempstead carried five and Anderson three. East Oakland went overwhelmingly for Colburn and Carter, Hempstead capturing but three and Anderson two of the precincts.

Hempstead carried his own precinct five to one and in this precinct Anderson also got a large majority. In Anderson's precinct in North Oakland both Anderson and Hempstead were defeated.

There never has been an election in which more precinct workers figured. Detectives guarded the count in West Oakland and volunteer watchers were posted by both sides at every precinct. Megaphone men, men and women with cards and arguments, collected as near the polls as the law would permit, and the telephones were kept busy from morning until closing time asking the voters to get out and cast their ballots. One plan used was for automobiles to follow electric trains returning from the mole while men with megaphones reminded the commuters of their duty at the polls.

3 POLICE WOMEN PLAN OPPOSED

A proposed ordinance to create the positions of three police women is without the endorsement of the Merchants' Exchange today following a vote at the meeting of the exchange last night. The organization opposed the measure on the ground that the ordinance as now drawn up limits the scope of the women's employment to that of inspectors.

Plans of the Save and Surface campaign committee were set forth in a talk by O. S. Orrick.

The boosting of Oakland-made cigars was reported on by a special committee. In this connection it was stated that if all the cigars smoked in Oakland were manufactured here, it would be necessary to employ 2000 men in the cigar factories. A pledge was made by those present to assist local cigar manufacturers in every possible way.

House committee, William Dalley; education, E. A. Young; license and taxation, Walter Hesse; membership committee, Lee Bertillion; convention committee, Louis Aber; city planning committee, Fred E. Reed; builders and contractors, Maury Diggs; public welfare, Irving Kahn; legislation, J. C. Downey; bakers and confectioners, Otto Egenberger; finance committee, A. Schleuter; grocers and provision dealers, Harry Spaan; auto trades, Walter Hesse; publicity, H. G. Williams; manufacturers, J. Traverse; public entertainment, H. G. Williams; harbor development, H. C. Capwell; public health and safety, Harry Anderson; transportation and traffic, Geo. E. Sheldon; new industries, F. W. Woodward.

Boulevard Players At Plymouth Center

Four one-act plays are to be presented at Plymouth Center, Piedmont and Yosemite avenues, Friday evening by the Boulevard Players, an organization formed and directed by Wilbur S. Tupper for the purpose of presenting plays of the better sort.

One of the four plays to be given Friday night is a satire, "Mr. Fraser's Friend," written by Tupper. The cast for this skit will be: Merlyn Morse, Joseph F. Haas, Charles MacAllister, Ralph Anderson, Richard Nething, Grace McNutt. The cast differs with each production.

John Kendrick Bangs' farce, "The Real Thing," will be presented by Walter Thompson, Robert Trumblye, Lenora Everett, Marcia Fohner, Dorothea Orr, Beth Smithson and Agnes Trumbley.

"The Queen of Hearts," a court masque in three tableaux by Edward Browne, will be offered by Enid Remick, Merlyn Morse, Marjorie McNutt, Janet Peacock, Beth Smithson.

"The Prince of Court Painters," a romantic play by Constance Mackay, dealing with the life of Romney, the painter, will be enacted by three players, Richard Nething, May Nething and Betty Barnes.

CITY HALL MEN SEE VACANCIES AFTER JULY 1

Speculation As To Who Will Succeed Colbourn On Civil Service Board.

With the smoke of the long political battle cleared away, the City Hall today started back toward normal except for the appointive public officials of the "old regime" who admit that their stay at the hall will be limited to July 1, when the new administration goes into office.

There are only two expressions voiced in the whole building today, from roof to cellar. They are:

1—I told you so.

2—Who would have thought it.

Officials of the "old regime," including Building Inspector Joseph Lloyd, City Attorney Hagan and Chief of Police Fenton Thompson, took philosophic stands. Says Lloyd: "Everybody knows where I stood from first to last. I was for Morse and for Hempstead and Anderson. There was no behind-the-scenes stuff and I'm willing to stand for the fortunes of war."

Although there has been no announcement about the successors to the various offices, the present officials at the City Hall have expressed thorough understanding as to whether they will stay or not. Many officials say they will be on the job after July 1. Others admit they will not be there.

The one big question today at the City Hall concerns who will take Frank Colbourn's place as secretary of the Civil Service Board. There has been no intimation about the future holder of this hard and technical job, though it is considered the biggest position of the kind at the disposal of the city. It pays $325 a month and gives sway over the whole list of civil service employees. It is admitted that the person who gets the job must be a trained and competent man, but the man has not been announced publicly.

The "lineup" in the Council will be almost unanimous after July 1. It is admitted, for Mayor Davie, Commissioner Baccus and candidates-elect Colbourn and Carter have worked together throughout the campaign, giving a solid majority of four Council votes to the Mayor. Commissioner Edwards, the sole remaining factor of the "old regime," said today that he desires peace and harmony.

Tenth Bishop N. Y. Diocese Consecreted

NEW YORK May 11.—Rev. Dr. William T. Manning was consecrated tenth bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine today.

One of the largest gatherings of clergy in the history of the Protestant Episcopal church in America formed a pageant of rich color. Garbed in the rich vestments of their high rank more than 450 churchmen, including 336 bishops, marched with slow and solemn step into the great house of worship.

JURY FREE SHOW DRAWS MANY TO PALACE OF ARTS

Reversion of Public's Taste Claimed As Result of Uncensored Exhibit.

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS.

The Third Jury Free Exhibition of the work of California artists at the Palace of Fine Arts was opened yesterday at the "private view" that precedes all exhibitions of San Francisco Art Association. And for some reason not wholly clear, the exposition won a far larger audience than usually greets a "regular" show. Perhaps it was because more people were personally interested, since everybody who wields a brush—and possesses the nerve—could exhibit.

There is something commendatorily democratic about a jury free show, particularly when there is so much talk about cliques shutting out deserving work. And for the progress of art, as in every other human activity, a democratic spirit must prevail. And for that reason the system has had the support of many earnest lovers of art.

But, Never Again, having noted the effect upon the uninitiated of the yesterday's uncensured show!

Canvases that revealed not even a rudimentary esthetic feeling—not to speak of their utter absence of technical facility—received the most attention. It was a tragedy to witness this perversion of public taste through a medium whose object is to improve it.

To be sure there are a number of fine and, indeed, some noteworthy things in the show—notably the work of the young son of John Galen Howard of U. C., and Robert Boardman Howard, now a student in Paris. His "Rotters" is an evidence of originality and marks him a coming man. And there are those stunning things by Birger Sandzen, luscious in color and monumental in their treatment of hill and valley. And of course, Joseph Raphael lifts up the show. Besides these outstanding things are a dozen or more pictures that will be discussed in the Sunday review of art that space today forbides.

The Most Economical Way of Washing

Today to the average American housewife who employs a laundress the cost of each washday is about $3.30, an investigator learned recently after extended inquiries.

He found the usual wage of a laundress to be $2.25 a day; two meals, 70 cents; carfare, 12 cents; and water, soap and fuel (gas, electricity or coal), 25 cents.

In some cities the average was higher; in some less. And in most cities this figure did not include the ironing.

The average cost of family bundles sent to the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities for Family Laundry Service varies from $1.25 to $1.75. Of course, a few are more; many are less.

If you place no value whatsoever on your own time, the cost to you of the Family Laundry Service of the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities is but a few cents more than what it would cost you to wash at home.

In detail: A route representative calls for your family bundle. The laundries wash everything—fine garments and heavy household goods, each according to its class; wash them in pure soft water and suds of fine, flaked soap.

The laundries iron the flat pieces, like bed linen, tablecloths and napkins. Most of the underwear the laundries dry so fluffily that it requires no ironing. Things such as skirts, children's clothes and other garments that need it, the laundries starch and return ready for you to iron.

The laundries do all the heavy work, leaving to you only a small part of the lighter. And the cost is LESS than washday in your own home.

Telephone any one of the modern laundries of the East Bay Cities and a route representative will call for your family bundle.

The ball club that Gavvy Cactus Cravath, manager of the Salt Lake Bees, showed the fans at Recreation park in the opening game of the series with the Seals looked like the skeleton of the great club that Ernie Johnson had to represent the Utah city last season. The Seals had no trouble at all in walking off with an 8 to 1 victory. They bumped the shoots of Elmer Reiger for thirteen hits, of which seven were doubles, one a triple and two went for the circuit, making ten extra-base hits for a total of twenty-five bases.

The Seals just about ran themselves tired and it took a lot of razzing by the fans to move Manager Cravath to take Reiger from the mound in the third inning after the damage had been done. Cactus proved that even the fellows just coming out of the majors, where they are supposed to have the most up-to-date system in yanking pitchers, will let a pitcher stay out and take more punishment than he should. No pitcher has been pounded at Recreation Park as much this season as Reiger was in those two and a fraction innings. Maybe had Reiger been able to pitch better ball, the Salt Lake club on the whole would have looked better than it did. The old fight of the Ernie Johnson aggregation is missing and so are those long wallops with the war club. Johnny Couch has the reputation of having the "Indian sign" on the Bees, but even so, they didn't look any too well.

The Salt Lake owners have wires out now for help. Help is not easy to get these days, even by Cravath, who just came out of the majors and who should get help if any manager in the minors can. Brown, the new third sacker secured from the Cubs hasn't delivered as expected, and it was said that if a new infielder is secured, he will be the man to go on the bench, and not Barry, the St. Mary's youngster, who is now covering the short patch for the Bees. Brown may be a better hitter, but he is erratic in the field, while Barry is very steady for a youngster.

A double by Brown, Byler's out and Caveney's boot on Barry's grounder in the seventh inning robbed Johnny Couch of credit for a shutout win. Six scattered hits of which Brown's was the only extra base wallop, was the best the Bees could get off Couch. He was pitching as strong at the close as he did at the start.

Maury Schick's single started the Seals on their way in the first inning, for he scored on Caveney's double, and Sam Agnew made it three runs for the Seals by hitting one into the left field bleachers. Maury Schick hit a homer into the bleachers in center-field in the second. It took a double by Agnew, a triple by Fitzgerald on which he collected $50, and another double by Joe Kelly to convince that Reiger didn't belong in the box. Hollie Thurston then took the hill and he was nicked for a double by Walsh right off the reel and the Seals had seven runs piled up. After that Thurston pitched real ball, and a couple of hits and a sacrifice fly scored the only run off him in the fifth.

Bert Ellison was given credit for three doubles, but failure of Paul Strand and Joe Wilhoit to guage the wind at Recreation park helped him get two of them. One was a short pop which fell out of Strand's reach back of second, while Wilhoit got his hand within touching distance of one ball but not enough to get a tight hold on it. The ball was close to the bleacher fence.

There isn't a chance in a hundred of Maury Schick ever being benched by Charley Graham as long as he can hit the apple as he has in the last couple of weeks. His homer and single yesterday were both powerful smashes. Someone of the outfielders will have to warm the bench as soon as O'Connell gets back into the game, and it looks like Joe Kelly will be the man. Even Schick's fielding is better than it was last year, and he is showing more life. He is getting over the habit of swinging at bad pitches.

After a six weeks' layoff due to sickness, Archie Yelle returned to the Seals' lineup by relieving Sam Agnew of the catching job in the fourth inning. Archie handled himself well for a fellow out of the game as long as he was. The fans were glad to see him, and Sam Agnew will be able to take a much needed rest in the near future.

BEAVERS UNABLE TO HIT WILLIE MITCHELL

PORTLAND, May 11.—After the first inning in which he allowed the only run off him, Willie Mitchell pitched shut out ball against the Portland Beavers and the Vernon Tigers scored a 4 to 1 lead. A home run in the second inning by "Truck" Hannah when a teammate was on the paths cinched the game in the second inning. The Tigers gathered their other two runs in the seventh on a single by Chadbourne and doubles by Hannah and Mitchell. Sam Ross and Herman Pillette did the mound work for the locals. Ketchell allowed but six hits.

KEN PENNER HAS TOO MUCH FOR ANGELS

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Kenneth Penner was in good form here yesterday afternoon and the Sacramento Coyotes drew first blood in their series with the Angels by putting across a 2 to 1 win. "Lefty" Thomas pitched a good bayy for the Angels, but Penner had a little the best of the pitching honors. The Coyotes won the game in the sixth on a double by McGaffigan, and singles by Kopp and Mollowitz. Kopp and McGaffigan starred with the stick.

Abe Attell Gathered In By the Police

NEW YORK, April 11.—Abe Attell, former featherweight champion named in the indictments in connection with the 1919 world series scandal, will have a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus here Saturday. After surrendering here yesterday, he was released on $1000 bail.

Baseball Gossip

Jimmy Middleton pitched the first eight innings for Detroit yesterday and was charged with a 2 to 1 defeat. He pitched good ball and the Yankees were lucky to beat him. Hollling pitched the last inning against the Yanks and he didn't let a man reach first.

Carl Mays held the Tigers to five hits—two of them went to Harry Heilman and one to Johnny Bassler.

Meusel hit a triple for the Yanks.

The White Sox defeated the Red Sox 5 to 1. Ernie Johnson hit a double and single, and Mulligan hit two singles for them. Earl Sheely hit a single and sacrifice hit.

Washington defeated the Indians 9 to 7.

Roger Hornsby got four out of four, a triple, double and two singles when the Cardinals defeated the Giants 7 to 6. Jack Fournier hit two out of four.

Bill Pertica started on the hill for the Cards and retired after the third in favor of a pinch hitter.

Dave Bancroft and George Kelly hit two each for the Giants, one of Kelly's going for two bags.

Sammy Bohne and Louis Fonseca both went hitless when the Reds lost to the Dodgers 6 to 2. Jimmy Johnston and Ivan Olson also went hitless with the Dodgers.

"Dutch" Ruether pitched for the Dodgers and allowed eight hits.

The Cubs defeated the Phillies 6 to 2. Terry and Maisel went hitless while Hollocher hit one for the Cubs.

Dutch Reuther took keen delight in trimming the Reds for Brooklyn. Homers by Hargrave and Wheat were hitting features.

Maranville's great play made Boston Brave supporters mournful. The Pirates also were aided in their victory by Cooper's pitching.

Wrightstone and Meusel hit homers for the Phillies but the Cubs, with Alexander and Freeman pitching good ball, slid under the wire first.

Seven Veterans On Technical Swimming Team

With seven veterans of last season donning suits again, the chances of Oakland Technical High School winning the championship in the O. A. L. swimming meet which takes place May 21, are bright. The Tech swimmers were late in starting practice, but Manager Howard has them out each day now and has a hard time getting them t leave tohe tank before nightfall. Fremont, University, Vocational and Oakland High schools are all boasting of having better swim teams this season than last, but Manager Howard believes that he has the real champions in his seven veterans from last year, and three new men.

Phillip Gilbert will be Tech's hope, and promises to do some classy paddling in the 220 and 440-yard championship event. Captain Lilliencrantz is booked to lead the Tech hopes in the back stroke, while the sprints will line up with Edwards, "Watt" Bray, Heinle Howard and Algers. "Stub" Stevens will be sent out after the plunge honors, while Russ Diehl, the basketball star, will seek the breast stroke honors, and Howard will perform from the ten-foot board.

Vallejo Athlete May Compete in the East

VALLEJO, May 11.—Elmer Boyden, the star sprinter of the Vallejo high school, will probably be sent East by the student body of the local institution so that he can compete in the Chicago interscholastic track and field meet. Boyden recently covered the 880 yards in 1 min. 59 1-5 sec.

BASEBALL BILL VETOED.

JIM CORBETT VISITS JACK DEMPSEY CHAMP, EX-CHAMP COMPARE NOTES

By JAMES J. CORBETT
Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.
(Written expressly for International News Service.)
(Copyright, 1921, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Jack Dempsey is looking fine. He is getting ready for the serious work of real training for Georges Carpentier in the proper manner. I expect to see him in perfect condition when he enters the ring at Jersey City, July 2.

This much I can say today after spending Tuesday with the champion at Atlantic City. I ran down to the seashore to say "Hello" and look him over. Later, when he gets into real training, I will follow the progress of his work in detail. I will also keep tab on what Georges Carpentier is doing and will endeavor to give my readers first-hand information from the rival camps right up to the day of the battle.

I found Dempsey in a barber chair, face covered with lather. It was easy enough to locate him. There was a crowd outside the door. Dempsey doesn't seem to mind crowds, which is a good trait. The fellow who permits curiosity on the part of the public to get on his nerves finds it difficult to compose himself when he needs cold possession of his faculties. Happily, Dempsey is not that way.

"Lo, Jim," he said, when I walked up to his chair. "Glad to see you. Gee, but you're looking fit."

This reminded me of an experience he and I had at Tijuana. A fellow came up to me, stuck out his hand, and said:

"Mr. Dempsey, I want to shake your hand. I've been one of your staunchest followers and admirers. I'm Mr. So-and-So."

How he happened to mistake me for Dempsey, I don't know. Perhaps time has treated me more than kindly. At any rate I saw the chance for a little joke.

KIDDING THE STRANGER.

"Glad to meet you," I told him, "and by the way, have you ever met Jim Corbett?" And with this I called Dempsey, who was standing near me. I introduced them. The stranger was very glad to meet Mr. Corbett.

"My goodness, Mr. Corbett," he gasped, "you certainly are well preserved."

It went over big. But, to be serious—

I feel sure Dempsey will find Atlantic City an ideal place to train. I trained for several of my most important fights at the seashore. The salt air and hot sun baths did me a world of good.

Jack tells me he is not going into the surf very much. He is correct in this. Swimming every day would do him more harm than good, though an occasional plunge, right in and right out again, is fine.

"How much do you weigh, Jack?" I asked.

IS RIGHT WEIGHT.

That weight is just right for his build. He isn't carrying an ounce too much. He will take off poundage gradually.

One day when I was training for one of my most important fights, I said to Jack, I was playing handball. Suddenly I realized that I was unable to start the perspiration. I knew at once what was wrong. I had gone stale.

"I'm going to be mighty careful about that," he told me. "When I trained for Brennan I overworked. I really was sick. It won't happen again."

I explained to Jack that when I found I had gone stale, I quit working. My camp attendants were worried sick but I would not listen to their entreaties that I do some light work. For several days I did nothing. I drank quite a lot of water and amused myself as I saw fit.

After several days of this I went on the road for an hour a day and did only the lightest kind of gym work. I finished my road work with a fast sprint and to my delight the perspiration came back. When I got into the ring for that fight I felt like a colt. This is the way I expect Dempsey to feel when he answers the bell.

Georges Plans For Training Are Disclosed

By FRANCOIS DESCAMPS
Manager and Trainer of Georges Carpentier.
(Written for the United Press.)

LA GUERCHE, France (by mail)—Immediately upon reaching New York, about May 16, Carpentier will go straight to his training quarters at Manhasset. He will remain there until the day of the fight.

A program of puritanic rigidity will be followed day in and day out during the next two months.

Carpentier will train, properly speaking, only two hours a day. Of this only five minutes will be spent in actual sparring. Twenty-five minutes will be spent in shadow boxing, another half hour to gymnastics and the remaining hour in the hands of his masseur and under the showers.

The mornings will be occupied largely with hiking. His daily work on the road will average around six miles.

Carpentier will get up about 7 in the morning and retire at 9 sharp.

Visitors will be allowed in the late afternoon and evenings, provided they leave before 8:30 p. m. I will demand this rule be followed or close the camp entirely to the public.

There will be no theaters, no dancing and no joy rides to the city. Our training camp family, consisting of the sparring partners, cooks and rubbers, who will play cards for amusement during off hours. Carpentier is a great lover of cards.

An open ring will be built in front of the training quarters. It will be located so as to give the same sun conditions that will prevail in Jersey City on the afternoon of the fight.

Journee, French heavyweight, will be one of the regular sparring partners. Joe Jeanette, the American negro, has also been secured, and three or four other good sparring partners will be signed on our arrival.

Golf Expert Describes The Famous St. Andrews Course in Scotland

American Players Wil l Experience Difficulty in Getting Acqua inted With Links.

By W. D. McNICOLL

St. Andrew's, where the British open championship is to be held this year, has the reputation of being the hardest course in Scotland to get familiarized with. There are many players who have almost a perfect mental picture of a course after two or three rounds, but over the old course at St. Andrew's you never seem to be playing the same holes twice and to make things worse the course is reversed every two weeks and only players who have lived there can tell how to play the holes under the ever changing climatic conditions. The American players' success will depend to a considerable extent on the amount of information they can assimilate from the St. Andrew's caddies. John Black would have undoubtedly had a big advantage over most of the players selected on this score alone and one can imagine a strong protest from some of the recognized expert mashie pitchers on being told by their caddy to run up their shots from 80 to 100 yards off the green.

The first hole, 365 yards bogey 4 is skillfully guarded by the Swilken Burn which takes a horseshoe bend in front of the green with the open side facing the player. A hook or slice forces the player to cross the burn (stream) at two points, whereas a long straight drive enters the open side of the formation and allows a comparatively easy mashie pitch and run short over an undulating surface to the hole probably in a hollow out of sight.

HAS POT BUNKERS.

The second hole, 402 yards bogey 5, has innumerable pot bunkers right and left, but two perfect shots will get you there. The third 41 yards bogey 4, and the fourth 385 yards bogey 5, are the holes that puzzle the stranger who has the choice of playing to right or left under certain prevailing conditions.

The long fifth 533 yards bogey 6, is a wonderful three-shot hole onto an immense green situated on a plateau. The sixth 345 yards bogey 4, calls for an accurate approach shot. The seventh 333 yards bogey 4, a dog leg with an immense bunker ready to trap a badly played approach. No. 8, 139 yards bogey 3, slightly up hill over a bunker of over 100 yards, the hole is usually placed on the near edge of the green giving you a dangerous approach putt from your safety first tee shot. The ninth 273 yards bogey 4, can be reached with a favoring wind fairly open approach. The tenth 312 bogey 4, is trapped severely and care must be taken not to over approach.

The eleventh 148 bogey 3 is probably the most famous one-shot hole in Scotland. James Braid once took eight on it and cost a championship. This green faces the player but besides the mental hazard of a bunker to cross going to the hole, the green itself has a bunker on the near right corner with the back of the green dropping sheer down to the Eden river.

SEVERELY BUNKERED.

The twelfth 318 bogey 4 is the first of the parallel holes coming in and is bunkered severely close to the green. The thirteenth 403 yards bogey 5 is on the same plateau as the fifth, the two green meeting and forming an immense surface of perfect turf. The fourteenth, 516 yards bogey 6, includes the famous hell bunker, which has to be carried from the tee. A long brassy second reaches another bunker guarding the green which lies in a hollow. The fifteenth, 365 yards bogey 4, and the sixteenth, 338 yards bogey 4, run parallel to the railway on the right with traps to the left all the way, neither on the railway nor over is out of bounds and Braid has made many famous recoveries from both. The sixteenth green is a series of miniature hills covered with wonderful turf.

OVER A GARDEN.

The seventeenth, 456 yards bogey 5, is a dog leg and players in the desperate position of 2 down usually try to carry over the stationmaster's garden with the chance of reaching the green in 2 and winning the hole, the seventeenth green has a deep trap bunker on the near left corner and the road hazard to the right. The eighteenth, 361 bogey 4, has the Swilkin Burn ready to catch a topped drive. This is the green that Ed Blackwell carried with his drive many years ago when balls were many yards short of their present carrying capacity but a fairly accurate approach shot has usually to be played if bogey 4 is to be secured.

DRAWING IS MADE.

LONDON, May 11.—The complete draw for the British amateur golf championship, which opens at Hoylake, May 23rd, indicates that the 12 players representing the United States will meet some of the most formidable of the Englishmen in the early rounds.

Jesse Guilford of Boston drew a bye and will play Cyril Tolley, present holder of the British title in the second round.

Robert T. Jones' opponent will be G. Manford of Luftness New, who was eliminated in the round preceding the semi-final in last year's championship play.

Charles ("Chick") Evans of Chicago, who won the American National Amateur cup at Roslyn, Long Island, last September, and Francis Ouimet of Boston, other players upon whom American hopes are pinned, have drawn. D. Stoner Crowther of Coombs Hill and C. E. Dick of the Royal Liverpool club, respectively. Dick, a Hoylake-bred golfer, is a veteran who defeated Tolley over the Hoylake course last summer.

Dr. Paul Hunter of Los Angeles drew E. E. Carter.

South Beaten By North in Bowling Game

The first series of games of the all-star bowling match between Los Angeles and Northern California took place at San Jose last night and the northern boys took a lead of 196 pins, rolling 5903 for a team average of 196, while the Los Angeles crew toppled over 5707 for an average of 190. The southern team started off at a fast clip and in the second frame led by 60 pins, but the northerners hit their stride and finished with 1019 for a lead of 53 pins. The fourth game was the best of the evening, both teams going over the thousand mark, Dooley and Benkosky did the heavy work for the north, the former rolling 1271 for a 211 average, while the latter turned in 1246 for an average of 207. For the south Meek rolled an average of 197, being high man for his team.

The second series will be played at the Maryland alleys tonight, play being called at 8 p. m. The scores:

Grover Ballard and Joe Benkoskey are receiving many congratulations these days following their brilliant victory in the Pacific Coast doubles at Fresno. The local men bowled some remarkable games to defeat the best pin toppers in the state.

Vallejo Wins First Game in New Cal. Tri-County League

The opening game of the season in the Tri-County League, between Vallejo and Napa teams at Beach Park, Vallejo, resulted in a 4 to 3 victory for Tom Sullivan's Vallejo boys, after eleven innings of fast baseball. With the score 3 to 0 against them in the ninth, Vallejo staged a rally that tied the score. Bisetti had pitched no-run no-hit ball up to that time, but the winners got four hits off him for the three runs. Two more hits in the eleventh off Hobson clinched the game. Dutch Lundberg pitched the full game for Vallejo, allowed six hits and fanned eleven.

Before the game, Queen Ruth presented Judge W. T. O'Donnell, president of the league, with a ball, and he pitched it over the plate to Mayor James Roney, who was on the receiving end. Next Sunday will be Chamber of Commerce day at the Vallejo park, and special stunts will be put on before the game. The score:

Oakley Tossers Win From Mt. Diablo

Oakley baseball fans were given a real scare when their team defeated the Mt. Diablo Cements at Oakley, by a score of 4 to 3. Going into the ninth inning, Oakley held a 4 to 0 lead, but the visitors staged a rally that netted them three runs, just one short of tieing the score. Jimmy McNamara pitched a good game for the leders and got two hits himself. The score:

Piedmont Boy Scouts Play Winning Ball

The Piedmont Scout ball team added two more victories to their string last week, when on Friday, the strong team of the Piedmont Fire Department was taken into camp by the score of 7 to 6, due mainly to the long hits made by the Piedmont boys.

On Saturday, the team journeyed to San Rafael and played their second game with the Hitchcock Military Academy team, Chichester pitching for Piedmont, and striking out 11 men, allowing but 4 scattered hits, and winning, 7-0.

A tight game was lost to the Columbia Park Boys in San Francisco by a 1-0 score.

After a poor start, the team has been winning regularly lately, the hitters having found their eye, and the pitching having been of the highest class. The team has now won 5 and lost 5 games.

Young George Gets Decision Over Colima

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Young George was awarded an unpopular decision over Bert Colima after four rounds of tame fighting in the main event of the boxing show at Vernon last night. The fans figured Colima at least earned a draw.

In the semi-windup, Gene Cline repeated his performance of two weeks ago by again knocking out Scotty Welsh in the second round.

Goodrich Team Wins From Vit Grays 12-2

The Goodrich Rubber baseball club is putting up a nifty brand of ball. Manager Lutrell has about the same flock of boys that performed for him last summer. Lefty Coleman is doing the chucking and Barsoti the log duty. Parker Jones, who can play the infield or outfield is covering the initial sack. Lutrell is playing short with Gred Gatter holding down the difficult corner. The outfield is well taken care of. Jimmy Moore, TRIBUNE leaguer, is playing left. The boys won an easy game last Sunday from the Vitt Grays. The score was 12 to 2. Fuller, who played right field for the Rubber boys, got three bables. Lutredd will take his club to Reno for a pair of games on the days between and fourth of July.

GOSSIP from the JUNGLES

By MAURY PESSANO

Ted Brandon, former St. Mary's College player, is doing some fine work for the Visalia club in the Valley league. Ted is holding down center field, and is hitting and fielding well. Ted will be remembered by the local fans as a star heaver and hitter for the college club several seasons back.

Lenny Tifer, the little backstop, is holding up the shoots of Bill Steen in wonderful style. Lenny, for a little fellow, is considered one of the best receivers in the Valley league. He has been hitting the pill with regularity lately.

"Pep" Prentice, another Oakland boy, is showing the fans of Madera how to field and hit. The big fellow is holding down the difficult corner for Madera in the Valley league, and has helped that club to hold onto second place.

The great pitching of Milton Steengrafe for Tulare was too much for Coalinga last Sunday. Big Milton twirled one of the best games seen at Tulare this season. He held the visitors to three scattered hits. His teammates were only able to get five hits off big Dave Davenport, but those clouts proved enough for Conger's boys. They scored three runs, while Steengrafe held the visitors scoreless.

Manager Jack Conger of Tulare starred in the Sunday game. Jack got a double, scored a run and played a swell game around the short patch. He was assisted by Harvey Christensen, Jimmy Fleischman and Pete Ritchie, who got hits to help the club to victory.

Charley Thollander's Kingsburg club had an off day in the Raisin Belt league when they suffered their worst beating since the start of the league at the hands of Porterville. They were beaten 15 to 2. Frenchie LaCloustra started for Thollander's club, but lasted a few innings, when he gave way to White, a hometown boy. Johnny Clothier, who played third base for the C. L. Best Tractors in The TRIBUNE league, played against Kingsburg and got three hits. Cliff McCarl, former Coast leaguer, also got three safe clouts.

Heine Lay of the C. L. Best Tractors was in wonderful form for the game Sunday against the Melrose Merchants. Heine twirled a no-hit, no-run game for Wagner's club, and the visitors did not even get anything that looked like a hit. Lay was given brilliant support by his teammates. Frank Krumb, manager of the Alameda Elks, is trying to arrange a game with the Tractors.

Del Webb is doing some work in the box this season for the Union Construction club. He pitched for the Newark club Sunday, while Fred Selaya did the catching.

The Maxwell Hardware club is putting up a fine brand of ball this summer, having won the majority of their games. Dick Parker, who is doing the pitching for the club, has turned in some good games.

Charley Meyer is playing both the infield and outfield.

Frank Bethel's boys lost a tough game to the Halton-Didiers Sunday. The Woodmen were beaten by the Clothiers by one run. A walk with the bags loaded to Erich Schreiber, left fielder for the Halton-Didiers, in the tenth inning gave them their win.

Clarence "Lefty" Sprinkle pitched for the Woodmen club Sunday, and looked mighty sweet. He whiffed ten batters, and but for a streak of wildness in the tenth inning, the big southpaw would have won the game. Lefty Didier pitched against the Woodmen, and was nicked for eight hits.

Next Sunday at Lincoln Park, at 1:30, the Modern Woodmen club will entertain the Weinstock Lubin club of Sacramento. Lefty Biggs, the young lefthander, is doing the pitching for the Sacramento club, and has promised Bethel's boys a tough game.

Erich Schreiber is playing fine ball for the Halton-Didiers. Erich is hitting and fielding as he did in the days when he broke in with the Ambrose Tailors several years ago. He got a bit and scored a pair of runs for the Alameda club Sunday.

Archie Rubart played his first game with the Halton-Didiers Sunday. Archie was charged with three boots in the box score, but once the little infielder gets going the Alameda team will have a valuable man.

Lefty Beeson is doing some fine stick work for the Halton-Didiers. Each Sunday the flashy first sacker gets his hit, and generally makes them count. Chet Bertollaci, who covers second base for Alameda, is also doing his share of the good work.

BOWLING

The end of the third week finds the Philadelphia Shoes and Palo Kings tied for first honors in the Oakland Merchants' league, at the Bowling auditorium. The Bruener Furniture Company and Bay Cities Transportation Company climbed up another notch. C. Knipe is leading the individual race with a 174 average, and C. Newman right behind with 173 average. 105 Home Runs In Big Leagues In Four Weeks

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 11.—One hundred and five home runs in the major leagues in one month of slug campaigning has revived the trick ball rumors of last year.

The 1920 season was thought to be the peak of long clouting, but this new season promises to surpass all marks.

Babe Ruth is two weeks ahead of his 1920 schedule and he has camping at his heels a new National league king in George Kelly, and several other near-kings around both circuits.

When eight homers were knocked in one day, the fans, perhaps, should be justified in thinking that a lively ball is in use.

Last year the American league, which set the pace in slugging, was charged with adopting a ball built to fly over the fences. It was made known, however, that the balls used in the two major leagues were made in the same factory and were different only in the color of the stitches and the names on the horsehide.

This year, the National league is charged with putting out a trick ball to help make some Babe Ruths in the older circuit.

"That talk is foolish. The ball is of exactly the same composition as it has been for years," President J. A. Heydler said.

"Both are willing to open a ball if it is necessary to convince the skeptics.

Constructors Again Defeat Sailors

The Union Construction Company's ball club won from the Sailors on Goat Island. The sailors' team is very much improved. They claim out of 24 games played by them they have lost but two, and both to the Union Construction. Ray Slugen, Lefty Beeson and Ray Ryan were the big stickers for the day, but all played good ball. Bob Smale pitched a good game. He is an all-round ball player. The scores:

GODFREY'S STARS WIN FOUR.

Godfrey's All Stars won their fourth straight game at Poplar by defeating the S. P. Socials of San Francisco 11 to 3. Bill Croton, the All Star twirler, pitched steady ball allowing eight scattered hits. Gene Richards and Big Chief Nelson clouted the ball over the fence for home runs with two men on. The fine support given Croton by his teammates in the pinches kept the score down.

EASY FOR DELPHIAS.

The Delphi club traveled to San Francisco and gave the San Bruno Community club a 13 to 3 beating. Wenz for the Delphi club pitched wonderful ball and was received well by Iverson, who had the runners glued to the bases. Serrente of San Bruno was hit hard and received poor support. Denbner of Delphi and Fink of San Bruno featured with great catches. The Delphi club's first infield gave the large gathering of fans a thrill. The Delphi club is open to meet any fast city or country teams, Clement Drugs preferred. The scores:

NEW SHORTSTOP IS ACQUIRED BY SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO, May 11.—Charley Moreing, owner of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, announced today the acquisition of Shortstop Harry Lunte from the Cleveland Americans.

Lunte's coming to Sacramento completes the deal of last session in which Pitcher Falter Mails was sold to Cleveland in exchange for three players, of whom the other two now with the Senators are Pitchers Niehaus and Faeth.

Lunte will report June 1.

Stanford Is Out of The Big Ten Meeting

STANFORD University, May 11.—Coach Dink Templeton announced today that Stanford will not accept the invitation to take part in the Big Ten track meet, which is to be held in Chicago June 4. As this is a week after the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet in Boston, in which Stanford will compete, the coach does not believe his men will be in the best of condition. Furthermore the men making the trip to Boston do not wish to lose too much time from their studies.

Members of the Stanford squad will compete in the P. A. A. meet at Berkeley next Saturday and will leave for the East the next day, according to present plans. The Stanford team, which Templeton will take to Boston are Morris Kirksey, Jess Wells, Bob Williams and Lane Falk.

Tabloid SPORTS

CHICAGO—Japan has a "Babe" Ruth of its own. The champion home run hitter of the Far East is K. Tanaka of the Waseda University team, with a record of six homers in six games. Tanaka, like "Ruth," is broad shouldered and stocky, and plays the same outfield position as the New Yorker. He also bats left handed. The Waseda team opened its American tour here yesterday, losing to the University of Chicago, 4 to 2.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 11.—A total of 158 entries have been received for the seven early closing grand circuit events to be held at the Charter Oak track here September 5 to 10.

NEW YORK—Lansing van Houten, Columbia's rowing captain, is ill with the grippe and will not be able to row in the Child's Cup race on the Harlem river Saturday.

CHICAGO—The University of Oklahoma tennis team evened the score with the University of Chicago team, winning three straight matches yesterday.

CHICAGO—Pitcher Oscar Fuhr, last year with Omaha in the Western League, has been released to the Kansas City American Association Club by the Chicago Cubs.

Coast League Gossip

Rain was the reason for the Oaks and Rainiers taking a rest at Seattle yesterday. The Oaks were lucky to get in every game with the Beavers last week. Mitze's crowd has been going along nicely, and here's hoping the rain doesn't set them back again.

Pete Schneider hit a double and single in two times at bat yesterday for Vernon.

Art Griggs hit a triple and since for the Angels.

WHO'LL WIN

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 11.—Harry Greb, prominent light heavyweight: "Carpentier is by far the best opponent the champion has ever met, but he does not impress me as being sturdy enough to withstand the rushes of Dempsey. I have seen the Frenchman in action and have worked with Dempsey. The champion should topple the Frenchman within three rounds. Carpentier's only chance is to score a one-punch knockout in the first few seconds. A body crusher and a lightning left to the jaw will finish Carpentier."

BERKELEY OAKS WIN.

Finding two pitchers for twenty-two hits, the Berkeley Live Oaks defeated the United Parcel Delivery nine, 12-2, and won their fifth straight game. Chick Hafey, Live Oak pitcher, held the visitors scoreless and hitless until the sixth. Hafey struck out fifteen men.

In the near future, the name of the Berkeley team will be changed to the Calatone Water nine.

Scores:	R.	H.	E.
Live Oaks	12	22	2
United Delivery	2	3	5

Batteries—Hafey and Jackson; Dunn, Halverson and Clement.

FRATERNITY SWIMMING.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 11.—The annual interfraternity swimming meet will be held in the Stanford tank next Saturday afternoon. To date eight Stanford fraternities have entered the meet. Alpha Sigma Phi appears the strongest of the teams entered, and is the favorite to take first place. The following fraternities will compete: Delta Tau Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Chi Psi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Delta Upsilon and Sigma Chi.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

The best that the greatest novelist can give us is only a written picture, BUT the following letter IS LIFE. I'm thankful for many things about this column, but I think I'm most thankful for the fact that at last a way has been found for the generations to talk to each other. Here is a letter which will link both mothers and daughters in one strengthening comprehension—if they but want to be linked.

Jerry, Dear—Well, here's another that wants a little room on that wonderful shoulder and a few rods to say to Truth Seeker No. 2.

I was a jazz kid, Jerry dear, and this is just a little confession.

When 16 years of age I fell in love with an ideal fellow who took me to dances and shows and taught me to swim, etc., until, Oh, Jerry, he made me love him with all his kindness. Mother trusted me, although she wanted me innocent because most men do like innocent girls. But anyway, we finally got going to cabarets and I painted and laughed and THOUGHT I was happy. But soon I sickened of it. Then we had a fight because I'm a little too independent, and then I lost faith in all mankind.

No cafe was wicked enough, no man shocked me, Jerry, but through it all I learned things which mother had been waiting to tell me. But I learned them all the wrong way—not the sweet beautiful way that mothers tell them. And that sort (Truth Seeker No. 2) was the kind that told me they loved me. No wonder I laughed and made merry!

Now, the beautiful part is, Jerry, dear, through all that high life my body and soul are clean and the man, my mate, has found me, the real me, 'neath the powder. Jerry, I wish you could ask him! And we were married just two months ago today, and, Jerry, dear, I am to be a happy and proud mother and there will be a still happier daddy in this world. And I just want to say to Truth Seeker, he'd better start on a different road. The jazz kids treat them as they think they want to be treated, and I also want to add, I am the happiest lady in the land. I admire you very much, Jerry, dear. You do an awful lot of good to us all. GINGER.

Boy Across the Street

Dear Jerry—Will you please help me? I am just a high school girl in my teens, but have many troubles. My mother is a very religious woman and therefore will never let me go to a party, dance or to any kind of amusements. The only time I get to go to a party is when the church gives one.

Now, Jerry, I am young and I want fun while I am young, but my mother tells me I cannot go out until I am at least in my twenties.

There is a boy living two blocks from my place who used to take me home from school in his machine. I did not dare tell my mother because I knew she would be very mad, but somehow or other she found it out, and oh, Jerry, how she scolded me. She told me she would put me in the detention home. Could she? If she ever did, do you think they would listen to my story?

At another time the boy across the street was giving a party and invited my sister and myself. But my mother wouldn't listen to us. She told us just because the boy was living across the street didn't mean that we knew him, and, Jerry, he has lived there for three years, and my sister and I know him very well.

On Sundays we go to church, come home and eat dinner and just stay in the house all day. If I ask to go over to my girl chum's house, I never hear the last of it. I have many admirers who have asked me to go out, but have to refuse every one.

I am going to graduate from high school soon and have been planning to go away and earn my own living. Do you think it will work? Please help me, Jerry, for I feel very lonely and blue, and all I know are tears.

PAT.

A Limit to Restraint

Have printed that letter with the big hope that it may reach many a loving puzzled mother as well as many an angry puzzled daughter. I know how those mothers feel, and, oh, believe me too, I know how those daughters feel. I was a little girl once myself, not such ages ago, either, and there were ever so many "nice boys across the street."

I'm remembering my own indignation—and understanding now my mother's fears. And yet there should be some way out of this everlasting misunderstanding. I do truly think it's a bit up to the mothers. Wouldn't a few parties at home make things easier—wouldn't they be less expensive in the long run than the nagging friction and possible outright rebellion? The problem in each home is different, but the fundamental urge of youth to youth and youth against age is the same in every one AND YOUTH HAS A RIGHT TO YOUTH, MY DEARS. If you don't help it to indulge that right wisely and healthfully it will indulge it unwisely and unhealthfully. What are you going to do?

Toleration

[illegible] erance of the following writer this world would be just a little heaven. Whoever you are, Sister, here's my lovingest greeting to you:

Dear Jerry—I just want to say that you expressed my sentiments exactly on smoking. Why all the fuss about women smoking?

I don't indulge, but think a woman's opinion about her actions has just as much weight as a man's opinion of the same action. Then, too, I'd like to know why the women want their husbands to "stay home" all the time. The fact that he is not at home is no reason to think he is in mischief. I'm not married, but it seems to me that if I were, I'd get awfully tired if I never had a chance to be alone once in a while, or felt that I had to account for every minute spent away from home.

As I said, I'm not married, so perhaps I don't know anything about it, and then perhaps I do. I know the men are just like the women, awfully nice, and to us, "necessary nuisances," so why not everybody give everybody else a square deal?

I can't help wondering, Jerry, what your life has been. This I know, YOU HAVE LIVED, I think, to the fullest and your advice certainly helps to solve many a problem.

My love and the best that life holds to you. OLD MAID.

Can't Get a Girl

Here's a letter which touches on deeper troubles than you may realize at first glance:

Dear Geraldine—Advise a desperate man with some of your allwise understanding. My plight is this. I am a college man, 25 years old. In appearance am average, maybe a small per cent above that, and my personality draws with the men, but as to the girls, I wonder what can be the matter with me. They sure give me the go-by. I don't classify as a rounder, nor am I a "pill." The fellows call me a "regular guy." My family is prominent and fine and the position I hold is very remunerative.

For the love of Mike, Geraldine, give me a tip as to where the trouble lies. The girls of today are so independent, they are hopeless. Only one in a hundred is over-anxious to marry and they consider they have conferred a favor if they step out with a guy. What is more, I know a score of fellows in the same boat as myself. DESPERATE DAVE.

I think, Pal, that you're getting the reaction of a state of mind which is bewildering and puzzling many of us. I'm not one of those bilious souls who think the world is going straight to the dogs. I am sure that human nature is as fine as it ever was, and will continually grow finer—but I'm also sure that the world at present is running a slight temperature and needs both patience and punch if ye are to stand its peevishness.

The "modern young woman" is, perhaps, showing the present unrest more than the rest of humanity—for several reasons. One is that from time immemorial young women have been prone to give way to emotional waves. The other largest reason is that, under her new emancipation, she is allowed a freedom to express herself which was never granted before—and it has, in many cases, gone to her head. She has had given to her the powers and prerogatives of a super-woman and she is using them to promote a Ruby Doll Standard. I DOUBT IF THE FASHIONABLE STANDARD FOR WOMEN WAS EVER AS LOW AS IT IS NOW SINCE MEN FIRST TOOK TO CAVES INSTEAD OF TREES. The Victorian Era saw some silly things in feminine fads, but those same crinolined Lydia Languishes were expected to be past masters in the sturdy art of home making. But at present Society expects nothing whatever of its women except an ability to prove decorative.

The effect is exactly what might have been foreseen. We give exactly what people expect us to give. If they expect brain power and character we'll struggle to meet their demands. If they ask nothing but a baby stare, a cooing sophistication and a delicious selfishness, we accommodate them with pleasure.

So you and the other serious-minded people are suffering from Society's letting down of the standards, Dave. However, don't give up. The ORIGINAL WOMAN VALUE is there all the time, although hidden, and we'll presently get around to exploiting it. Too many things have happened in a bunch. Women have been turned loose without any definite program to follow and many of them are wandering around in silly circles. They'll come out of it in time, never fear, and fill the place of honor they were really intended to fill.

Listen, World!

Howard Bingham has just called. Howard is one of those men who can make calls at 3:30 p. m. Other men are out busting broncbos or bulling the market, but Howard sits around in his English tweeds and discusses Woman and the Theater. He does this because his grandfather and his father did things in copper and oil and relieved him of the responsibility of ever doing anything. So he goes about with a beautiful smile under his mustache and a beautiful shine on his nails. Meanwhile, in sundry places, people starve.

My red-eyed Socialist friend says that Howard should be dispossessed of his unearned goods and all inherited wealth declared illegal. But I differ from him. Why start so many noisy arguments for ourselves when there is a much easier way of settling the Howards of the world? It's really simple:

Let Howard keep his money, but let the rest of us decide to regard him with the pity and contempt with which we regard all dependents and defectives—treating him as we do the simple minded and incompetent folk whom the state now cares for at public expense, the only difference being that his family pays his bills instead of the taxpayers.

That would cure Howard, but it would incidentally go deeper and cure the ones who are really responsible for the trouble—you and me—all society.

As long as we worship money more than manliness, just so long will we have Howards and howls WE make the parasites, not their fathers. There is no deep sincerity in our protests against them. We're just envying them. We'd be a parasite too if we could. When we come to loathe idleness for itself alone we'll get somewhere.

From a Working Lad

Dear Jerry—May I come to you for some advice? Jerry, I am a working boy of 24. Did not get the chance to finish grammar school, for Dad died and I had to go to work and support Mother. She passed away four years ago, but I did not go back to school. When the U. S. entered the war, I enlisted and have been out 18 months.

Now there is a girl (there most always is, isn't there!) She is the sister of a very rich man, and has everything a girl could want. Her brother thinks that nothing is too good for her. I met her a year ago and a very strong friendship started from the first, and now, Jerry, she has promised to be my wife. She has turned down four or five rich guys who could give her anything that she could wish, and has taken me, who can only give her love. Her brother is very well pleased over it and says that a good clean manly heart is worth more than all old J. D.'s gold.

He is going to make me his partner. He is in the auto business, Jerry, can and will you tell me where I can go and brush up a little bit on book learning?

I am writing this during my lunch hour in the shipyard, so please excuse all dirt and writing.

Hoping to see an answer in your corner.

"A SHIPYARD BUM."

Isn't that a nice letter, Folks, and doesn't it make us believe that love is still the best thing on earth? Good luck to you and the girl, Pal, and may you prosper. There are several good correspondence schools which will give you a wide range of helpful subjects to be studied at your leisure.

A Want-to-be Pal—You are my pal little girl and I think it would be a grand idea if you told the whole story to your mother. You're not a bad sport because you trusted and were fooled, and don't judge all boys by the example one set. They are not all Hims. I realize that you are not hurt because he went out with others, but because he couldn't treat you as an understanding pal. Be friends with him, surely, but don't trust too much, and tell mother

Letters of Terrie & Joe.

DEAR JOE—

Well, Joe, I see the Dempsey-Carpentier prize fist fight has been finally arranged, and in a way it's a sort of a shame, as I was saying to Mrs. Fink, because this country has nothing against France, except maybe the way she overcharged our boys during the war whenever they stepped out of the trenches for a moment. But then of course the shopkeepers in this country overcharged them just as bad before they left for France, so after all maybe the French shopkeepers were only trying to make them feel at home.

"You know, really, Mrs. Fink," I says, "after the way Lafayette, a typical Frenchman, came over here during the Revolutionary War and worked his way up from just a plain foreign private to a great general," I says, "it seems rather misappropriate," I says, "that Dempsey should be so anxious to knock Carpentier unconscious. And in spite of the natural politeness of the French," I says, "it would be silly of Carpentier not to try to defend himself, so the result may be that Dempsey will find himself unable to get up off the floor quicker than the umpire can count ten, especially if the umpire is a fast counter, which some of them surely must be with all that practice, so whichever way it turns out," I says, "it would be much more satisfactory if the man that's going to be knocked out was a German."

I wonder why they ever decided to do such a foolish thing as to hold the fight in a little place like Jersey City, Joe, where there's not enough people to make a big crowd even if they all put their mind to it. But I guess they will never realize their mistake, because fortunately for them, New York happens to be right near and a lot of New York people will most likely take advantage of the occasion.

The baby is still putting on weight every place except in his mouth—in other words, there's still not a tooth on the horizon.

Lovingly, TESSIE.

FATHER SONG

It's oh, my little laddie, as you're romping at your play
There's on old heart running with you every minute of the day:
And though you cannot see me when you're wrapped up in a game,
But it's I that am beside you in your striving just the same.

It is oh, my little laddie, there is much you cannot know,
But it's I that follow proudly everywhere you chance to go:
There's a hand upon your shoulder wheresoever you may be
That would help you out of danger, and that hand belongs to me.

It is oh, my little laddie, though you cannot hear me call,
I am always there to help you every time you chance to fall;
I am with you in the school room and I'm with you on the street.
And though you may not know it, I am dogging at your feet.

It's oh, my little laddie, all my life belongs to you,
All the dreams that I have cherished through the years depend on you;
And though now you cannot know it, you shall some day come to see How this old heart loved to hover round a boy that used to be.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

HOW MAJOR GRANTLAND SENT THE MAN WHO FOLLOWED SWIFTLY ON HIS WAY

At the sight of the closed car gliding toward the limousine in which I sat I felt all the vague fears of my journey South crystalize into sharp terror. Major Grantland's persistent telegraphing, the torn pieces of the telegram which I picked up when they had dropped from Dicky's pocket, the face—for it was nothing else—which the officer had made with this very car passed quickly in review before my mind. What menace to me or mine was hidden behind those curtains?

The driver leaned out of the car as he drew up beside the one I was in, and called out blatantly.

"Can you tell me the way to the Cedar Crest Inn?"

"Isn't your name Garland?"

"You work at the Cedar Croft Golf Club?"

GRANTLAND PRETENDS

"Drop that!" The officer's voice was savage. "I thought I had seen you there. If you're Garland, you know every door in this village. But I'll repeat the information. It's a block down," he jerked his thumb back the way we had come, "and a half block to the right. Now get out of here."

What the —" the man began truculently.

"I'm Grantland, Major Grantland. Is that enough for you?"

It evidently was more than enough for the fellow's mouth flew open inductously.

"Oh!" he said faintly. "I didn't know. Beg pardon—"

He spun his car around skilfully and in another minute had gone as stealthily as he had appeared.

Major Grantland turned to Dicky. "Where these fellows get their booze is beyond me," he said in ostentatiously careful tones.

"Moonshine, I suppose," Dicky answered as easily. "He certainly was toting a good one."

"You see, these are the only lights anywhere around," Major Grantland went on in elaborate explanation, "and I suppose his befuddled brain decided that he needed information."

"Well, he got it!" Dicky countered dryly. "I never saw a fellow wake up so quickly in my young life."

I felt like screaming a protest that I wasn't deceived in the least by their elaborately planned chatter. There had been no semblance of intoxication about the driver of the other car. Whatever his purpose had been, sinister or not, he had deliberately sought us.

FORCEFUL MRS. LUKENS

It was a relief when Mrs. Lukens came back, wearing the same air of quiet efficiency.

"Everything is all ready for Mrs. Graham," she said, "and it is fortunate that her room is on the ground floor. There is only an attic upstairs in this cottage. Now I know it would only disturb her to meet me tonight, so I'll just cut along ahead of you to show you where the room is, and then I'll get out of the way. But there's a fire in the kitchen and hot water, and Mandy will get you anything you need. For that matter, I shan't leave the house until I know you're all right."

"I know your kindness of old," Major Grantland replied.

I blessed the thoughtfulness which led the woman to spare me the ordeal of an introduction. Most women would have driven me to distraction with fussiness. I felt that I should like Mrs. Lukens immensely.

Major Grantland turned to Dicky, who had been leaning forward talking to him through the half-open door of the tonneau.

"How can I help you?" he asked.

"I can walk," I put in firmly, if weakly. I was determined that I would not be carried into my new abode like a sack of wheat. Something about Mrs. Lukens' indomitable back had given me the impression of invincible will conquering physical weakness. I was sure that if she had been in my place she would have walked if her way had been over red-hot coals.

"Nonsense!" Dicky returned, putting his arm around me, but I pushed it away determinedly.

"I will not be carried," I said pettishly, but determinedly. "Please get out and then give me both your hands. I can manage beautifully leaning on you."

"I'll see to the traps, Graham," Major Grantland interposed with instant acquiescence to my plan.

Dicky obeyed my request a bit sulkily, and after a minute or two of slow, labored effort, I sank exhausted but triumphant upon one of the beds of Mrs. Lukens' "sun parlor."

When the World Runs Wrong

The fellow that is strong,
Is the one that keeps a-goin'
When the world runs wrong!

An' thinks he hears a song
An' happy bells a-ringin'
When the world runs wrong!

When the tide is runnin' strong;
It's a hero that is merry
When the world runs wrong!

"By this marriage," says an exchange, "he got one wife and forty thousand dollars."

The exact number of wives he was looking for is not given.

Prune Sago Pudding

(Mrs. Flora Riggs)

Put one and one-half quarts of sweet milk in a pudding pan and bring to a scald. Stand on back of stove and stir in four tablespoonfuls of sago. Let stand and stir often till sago is quite clear. Add three beaten eggs, one-half cup sugar, a teaspoonful vanilla, butter size of walnut and a little salt. Remove the stones from two cups of prunes that have been soaked over night and add to the mixture. Bake till custard is done, or about forty-five minutes. Serve hot or cold with or without cream.

The Truth About Fiction Writing

Chapter VI.

The Fiction Market

"How does one market a story? and just what is the fiction market?"

To market it, you type a story double space, one side of the paper only, with margins. Name and address at the top. Enclose stamped return envelope. Address it to your market — and see what happens. That is the simple and comprehensive direction.

The fiction market is a broad subject, for there are all sorts of fiction. Short tales for children would go to the Sunday school magazines, of which there are many. Many a young writer is drawing down a hundred a month for this class of fiction alone.

The big fiction magazines number about a score. I happen to know, having had to send a story recently to all of them. It sold to the twentieth. All the official advisers on how to write stories, and nearly all the editors, will tell you to "study each magazine" for the sort of stuff that magazine uses. Like a good deal of such advice, this is bunk. Plain bunk.

Figure it out with me. There are certain magazines which want a special kind of story, such as the type which uses "sex" stuff only. But for the general, all-around story, any market is open. The stories you read in, for example, Blue Book, have been bought months previously. They have probably been printed two months before you read them.

Now, no editor desires to print the same type of story, month after month, unless his magazine has that policy. Few of them have. Adventure wants adventure stories, and this includes a pretty wide field, for example, from historical to business tales. The editor is always seeking something novel. Something that covers the same old ground in a new way.

Forget the rules, brother scribbler! Forget 'em. L. L. De Bra wrote some stories of Chinese life, with Chinese characters. Nothing like them had appeared. He was advised to play safe, and he chucked the advice. He sent the stories to Popular, which certainly appeared to offer no market for such stuff. Popular bought them all, found them novel and refreshing and delighted its readers with them. So there you are.

By the time you read the stories in a magazine the editor is buying something else again—if he can get it.

Many editors like stories which run in a series, particularly if they are ingenious and original in characters or plot. One series by Clarence Herbert New has been running for years in Blue Book. Almost all the magazines will consider a series; but never send in the series all at once. Send one story at a time. Say nothing about a series. Let the editor deduce that for himself. If he gets all the stories at once he will find some of them strong, some weak. If he gets them one by one, he loses sight of their faults and fails to compare them with each other.

Some of the magazines are very hard to break into, because they have certain standards of writing, plot or detail which the outsider does not know. One of these is Popular; another is Adventure. They want stories written in a certain technical fashion. Top Notch, on the other hand, is wide open to newcomers. The editor, Mr. Thomas, takes a personal interest in encouraging promising writers, criticizing and helping them. This can be said of few editors.

The editor of Detective story once told me what to write for him. The story was done strictly to specifications. He refused it as having no interest, no plot, no nothing! It went to All Story, sold, and made a tremendous hit. There you are again.

You can sell almost any kind of a story to almost any magazine—if it is a good story!

The magazine which says it wants character work, forgets all about that and buys a good plot. The editor who advertises for strong plots is apt to fall in love with a character sketch. Editors are human, like you and me, and they change their minds on short notice. A well-written story can make any editor change his mind. Otherwise, he would be a mighty poor editor.

Several firms have compiled books which list all the magazines in the country, each according to its class, together with what each editor wants. Get one of these and you will have your market in front of you. Naturally, I cannot recommend any particular book; but your book-seller can get it for you.

That is your mailing list. Think in business terms. Forget the rules and get busy.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SWING.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, will you make us a swing?"

"Please make us a swing!"

This is what Lulu and Alice Wiblewobble, the two duck girls, quacked to the bunny rabbit gentleman one day after they had come home from their hollow stump school.

"Make you a swing, eh?" said the bunny rabbit uncle, as he twinkled his pink nose like a lollypop going to the moving pictures. "Where shall I make it?"

"On our old apple tree," answered Lulu. "It has a lovely low, straight limb, just right for a swing."

"And there's a long piece of wild grapevine you can use for a rope," quacked Alice. "Oh, won't we have fun in the swing Uncle Wiggily is going to make!" she sang, and she splashed into a puddle of water and out again; but this didn't matter, you know, for duck girls are just made to play in the water.

"All right, I'll make you a swing," promised Uncle Wiggily, and soon, by climbing up on a step ladder, he had fastened the grapevine rope to the branch of the apple tree, and had gnawed out a board from a piece of box he found in the duck yard.

"Now we'll have some lovely swings!" quacked Lulu.

"We'll take turns," said Alice, "and Uncle Wiggily must go first, because he made us the nice swing."

So the bunny rabbit gentleman sat himself down on the swing board. Lulu and Alice gave him a push, and away swung Uncle Wiggily as nicely as you please.

"Well, I can't stay any longer," said the bunny gentleman after a while. "I must hop off and look for an adventure."

He alighted from the swing, and then Lulu and Alice Wibblewobble took turns. The duck girls were having some dandy swings, now high and now low, when along came Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boys.

"Give us a swing!" chattered Billie.

"No! No!" quacked Lulu. "Uncle Wiggily made this swing just for us."

"And you squirrel boys can't play on it," added Alice.

"I'm not saying the duck girls did right—mind you that! I'm only telling what happened.

"Won't you let us swing?" asked Johnnie.

"Nope!" quacked Lulu and Alice, and they kept the swing to themselves.

"All right," chattered Johnnie. "Come on, Billie. I know where we can have some fun—with Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppies."

The squirrel boys made believe run off to play with the doggie boys, but, instead, they hid in the bushes.

"When Lulu and Alice go away we'll skip out and get in the swing," said Billie.

"Yes," agreed Johnnie. And soon the duck girls became tired of the grapevine swing and ran off to have a paddle in the water.

"Now's our chance!" whispered Billie, and soon he and his brother were having fun beneath the apple tree.

"I know what we can do," said Billie, when they had swung enough.

"What?" asked his brother.

"We can climb thetree, and, with our sharp teeth gnaw partly through the grapevine rope," went on Billie. "We will only gnaw it partly through, so it won't show. But when the duck girls try to swing the vine will break."

"And they'll come down kerbunko!" laughed Johnnie.

"Give us a swing!" chattered Billie

So the squirrel boys, little tykes that they were, gnawed partly through the grapevine rope of the swing, and then ran away.

Pretty soon back came Uncle Wiggily, and seeing no one near the swing, the bunny said:

"I'll just take a little ride by myself." He was just about to sit down in the swing when, all of a sudden, out from behind a bush popped the bad old Woozie Wolf.

"Ah, ha!" howled the Wolf. "Now I'm going to nibble your ears!"

"Oh, please don't!" begged the bunny.

"Yes, I shall!" snarled the Wolf. "But before I nibble your ears I'll take a swing."

Down he sat himself in the swing, but you know what happened.

The vine broke, and down came the old Wolf kerbunko!

"Oh, wow!" howled the Wolf. "What has happened? I guess the sky has fallen! I'd better go home!" And away he ran, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all.

"The Wolf was too heavy for the swing and he broke it," said the bunny, who didn't know that the squirrel boys had gnawed the vine almost in half. "I must make the duck girls another. I'm glad the swing broke with the Wolf."

And Johnnie and Billie were glad, too, and they didn't gnaw the new swing which the bunny gentleman made for the duck girls. So everybody was happy except the Wolf, and he didn't deserve to be.

But if the bread knife doesn't cut the grass so short that it looks like a bald-headed man playing tag with a grasshopper, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the hammock.

What America Did and Failed to Do at Paris

by ROBERT LANSING FORMER SECRETARY of STATE

(Robert Lansing today reveals the text of the famous General Bliss letter which President Wilson refused to send to the United States Senate while that body was considering the treaty of Versailles. General Bliss protested vigorously against the award of Shantung to Japan, and in doing so he represented not only the views of himself but of Lansing and White, who formed what might be called the "outside" group of the American delegation—the inside and secret group being made up of President Wilson and Colonel House. The revelation of the Bliss letter is preceded by a further discussion of the Shantung incident at Paris)

CHAPTER XXVI

The Famous Bliss Letter

As the Japanese government recognized that the rights in the province of Shantung had not passed to Japan by the forcible occupation of Kiao-Chau and the German concessions, those rights ceased to exist when China declared war against Germany and that China was therefore entitled to resume full sovereignty over the area where such rights previously existed.

It is true that subsequently on September 24 1918 the Chinese and Japanese governments by exchange of notes at Tokio entered into agreements affecting the Japanese occupation of the Kiao-Chau-Tsinan railway and the adjoining territory, but the governmental situation at Peking was too precarious to refuse any demands made by the Japanese government. In fact the action of the Japanese government was very similar to that of the German government in 1898. An examination of these notes discloses the fact that the Japanese were in possession of the denounced German rights but nothing in the notes indicates that they were there as a matter of legal right or that the Chinese government conceded their right of occupation.

This was the state of affairs when the peace conference assembled at Paris. Germany had by force compelled China in 1898 to cede to her certain rights in the Province of Shantung. Japan had seized these rights by force in 1914 and had by threats forced China in 1915 to agree to accept her disposition of them when they were legally transferred by treaty at the end of the war. China in 1917 had on entering the war against Germany denounced all treaties and agreements with Germany so that the ceded rights no longer existed and could not legally be transferred by Germany to Japan by the treaty of peace since the title was in China. In fact any transfer or disposition of the rights in Shantung formerly belonging to Germany was a transfer or disposition of rights belonging wholly to China and would deprive that country of a portion of its full sovereignty over the territory affected.

INTERESTS INFLUENCE EUROPEAN POWERS' ACTION

While this view of the extinguishment of the German rights in Shantung was manifestly the just one and its adoption would make for the preservation of permanent peace in the Far East, the governments of the allied powers had, early in 1917 and prior to the severance of diplomatic relations between China and Germany, acceded to the request of Japan to support "on the occasion of the peace conference" her claims in regard to these rights which then existed. The representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy at Paris were thus restricted or at least embarrassed by the promises which their governments had made at a time when they were in no position to refuse Japan's request.

They might have stood on the legal ground that the treaty of 1898 having been abrogated by China no German rights in Shantung were in being at the time of the peace conference, but they apparently were unwilling to take that position. Possibly they assumed that the ground was one which they could not take in view of the undertakings of their governments or possibly they preferred to let the United States bear the brunt of Japanese resentment for interfering with the ambitious schemes of the Japanese government in regard to China. There can be little doubt that political, and possibly commercial interests influenced the attitude of the European powers in regard to the Shantung question.

President Wilson and the American commissioners, unhampered by their colleagues' comments were strongly opposed to granting to the demands of the Japanese government. The subject had been frequently considered during the early days of the negotiations and there seemed to be no divergence of views as to the justice of the Chinese claim of right to the resumption of full sovereignty over the territory affected by the lease and the concessions to Germany. These views were further strengthened by the presentation of the case on behalf of the Council of Action. On January 27 the Japanese stated their case before the council the Chinese delegates being present and on the 28th Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo spoke on behalf of China.

OVERWHELMED JAPANESE WITH HIS ARGUMENT

In a note on the meeting I recorded that he "fairly overwhelmed the Japanese with his argument. I believe that that opinion was common to all those who heard the two presentations. In fact it made such an impression on the Japanese themselves that one of the delegates called upon me the following day and attempted to offset the effect by declaring that the United States since it had not promised to support Japan's contention would be blamed if Kiao Chau was returned directly to China. He added that there was much seething in Japan in regard to the matter. It was an indirect threat of what would happen to the friendly relations between the two countries if Japan's claim was denied.

The sessions of the commission on the league of nations and the absence of President Wilson from Paris interrupted further consideration of the Shantung question until the latter part of March when the council of four came into being. As the subject had been fully debated in January before the council of ten final decision lay with the council of four. What discussions took place in the latter council I do not know on account of the secrecy which was observed as to their deliberations. But I presume that the President stood firmly for the Chinese rights as the matter remained undecided until the latter part of April.

On the 23rd of April Baron Makino and Viscount Chinda called upon me in regard to the question and I frankly told them that they ought to prove the justice of the Japanese claim that they had not done it and that I doubted their ability to do so. I found too that the President had proposed that the five powers act as trustees of the former German rights in Shantung, but that the Japanese delegates had declared that they could not consent to the proposition which was in the nature of a compromise intended to bridge over the existing situation that on account of the near approach of the completion of the treaty was becoming more and more acute.

REALIZED COMPROMISE WAS IMPOSSIBILITY.

On April 26 the President at a conference with the American commissioners, showed deep concern over the existing state of the controversy, and asked me to see the Japanese delegates again and endeavor to dissuade them from insisting on their demands and to induce them to consider the international trusteeship proposed. The evening of the same day the two Japanese came by request to my office and conferred with Professor E. T. Williams, the commission's principal adviser on Far Eastern affairs, and with me. After an hour's conversation Viscount Chinda made it very clear that Japan intended to insist on her "pound of flesh." It was apparent both to Mr. Williams and to me that nothing could be done to obtain even a compromise, though it was on the face favorable to Japan, since it recognized the existence of the German rights, which China claimed were annulled.

On April 28 I gave a full report of the interview to Mr. White and General Bliss at our regular morning meeting. Later in the morning the President telephoned me and I informed him of the fixed determination of the Japanese to insist upon their claims. What occurred between the time of my conversation with the President and the plenary session of the Conference on the Conference on the Preliminaries of Peace in the afternoon at which the covenant of the League of Nations was adopted, I do not actually know, but the presumption is that the Japanese were promised a satisfactory settlement in regard to Shantung, since they announced that they would not press an amendment on "racial equality" at the session, an amendment upon which they had indicated they intended to insist.

INIQUITOUS AGREEMENT, LANSING TERMS IT

After the meeting of the conference I made the following memorandum of the situation:

"At the plenary session of the Peace Conference this afternoon Baron Makino spoke of his proposed amendment to the covenant, declaring 'racial equality,' but said he would not press it.

'I concluded from what the President said to me that he was disposed to accede to Japan's claims in regard to Kiao-Chau and Shantung. He also showed me a letter from ——— to Makino saying he was sorry their claims had not been finally settled before the session.

"From all this I am forced to the conclusion that a definite bargain was struck by which the Japanese agree to sign the covenant in exchange for admission of their claims. If so, it is an iniquitous agreement.

"Apparently the President is going to do this to avoid Japan's declining to enter the League of Nations. It is a surrender of the principle of self-determination a transfer of millions of Chinese from one foreign master to another. This is another of those secret arrangements which have riddled the 'Fourteen Points' and are wrecking a just peace.

"In my opinion it would be better to let Japan stay out of the league than to abandon China and surrender our prestige in the Far East for 'a mess of pottage'—and a mess it is. For that is so little to do matters to vex the situation.

BLISS VOLUNTEERS TO SEND WILSON LETTER

Mr. White, General Bliss and I at our meeting that morning, before the phrase was used later when we conferred as to what had taken place, the sessions were unanimous in our opinions that China's rights should be sustained even if Japan withdrew from the Peace Conference. We were all indignant at the idea of submitting the Japanese demands and agreed that the President should be told of our attitude because we were unwilling to have it appear that we in any way approved of according to Japan's claims or even of compromising them. General Bliss volunteered to write the President a letter on the subject, a course which Mr. White and I heartily endorsed.

The next morning the General read the following letter to us and with our entire approval sent it to Mr. Wilson:

Hotel de Crillon, Paris,
April 29 1919.

My dear Mr. President:

Last Saturday morning you told the American delegation that you desired suggestions although not at that moment in regard to the pending matter of certain conflicting claims between Japan and China centering about the alleged German rights. My principal interest in the matter is with sole reference to the question of the moral right or wrong involved. From this point of view I discussed the matter this morning with Mr. Lansing and Mr. White. They concurred with me and requested me to draft a hasty note to you on the subject.

CERTAIN WHICH SIDE HELD MORAL RIGHT

Since your conference with us last Saturday I have asked myself three or four Socratic questions the answers to which make me personally quite sure on which side the moral right lies.

First—Japan alleges certain of her claims on the right acquired by conquest. I asked myself the following questions: Suppose Japan had not succeeded in her efforts to force the capitulation of the Germans at Tsing-Tsau; suppose that the armistice of November 11th had found her still fighting the Germans at that place just as the armistice found the English still fighting the Germans in Southeast Africa. We would then oblige Germany to dispose of her claims in China by a clause in the treaty of peace. Would it occur to any one that it was a matter of right we should force Germany to cede her claims to Japan rather than to China? It seems to me that it would occur to every American that we would then have the opportunity that we have long desired to force Germany to correct, in favor of China, the great wrong which she began to do to the latter in 1898. What moral right has Japan acquired by her conquest of Shantung, assisted by the British? If Great Britain and Japan secured no moral right to sovereignty over various savages inhabiting islands in the Pacific Ocean but, on the other hand, we held that these peoples shall be governed by mandates under the League of Nations, what moral right has Japan acquired to the suzerainty (which she would undoubtedly eventually have) over 30,000,000 Chinese in the sacred province of Shantung?

CITES OPINIONS OF INTERNATIONAL LAWYERS

Second—Japan must base her claims either on the convention with China or on the right of conquest, or on both. Let us consider her moral right under either of these points.

"(a) If the United States has not before this recognized the validity of the rights claimed by Japan under her convention with China what has happened since the armistice that would justify us in recognizing their validity now?

(b) If Germany had possessed territory, in full sovereignty, on the east coast of Asia, a right to this territory, under international law, could have been obtained by conquest. But Germany possessed no such territory. What then was left for Japan to acquire by conquest? Apparently nothing but a lease extorted under compulsion from China by Germany. I understand that international lawyers hold that such a lease, or the rights acquired, justly or unjustly, under it, cannot be acquired by conquest.

"Third.—Suppose Germany says to us, 'We will cede our lease and all rights under it, but we will cede them back to China.' Will we recognize the justice of Japan's claims to such an extent that we will threaten Germany with further war unless she cedes these rights to Japan rather than to China?

COMPARES SITUATION WITH DALMATIAN COAST.

"Again, suppose that Germany in her hopelessness of resistance to our demands, should sign without question a clause ceding these rights to Japan, even though we know that this is so wrong that we would not fight in order to compel Germany to do it, what moral justification would we have in making Germany do this?

"Fourth.—Stripped of all words that befog the issue, would we not, under the guise of making a treaty with Germany, really be making a treaty with Japan by which we compel one of our Allies (China) to cede against her will these things to Japan? Would not this action be really more unjustifiable than the one which you have refused to be a party to on the Dalmatian coast? Because, in the latter case, the territory in dispute did not belong to one of the Allies, but to one of the Central Powers, the question in Dalmatia is as to which of two friendly powers we shall give territory taken from an enemy power. In China the question is shall we take certain claimed rights from one friendly power in order to give them to another friendly power.

"It would seem to be advisable to call particular attention to what the Japanese mean when they say that they will return Kiao-Chow to China. They do not offer to return the railway, the mines or the port, i. e., Tsing-tau. The leased territory included a portion of land on the northeast side of the entrance of the bay and another on the southwest and some islands. It is a small territory. The 50 kilometer zone was not included. That was a limitation put upon the movement of German troops. They could not go beyond the boundary of the zone. Within this zone China enjoyed all rights of sovereignty and administration.

JAPAN PROPOSES TO ABANDON ZONE

Japan's proposal to abandon the zone is somewhat of an impertinence, since she has violated it ever since she took possession. She kept troops all along the railway line until recently and insists on maintaining in the future a guard at Tsinan-Fu miles away. The zone would restrict her military movements consequently she gives it up.

The proposals she makes are (1) to open the whole bay. It is from 15 to 20 miles from the entrance to the northern shore of the bay. (2) To have a Japanese exclusive concession at a place to be designated by her. Here she can take just as much as she likes of the territory around the bay. It may be as large as the present leased territory but more likely it will include only the best part of Tsing-tau. What then does she give up? Nothing but such parts of the leased territory as are of no value.

The operation then would amount chiefly to an exchange of two pieces of paper one cancelling the lease for 99 years the other granting a more valuable concession which would amount to a permanent title to the port. Why take two years to go through this operation?

If it be right for a policeman who recovers your purse to keep the contents and claim that he has fulfilled his duty in returning the empty purse then Japan's conduct may be tolerated.

ITALY'S RIGHT TO FIUME IS SIMILAR

If it be right for Japan to annex the territory of an Ally then it cannot be wrong for Italy to retain Fiume taken from the enemy.

If we support Japan's claim, we abandon the democracy of China to the domination of the Prussianized militarism of Japan.

We shall be sowing dragons' teeth.

It can't be right to do wrong even to make peace. Peace is desirable, but there are things dearer than peace: justice and freedom.

Sincerely yours,

"W. H. BLISS."

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS OF STATE WELCOMED

23 Candidates in Contest For Two Jobs of Warden; Places on Boards Sought

A strong contest for the office of grand warden in both the Odd Fellows' lodge and the Rebekah assembly, in convention here this week, was promised for tomorrow, when the election will be held.

The nominations made at this morning's session brought out eleven candidates for grand warden of the Odd Fellows and twelve for the Rebakah warden.

Those in the Odd Fellow race are: C. W. White, Hayward; J. W. Benner, Chico; H. C. Arbuckle, San Francisco; C. H. S. Bidwell, Eureka, W. H. Polkinghorn, Riverside; Lloyd Cohn, Stockton; E. R. Longley, Los Angeles; Fred E. Peterson, Los Angeles; J. Bruce Payne, Kern City; J. M. Higsbrite, Ventura, C. R. Mayhall, San Luis Obispo

The Rebekah candidates for warden are:

Clara Gilmore, Stockton; Marie Steinman, Pasadena; Alice Plunkett, Sacramento; Lucile Markel, Riverside; Josephine Fisher, Sacramento; Ora Simpson, Redlands; Cora Abbott; Albina Anderson, Vacaville, May Reynolds, Los Angeles; Mabel Seeley, San Diego, Cary Hutchins, San Francisco, and Addie Byrn, Windsor.

ODD FELLOW TRUSTEES.

There was no contest for the three vacancies of the board of trustees of the Odd Fellows' lodge, and the following were nominated. John Glasson, E. H. Black and J. Foster.

One member of the board of directors of the Odd Fellows' Home is to be elected from these candidates: S. E. Moreland, San Jose; W. H. Hayes, Lindsay; William Nichols Jr., Dutch Flat; J. B. Fieberling, Oakland.

In the Rebekah lodge, two candidates seek election as secretary: Mrs. Eola Cyrus of San Francisco and Mrs. Page Desdaritter, Redding. For treasurer, Mrs. Louis N. Wyckoff of Berkeley is uncontested.

Five nominees will be balloted upon for the two vacancies on the board of trustees of the Orphans' Home at Gilroy where a new home is now under construction. The candidates are: Katherine Jackson, San Francisco; Fannie Lacey, Santa Ana, Jessie Fargo, Santa Cruz, Maymey Say, Selma, and Emma Egley, Fresno

REBEKAHS REPORT GROWTH.

A remarkable growth throughout California was indicated in reports presented at the Rebekah assembly session this morning when it was shown that 4004 new members had joined the order in the past year. Silver Gate Lodge No. 141 of San Diego holds the record as the largest of the lodges with 550 members, 60 of which were obtained in the last two months.

Appointment of convention committees, conclusion of the reading of reports and the nominations occupied the major portion of the morning session.

In the afternoon the delegates traveled by special street cars and by automobile caravan to Hayward, where they were the guests of Sycamore Lodge of Odd Fellows at a reception and entertainment.

Leaving Hotel Oakland, the convention headquarters, at 1:30, the party arrived at Hayward shortly after 2 o'clock, and was escorted to the Hayward Memorial park by the committee of the Sycamore Lodge in charge of the entertainment, which includes: W. C. James, J. L. Sawyer, M. Stephens, Lester Perry and C. W. White.

WELCOMED AT HAYWARD.

Mayor Arthur Manter delivered a short address of welcome, followed by responses by K. C. Keene, grand master of the lodge, and Miss Stella M. Merrick, president of the Rebekah assembly. Musical numbers were furnished by the High School Glee Club and the grammar school band.

Dancing in the park pavilion, at which the visitors were guests of Sycamore Lodge, occupied the greater part of the afternoon.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon some of the delegates returned to the Odd Fellows' Temple in Oakland to attend the forty-fifth annual session of the Veteran Odd Fellows' Association, an auxiliary body including members of the Odd Fellows who have been members in good standing for twenty-one years or more.

The larger part of the delegation will remain at Hayward until later, when they will return for the evening sessions of the convention.

Delegates from the Hayward lodge to the convention are C. W White, George Henningson and Ed Nicholsen; Rebekahs—Mrs. Chris Nielsen, Mrs Ben Manter and Mrs J Rogerson. White, who is city attorney of Hayward, is in the race for election as grand warden, and his friends are conducting an active campaign for him.

OFFICERS TO STEP UP.

In accordance with custom, the principal officers of the organization will step up so that A. D. Ketterlin of Santa Rosa, now deputy grand master, will become grand master at the installation at the closing sessions of the meeting. Mrs. Fanny M. Cluney of Acampo will become president of the Rebekah assembly, likewise, and Mrs. Mary N. Pierce of Los Angeles will become vice-president.

Varied entertainment was provided for the delegates yesterday afternoon when many were taken for a launch ride around the lake and witnessed a display of the high-pressure salt water pumping equipment of the Oakland fire department. Later they visited the Art Gallery and the Oakland Public Museum.

At 2 o'clock a reception and entertainment was tendered visitors by Absit Invidia Lodge, Oakland, Golden Link and Good Will lodges. At 3 a special meeting of the Military Council, under Major-General F. J. Walters, was held.

BAY FARM ISLAND OPENING PLANNED

Bay Farm island, the part nearest the proposed United States naval base site, and fronting on San Leandro bay, extension of Oakland harbor, is to be sold in acre and half-acre tracts. Alameda Acres will be the name.

This is the first big development that has come from the activity beginning to break as a result of the location of the $100,000,000 Pacific Coast naval base at Alameda. As there are 300 acres of the famous Bay Farm island to be sold in these small, farm-home parcels, the deal by which this land is to be opened to purchase is an important property transaction following the naval base site selection.

The 300-acre tract has been opened by the Alameda City Land Company and is one of the largest individual tracts in the city of Alameda. Already the newly opened section is being referred to as the "Naval Base City."

Bay Farm island has for years been known for its large production of vegetables. The acre and half-acre pieces will serve as farm homes to those acquiring them, until the expected destiny of Alameda Acres as an industrial zone, with large factories and a busy waterfront as the developed extension of Oakland harbor, has taken place. Alameda Acres is the next logical place for such development, it is claimed by the company opening it.

The Alameda City Land Company will run excursions to Alameda Acres Sunday and is now giving out information at its three offices—902 Hobart building, San Francisco; Encinal and High streets, Alameda, and 1212 Broadway, this city.

HARDING SENDS HIS GREETINGS TO GEORGIA VETS

ALBANY, Ga., May 11.—President Harding telegraphed greetings and best wishes today to the United Confederate Veterans of Georgia, assembled here in their thirtieth annual reunion.

"Please extend greetings and best wishes to the members of Georgia Division United Confederate Veterans met in annual reunion," the message said. "Not many more years will veterans of the Civil War thus meet. It is good to live to see the great wound of the Civil War completely healed and complete accord and unbroken devotion north and south to our common country."

GREETING GIVEN BY MAYOR DAVIE AS HEAD OF CITY

Superior Court Judge Church Is Speaker on Behalf of Eastbay Lodges.

Formal welcome on behalf of the local lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and the city was extended to the 1500 delegates in attendance at the sessions of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs conventions at a reception to the visitors at the Auditorium theater last evening.

Musical selections comprised the greater part of the program after brief addresses by officials of the lodge in response to the address of welcome by Mayor John L. Davie and by Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church on behalf of the local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Those who responded were K. C. Keene, grand master, and Miss Stella M. Merrick, president.

William H. Barnes, past grand master and secretary of the Veteran Odd Fellows' Association, delivered an address on "Our Order."

The musical program opened with a number by the Fremont high school orchestra, under the direction of A. C. Olker. An accordion duet by Joseph L. Bobba and John Zunino, a trio from "Lucia di Lammermoor," by Emanuelle Porchini, Grace Le Page and A. Neri, and tenor solos by A. Neri, were other features, which included contralto solos by Belle Jacobs, baritone solos by Emanuelle Porchini, a solo by Miss Kazan, a duet by Belle Jacobs and A. Neri, a soprano solo by Grace Le Page and the quartet from "Rigoletto" by Grance Le Page, Belle Jacobs, Emanuelle Porchini and A. Neri, with Mrs. Henry Blagg as accompanist.

Alameda Man Chosen For Rail Board Job

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Colonel Henry G. Mathewson of Alameda was today appointed secretary of the State Railroad Commission, succeeding W. R. Williams, who has resigned to take charge of the Los Angeles office. Colonel Mathewson has been assistant secretary for ten years and was formerly assistant auditor of San Francisco. He was in the regular army during the great war and is a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

AGGIES GET COMMISSION.

CORVALLIS, Ore., May 10.—Forty-nine members of the graduating class of Oregon Agricultural College will be given commissions in the officers' reserve corps of the regular army.

The Allegheny and Ohio rivers were regarded by the French as one stream.

Program For Odd Fellow Meet For Tomorrow

9:00 a. m.-1:00 p. m.—Grand lodge and Rebekah assembly sessions with election of officers for coming year.

2:00 p. m.—Reception and entertainment at Odd Fellows' Temple, Eleventh and Franklin streets, by Sunset Rebekah lodge, Fair Oaks, Concordia, Berkeley and Elmhurst lodges.

3:15 p. m.—Baseball at Oakland ball park, Park street and San Pablo avenue, where a special reserved section has been set aside for the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Seals vs. Bees.

5:00 p. m.—Past Presidents' Association will hold its annual meeting at Hotel Oakland with election and installation of officers, followed by an entertainment and banquet. President Laura M. Lawrie and secretary, Jessie W. Fargo.

6:00 p. m.—Veteran Rebekahs' Association will hold annual meeting and banquet at Key Route Inn. This association is eligible for membership of any Rebekah who has been a member continuously for fifteen years. President, Essie Hague; vice-president, Anna Dean; secretary, Mrs. May Sorensen.

8:00 p. m.—Exemplification of the first degree of Odd Fellowship by the degree staff of Santa Rosa lodge, No. 52, of Santa Rosa, Calif., in contest with Bakersfield lodge, No. 440, at the Auditorium arena.

Hospital Association Sued For Damages

Suits against the People's Hospital Association of Oakland aggregating $6024 have been filed by Charles A. Barnet and Harrison and Louis Hayes.

The Hayes' charge that they joined the association February 14, 1920, on the promise that they would be provided with a private room in a hospital and adequate service in case of illness. Louise Hayes, some time later, developed an abscess of the ear and she alleges that this was improperly treated and that the association did not live up to its representations. The Hayes' ask for $5267 damages.

Barnet asks $767 damages for failure to give him medical attention after he had joined the association in December, 1920.

GOVERNORS TO ACT

DENVER, May 11.—A committee composed of Governors Campbell, Arizona; Boyle, Nevada; Mabey, Utah; Hart, Washington, and Davis, Idaho, will leave for Washington tomorrow night to ask President Harding's co-operation in obtaining legislation necessary to an agreement as to use of the waters of the Colorado river by the several states.

CONSOLIDATION PLAN TABLED BY ALAMEDA CLUB

Letter From C. A. Borlee Cause of Defeat by East End Members.

ALAMEDA, May 11.—The question of consolidation was tabled when re-introduced before the members of the East End Improvement club last night. It was announced that a decision upon the adoption of a resolution recommending the alternative proposition, would be made at the meeting last night. When Ernest Kneass introduced the subject the following letter was read from C. A. Borlee, president of the North Side Improvement Association.

"I am personally of the opinion that the question of consolidation is not one to be considered at the present," stated Borlee. "Even if the movement is one to be considered it is at least twenty-five years in advance of its proper time."

The opinion of Borlee had a deterent effect upon the adoption of the resolution and it was tabled.

Kneass announced tht he had held a conference with City Manager Charles E. Hewes who is engaged in preparing the 1921 budget and that he had been assured by the city manager that the tax rate would be no higher and that there was a possibility that it might be a trifle lower than the 1920 rate.

The club went on record as favoring the Alameda Flower show and giving it the club's heartiest support both in displays and attendance.

WATERFRONT QUIET

HONLULU, May 11.—Inter-island shipping in the Hawaiian Islands thus far has suffered but little from the seamen's strike, all reports showed today. Inter-island boats are moving practically on schedule. The waterfront here was quiet.

Robbers De Luxe Motor Victim To Rendezvous

CHARLES RICHER while walking home early this morning was stopped at Sixty-fifth and Telegraph avenue by three armed holdup men, forced to get into their automobile and robbed of $4 and a gold watch.

When the holdup men drove up to the curb near Richer, he was told to get into the machine and not say a word or he would be killed. Richer got into the back seat where a third man covered him with his revolver. They drove to Sixty-fifth and Broadway and then turned into a side street where they took Richer's money and watch. He was then told to get out of the machine and warned not to make an outcry or they would kill him. The three men were well dressed and were between 20 and 25 years old.

Berkeley Woman To Address Association

Mrs. W. B. Stanton, president of the Berkeley Federation of Parent-Teacher Clubs, will be the speaker at a special program meeting of the Castro Valley Parent-Teachers' Club, Hayward, to be held at the home of Mrs. C. O. Ralph on Thursday, May 12, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Stanton's topic will be the coming state convention of Parent-Teacher associations, which occurs at Oakthe end of May. Refreshments will follow the formal program.

The Castro Valley mothers' organization has enrolled additional members, making its membership at the end of the first month of its work total 27.

The report that the club would take part in the present controversy over selection of a school site is declared to be erroneous.

ORDERED SPOUSE OUT WITHIN 5 MINUTES, CLAIM

Omar's Bohemian Setting Basis For Divorce Action of C. H. Hunt.

"I'll give you five minutes to pack up and get out!" was the ultimatum delivered to Mrs. Elsie Rinke by her husband, George, according to a divorce suit just filed in the Superior

On the night of April 27 Rinke had told his wife, "I'll give you until 9 a. m. tomorrow to decide what you want to do." Then he left the house, his wife charges. Promptly at 9 a. m. the next day, despite her protestations, he ordered her to pack up and "get out," she says.

Mrs. Rinke asks $75 a month alimony and costs of action. She says that her husband is a telegrapher employed on the stock exchange at 353 Bush street, in San Francisco. They were married October 20, 1920, and separated April 28, 1921.

"A loaf of bread, a jug of wine and a stranger by her side!" was "paradise enow" for Mrs. Mabel Hunt, according to her husband's divorce affidavit just filed in the Superior Court Charles H. Hunt charges that his wife went on drunker sprees and that on April 25, 1919, he found her in a sodden condition with a jug of wine by her side. On such occasions she cursed him volubly, the husband says, and preferred only strangers. They were married January 13, 1916, and separated May 7, 1919.

Ella Mickelson charges in a divorce suit just filed that her husband, Irving C. Mickelson, abandoned her and her two children, Frances, aged 9, and Dorothy, aged 6 years, in September, 1917. They were married October 25, 1910. She asks custody of the children and suitable alimony.

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado

Here is an unparalleled spectacle—a sight never to be forgotten—one of nature's most stupendous wonders.

The Grand Canyon is about 250 miles long—with a width at the top varying from 5 to 12 miles. At some places it descends to a depth of a mile below the plateau surface. Its best effect, as revealed by extreme depth and brilliancy of coloring, is from a point opposite the Kaibab Plateau—about 65 miles northwest of Flagstaff, Arizona.

Motor roads lead to the Grand Canyon through Ashfork, Williams and Flagstaff, Arizona—and all the way you can get "Red Crown," the all-refinery gasoline.

You'll be glad if you make your Grand Canyon trip a "Red Crown" trip. Look for the "Red Crown" sign on service stations and garages.

MASTER STROKE of the UNDERWOOD

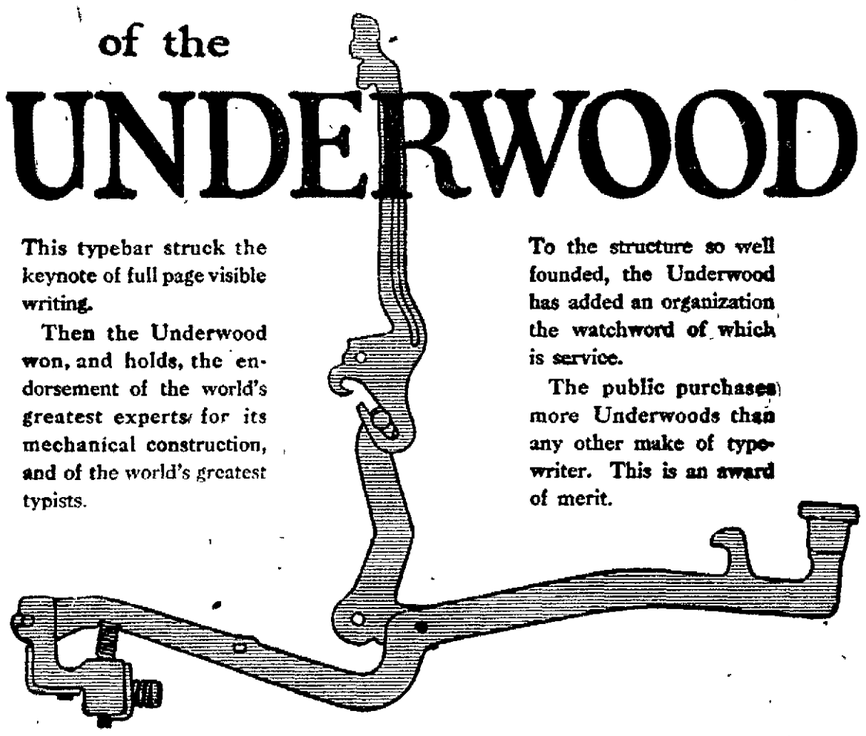
Then the Underwood won, and holds, the endorsement of the world's greatest experts for its mechanical construction, and of the world's greatest typists.

To the structure so well founded, the Underwood has added an organization the watchword of which is service.

The public purchases more Underwoods than any other make of typewriter. This is an award of merit.



Right at first, the Underwood, equipped with the same typebar, is right now.

LEGALS

TO ALL HOLDERS OF REGISTERED SCHOOL ORDERS.

Oakland, Calif., May 11, 1921.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1513A of the Political Code of the State of California, you are hereby notified that all registered school orders issued by the school districts of Alameda County are now payable at the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, Hall of Records, Fifth and Broadway, Oakland, Calif.

Interest ceases on this date.

Because of the legally prescribed method of handling interest-bearing warrants, it is exceedingly difficult to write up such warrants and return them to the holder on the minute. Therefore, we would ask that all persons presenting a school order for payment do so with the expectation of leaving it in our possession until the following day.

GEO. W. FRICK,
County Superintendent of Schools.

NOTICE BY CLERK OF APPLICATION FOR VOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION.

Notice by clerk of application for voluntary dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the application of KNOWLAND COMPANY, a corporation, for the dissolution of said corporation having been duly presented to the above entitled court on the 12th day of April, 1921, and by order of said court duly and regularly filed with the Clerk of said court, said Clerk was by said court ordered and directed to give thirty days' notice by publication of said application for dissolution of corporation in "The Oakland Tribune," a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Alameda, State of California. That this notice commences on April 13, 1921, and will expire on May 23, 1921, and that at any time before the expiration thereof any person may file herein his objection to said application for dissolution.

Witness my hand and seal of said Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda, this 12th day of April, 1921.

Americans Easy Marks in Egypt

WASHINGTON, May 11.—American tourists furnish fine "packing" for the greedy Egyptian hotelkeepers. He makes extortion the rule of business.

Tourists lured to Cairo to play" hotels in Alexandria and other cities of Egypt pay from $5 to $12 a day, and then find countless extra charges imposed for varieties of "service," said American Consul Maynard. Deceptions consider Americans "easy marks" and squeeze their bankrolls [illegible] fashion, Maynard [illegible].

BANKER FOUND GUILTY

TACOMA, Wash., May 11.—Otis S. Leeson, president of the defunct Tacoma Scandinavian American Bank, was found guilty by a jury in the Superior Court last night on the first of twenty-two indictments, which charged the unlawful borrowing of $10,000 from the bank's funds as an official of the bank without authorization of the board of directors.

Gouverneur Morris' Wife Starts Business

NEW YORK, May 11.—Mrs. Elsie Waterbury Morris, wife of Gouverneur Morris, noted author, is the latest society woman to be listed in Bradstreet's as well as the social register.

Mrs. Morris has just opened the Primrose House, a shop at East Fifty-second street, New York, where women may receive facial treatment.

"I have just been waiting for my children to grow up, so that I might be able to get into business," said Mrs. Morris. "My children are 10 and 14 years old. They go to school, take dancing lessons, go riding and do innumerable other things at which I could not attend them, even if I wanted so. So what is the use of staying at home and twiddling my thumbs?"

"Primrose House" plans to duplicate itself in big cities all over the world. Mrs. Morris will superintend all the details of the business. As vice-president and manager of the corporation she expects to have a big job, but declares she will still find time to perform all her social duties faithfully.

Crockett Notes

CROCKETT, May 11.—The Crockett Boosters are getting everything in readiness for the grand opening of the new C. and H. warehouse on May 28. There will be dancing, free shows, two brass bands and everything that goes to make a celebration.

The warehouse is one of the largest on the coast. All money raised from the entertainment is to be used in paying for the new fire truck recently purchased by the firemen.

The Native Sons' dance was a success in every way and the committee has been congratulated on the success of the affair.

The American Legion of Crockett is to give a dance on the eve of Flag day. These dances have proven popular and a record crowd is expected.

The Elks' Association of Crockett will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, when the picnic to be held in the near future will be discussed.

The John Swett Union High School was burglarized last week of two dozen baseballs, some platinum wire, a stop-watch and several other articles.

Constable Fox immediately sent out notice to all nearby towns with the result the robber was taken into custody in Richmond last Saturday. The local officer took the prisoner to Martinez, where he is held pending his trial.

Gordon Brown was the name given the local authorities. Practically all the articles stolen have been recovered.

The Crockett Cubs played their initial game in Crockett Sunday with the Mare Island Hospital team and succeeded in giving the visitors the short end of the score. The game was fast from start to finish. Otto Hasenpusch did mound duty for the locals and had things his own way from the start. The score: Crockett, 7; Mare Island, 4.

Frosts Damage Grape Crop 30 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO, May 11.—The grape crop of California for 1921 was reduced about 30 per cent by frosts and adverse weather conditions during the spring, and consequently the yield for the season will be about 70 per cent of that of 1920, according to an estimate made public today by R. L. Nougaret, viticultural expert of the Department of Agriculture. Nougaret recently completed a survey of the grape-producing counties.

The percentage of damage was placed at approximately 50 per cent, but in many cases there will be recovery enough to overcome the damage in part, Nougaret stated. The estimate for 1921 is 290,000 tons of wine grapes and 140,000 tons of raisins. No estimate for table grapes was given.

Colors Flare On Fall Cards For Waist Dye

COLORS of a brighter lustre than those used in previous fall seasons by the blouse trade are shown on the fall 1921 color card of the United Waist League of America, which has just been completed. The new color cards will be ready for distribution to the trade about Monday, according to announcement sent here today by M. Mosessohn, executive director of the waist league in Cleveland.

NEW POTATOES GROW CHEAPER UNDER DIGGING

Old Crop Price Advances As End Nears; General Market News.

Advance of the new potato crop into the market is being attended by gradually lowering prices but the decline has not been so rapid as had been anticipated before the devastating frosts of some weeks ago.

New potatoes still sold today at the pound rate ranging from 1½ to 5c where quotations had been double that three weeks ago.

Digging of new potatoes now in general but the offerings are rather smaller than has been usual at this time of year.

The market is appreciably higher as the end of the old potato crop looms in sight. Nevadas today bringing general 50 cents over quotations of mid-April. Trading has been only moderate at that.

The damage which potatoes suffered by the frosts was severe, particularly in the areas south of San Jose, but some fields which were believed ruined have shown more life than wasexpected. Other acreages never will be dug.

The recession of cherry prices toward their seasonable level continued today when boxes were quoted at $2.25, a drop of about 5 cents. Bulk cherries were not so plentiful and brought 25 cents a pound.

Asparagus faced what the dealers call a "sick" market today, declining for best grades to 7½ cents. There was a great deal of inferior asparagus delivered which went at almost any price that dealers could get for it. The popular demand for asparagus has declined appreciably, and although growers are diverting their cuttings to the canneries, they have failed to strengthen the market.

Strawberries, taking a turn upward today, sold at a minimum of 60 cents against 50 yesterday. The trend of berries each week had been to open low and to increase to a high level at the week end, chiefly due to the demand. Last Saturday fancy berries brought $1.10, today 90 cents. Saturday they will be at least $1, salesmen thought. The rain a few days ago, heavy in the berry regions, seriously damaged some of the fruit and several chests of mouldy berries were opened today.

While the low level for average peas continued to be 5 and 6 cents today, fancy offerings commanded as much as 10 cents. Good quality Bell peppers sold here today for 30 cents. For cucumbers most salesmen asked $4.50 and $4.75 but there were few active takers. Tomatoes continued under $2 with considerable trading.

Facts Jam Hoover Talk To Chamber

By HOLLAND
Exclusive to OAKLAND TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, May 10—Secretary of Commerce Hoover rarely speaks in general terms. He is specific in narrating the reasons for the views which he holds. Others who stand out among the foremost of our business and financial leaders are content to say in a general way that the wave of depression has passed or that improvement will be made evident by the first of July or that we have passed through a serious but from one point of view a silent commercial panic and are now emerging from that condition.

Hoover is quoted as having said at the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Atlantic City that the crisis has passed. But nowhere in his address so far at least as the reports of the address which have been printed did he say that the crisis is passed nor even intimate that there had been any real crisis, but he did speak in words of encouragement and fortified his statement by facts, for he is a master in the mobilization of facts and in drawing from them their meaning.

HOOVER AND LABOR.

Hoover sees many encouraging signs that improvement has begun and that the needed readjustment has fulfilled the economic purpose which was the cause of this readjustment. But he does not leave the statement there. For he says that speculation is almost ended and that profiteering has had its day. He has information which justifies him in saying that manufacturers and wholesalers habe made cuts in their inventories which equal or even exceed the increases which they gained when business was at fever heat. They are getting ready for large production and also for adequate distribution of their products.

Hoover has reason to believe that American labor, on the whole, is ready to accept a reduction in wages being careful that these reductions equal the reduction in the cost of living. He believes that labor on the whole is increasing in efficiency.

In former addresses Hoover has said that it is vital if we are to maintain and increase our prosperity that there be greater productiveness due chiefly to the higher efficiency of all of those who are engaged in producing commodities. Apparently he believes that we are now gaining in efficiency.

ANTI-TRUST LAWS.

Not the least significant of the utterances of Secretary Hoover was his suggestion that Congress so modify the anti-trust laws as to make it possible for importers as well as exporters to be brought into common association. We have learned that Congress acted wisely when it permitted exporters to form combinations exclusively for the carrying on of their foreign trade. This has worked admirably. Combination of this kind having been formed may at last lift the burden which the copper industry of the United States has for two or three years staggered under, because it will make possible the marketing of many million pounds of surplus copper in those places of the world where there is great need of copper.

No address which has recently been delivered is so completely packed with information of the utmost importance or so adequately points to such action legislative as well as business which will make possible the maintenance and increase of prosperity as was this talk.

It was inevitable that at the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce reference should be made to the March report from Washington which tells of the falling off of our foreign trade in that month. There was no nation with which we carried on trade from which the reports for the March trade did not show a heavy drop as compared with March of the previous year. Nor was there any nation which sent to us more of its commodities in March of this year than it exported to us in March of last year. Germany has almost balanced her March imports in 1920 as compared with her imports for the same month in the previous year.

SPECIAL REASON.

Of course this falling off in the March international trade does reflect to a great extent the inability of other nations to secure the funds or credit with which they could buy American commodities. But the drop is so sudden that the presumption is that it was due to a special reason. We can tell better by the end of this fiscal year whether our trade is permanently decreasing.

On the other hand notwithstanding this falling off of the March trade the balance of trade was in our favor. Since July 1 of last year the favorable balance of trade was approximately $2,500,000,000. A good many months must pass before the favorable trade balance will be greatly reduced or entirely wiped out although it is sometimes said that it will be to our advantage if for a long time the rest of the world sells to us more than it buys from us.

FLOOD OF GOLD.

Curiously enough in the very month when our international trade slackened there poured into the United States, chiefly through the port of New York, gold in such amounts that when added to the gold previously received the total amount is giving serious concern at the assay office over the ability to store and handle this gold. When the new assay office was completed the presumption was that it had ample facilities for storing all the gold which could conceivably be brought to its vaults, but if Europe is buying less of us than heretofore nevertheless Europe and other nations are sending us so much gold that the officers of the assay office have asked the consignees to send as much as possible of this gold to Philadelphia.

It is almost a paradox. Our trade according to Washington figures is falling off but the world is sending us gold in amounts so great that the storage facilities of the assay office are inadequate.

The Waterfront

A tule fog enveloped the bay district at an early hour today and kept the fog signals busy until the sun made its appearance and the fog disappeared. It is predicted similar conditions may be expected again tomorrow morning, as incoming vessels reported good weather and smooth sea several days before reaching the coast.

The new 14,000-ton freighter, Manukan, building at the Moore shipyard, will have her deck trial tomorrow. In a few days she will receive her new coat of paint and then will be taken over by the owner, the Matson Navigation Company, and take on a cargo for Honolulu, returning here with sugar and other island products.

The steamer Matsonia arrived early in the morning from Honolulu after a pleasant passage. She brought 79,385 bags of sugar, 1215 tons of molasses, 23,971 cases of canned pineapples, 1864 bunches of bananas and 824 bags of coffee. While en route here, Captain Soule reports seeing some of the United States government vessels of Honolulu, searching for the missing government tug, which was later discovered.

Steam schooners Hartwood and the Caoba arrived here, bringing 1,600,000 feet of lumber from the north.

The steamer Wahkeena, from Astoria, to San Pedro, with lumber, passed the Golden Gate yesterday morning. The steamer Queen of the Pacific Steamship Company, sailed for Seattle with freight and passengers.

The schooner Fearless, now at Port Townsend, loaded with lumber for Callao, was to have sailed yesterday, when a crew was sent to her from Seattle, but upon arriving at Townsend the men refused to sign and the skipper was compelled to send for another crew. He is now waiting their arrival.

Steam tug Healy & Tibbetts, May 17; steamer San Jose, May 17, steamer Modoc, May 17.

All troubles between the United States Transport Company and the United States Shipping Board relative to the steamer Colin H. Livingstone, and other vessels, will be settled within a few days, it was announced today by wire from New York

Three steamers of the Canadian government merchant marine are en route to Vancouver, B. C., from Montreal, and are to be placed in service between Vancouver and this port. They expect to begin service from the northern port by July 1. This it is believed, will cut into the freight and passenger traffic of American vessels, now on that route.

No word has yet been received from the British motor schooner Tagua, which left Barotonga on December 21, with copra for this port, under command of Captain Williams. The vessel is 170 tons register and her cargo is consigned to Atkins, Kroll & Company, of this port Under ordinary circumstances she should have completed the voyage in 35 days by power, or 70 days by sail. She is more than two months overdue by sail power.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Customs House: Captain E. H. Paro, steamer Haxtum; Captain Lewis Hansen, gasoline schooner Utility.

NEWS OF U. S. INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL CIRCLES

RAILWAYS HURT BY PANAMA SAYS KRUTTSCHNITT

Southern Pacific Head Points To Sea Shipments As Hard Blow.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — Stagnation in American railroad building must be attributed to the disparity between the cost of construction and the return to the investor, Julius Kruttschnitt chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific, said today in resuming his testimony before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which is inquiring into the railroad situation.

"In 1920 only $62,264,000 went as a return to those who paid for the properties, while 60 times as much went to those employed on the railroads," he said. "This answers the question why don't we build more railroads?"

Efficient management, he insisted, was left but narrow limits within which to attempt control of operating expenses in 1920, because of the many elements entering into "costs" over which it had no influence. Among these elements he included increases in wholesale prices of materials, the "outlaw" strike in April, 1920, restoration of adequate passenger service demanded by the public and re-location of freight cars to owners' rails. The last item alone, the witness declared, involved an increase of 328,000,000 "empty car miles."

CANAL TRAFFIC

"Traffic through the canal has increased 72 per cent this year, he said "all business being taken from the transcontinental lines. The United States Shipping Board, with the Treasury behind it, is conducting a competition which the privately owned carriers cannot meet. The ships are even taking the Pacific coast citrus fruits."

Senator Kellogg asked if Shipping Board losses were not running $20,000,000 a month, but withdrew the question.

"Is it not a fact," Senator Cummins asked, "that up to October, 1920, the transcontinental lines had all the business they could carry?"

"The transcontinental roads, as a general thing, handled their business quite comfortably," Kruttschnitt replied. "The pinch comes at the present time when the traffic is low."

SAY THEY CAN PAY.

Asked if growers of citrus fruits can pay rail charges on freight as they now are by Senator Townsend, Republican, of Michigan, the witness replied:

"I have gone to a good deal of trouble to determine that they can."

Kruttschnitt said that another example of government subsidy, which hurt railroads, was furnished by the operation of automobile trucks which destroyed highways, without paying the cost of maintenance.

"You present a rather difficult problem," said Chairman Cummins, "because the public will remember that government gifts have always been made to the steam roads, beginning in the days when their rights-of-way were donated, so that it is hard to determine where government beneficence about highways should stop."

New Motor Due From Old Cadillac Plants

DETROIT, May 11. — Employment in automobile plants is 80 per cent normal, the Manufacturers' Employment Association says. The 79 automobile plants here are hiring 3000 men a week. Approximately 150,000 are employed. A year ago the number was 200,000.

Argentine Money Market Is Upset

BUENOS AIRES, May 11.—Most violent fluctuations in foreign exchange in years have occurred, throwing the exchange market into something of a state of panic. Telegraphic quotations on the American dollar fell from 1.49 to 1.22 with swift ups and downs, but recovered and closed at 1.40 yesterday.

Other foreign monies suffered corresponding fluctuations. It was reported that the immediate cause was the actin of one bank in throwing £200,000 into the market. The disturbance was accompanied by rumors that the government contemplated releasing gold for export, and also that financial disturbances were going on in New York.

Other reports said financial difficulties caused in commerce by the port strike were responsible

Cuban Banks Close; Moratorium Ending

HAVANA, May 11—Three small private banks in this city suspended payment yesterday and another in the city of Camagney, Eastern Cuba, closed its doors. All the institutions had sustained runs by depositors, and some of the oldest and strongest institutions in this city are affected. Approaches of the final day of the moratorium, which has been in operation since late last year has added to the uneasiness.

U. S. Trade in April Shows New Decline

WASHINGTON May 11—The nation's foreign trade continued to fall off in April, figures made public today by the Department of Commerce show.

Exports were $340,000,000 compared [illegible] and 648,000,000 in April, 1920

Imports last month increased $3,000,000 over the $252,000,0000 total the month before, but were $241,000,000 below the April, 1920 mark.

CANADA BACKS WHEAT POOL

REGINA, Sask., May 11.—Voluntary pooling of wheat with government sanction was recommended in a report on marketing prepared for the Saskatchewan government by the Canada wheat board and made public today. The report suggests a voluntary pool on an experimental basis. Farmers of the prairie provinces are said to be opposed to the abolishment last year of the Canada wheat board which marketed Canada's wheat during the war.

STOCK MARKET IS AFFECTED BY BERLIN'S ACTION

Ultimatum Acceptance Causes Covering of Short Contracts.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Acceptance by Germany of the ultimatum of the allies prompted moderate covering of short contracts at the opening of today's stock market. Coppers, which were among the new features of strength during yesterday's session, extended their gains by fractions to a point and oils also hardened. Within the first hour, however, the market reversed its course on heavy selling of the steels. Crucible Steel and Republic were conspicuously weak, losing 2 and 3½ points respectively. Sugars and tobaccos also developed a heavy tendency. Foreign exchange, as indicated by preliminary quotations, made no marked response to Germany's surrender.

The break in steels, which was accompanied by reports of prospective German competition, ranged from 2 to 5 points in Bethlehem, Crucible, Lackawanna and Republic. Studebaker, Chandler, Pierce-Arrow, Bosch Magneto, United States Rubber and Kelly-Springfield fell 1 to 3½ and equipments, including Harvester and Baldwin Locomotive, lost 1 to 2. Sumatra Tobacco added five points to yesterday's severe reversal and sugars forfeited 2 to 4 points, various specialties also falling 1 to 3.

Rails, especially coalers, were heavy, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western dropping 1 to 4 points. Call money opened at 6½ per cent with a moderate demand.

Shorts bended their aggressions to the rails at midday, forcing leaders of that group down one to two points. Rails and equipments also made further losses, but the decline was checked when Crucible, Studebaker and American Sugar led a rally of 1 to 3 points.

Buying of the cheaper oils, as well as leather and tobacco specialties, was offset in the final hour by further selling of steels and call money advance to 7 per cent. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 900,000 shares.
